Com. Barrett Reviews Water Situation and Decides to Establish Experimental Plants

Water Commissioner Andrew E. Barrett gave a statement to The Sun today relative to the water supply of the city. The statement includes a general review of the water supply. He says that the water from the Cook wells has been condemned by the state board of health because of its action on lead pipe and that the boulevard supply is insufficient in quantity and contains too much iron as to make it fit for a suitable municipal supply. Mr. Barrett allows that something must be done at once, and the question is to determine the best and cheapest method of improving existing conditions. The commissioner says he has been advised that both supplies can be treated at small expense so as to render them entirely acceptable, this to be accomplished by reducing the carbonic acid.

INSPECTOR RILEY IS IN BOSTON

Visits Manufacturing Establishments for Purpose of Getting Line on Smoke Devices

Smoke Inspector Riley made a trip to Boston a few days ago having arranged with William H. Gerrish, smoke inspector for Boston, for a tour of manufacturing plants using wood for fuel in order to get a line on the different devices used in the process of smoke elimination. Mr. Gerrish is a former Lowell man and is smoke inspector for other places than Boston proper. His territory includes Somerville and Cambridge. Mr. Gerrish took the Lowell inspector to East Boston where they visited five wood burning plants. One of these, Mr. Riley said, used an oil burner located in the combustion chamber of the boiler and he was told that the device was giving good satisfaction. Other establishments were using steam jets. These jets are supposed to take care of the unconsumed carbon before it escapes by way of the chimney. "With the persistence and intelligence of the firemen," said Mr. Riley, "these jets give good satisfaction."

W. H. Dwelley Testifies That Vouchers Made Out to Atteaux Bore Wood's Signature

BOSTON, May 23.—Vouchers showing that money payments had been made to Frederick B. Atteaux, one of the alleged dynamite conspirators, by the American Woolen Co. and which were approved by its president, William M. Wood, were introduced at the trial today of President Wood, Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins, who are accused of having conspired to "plant" dynamite in Lawrence during the textile strike in January, 1912.

The vouchers indicated that the payments were authorized by President Wood. The check for $505 was drawn on March 27, 1912. Another check for $2100 was drawn on June 25, 1912, and the voucher for this was marked "in full for all claims to date." Both checks were endorsed with Atteaux's name.

The exhibits were offered in support of the government's claim that the defendants conspired with John J. Green and Ernest W. Pitman to "plant" dynamite in the homes of the strikers at Lawrence in order to give the impression to the public that the strikers contemplated blowing up the American Woolen Co.'s mill. Pitman committed suicide when the investigation of the alleged plot was begun. Collins turned state's evidence and confessed that he distributed the dynamite under the direction of Green. Green also confessed and said that he obtained the explosive from Pitman and that Atteaux paid the bills. William H. Rice, a quartermaster, testified that he innocently furnished the dynamite to Pitman and saw him give it to Green.

Today the state attempted to show that President Wood was involved and that the American Woolen Co., through Wood, had helped pay the expenses of the conspiracy. Edward B. Lynch, paying teller of the Federal Trust Co. of this city, where Atteaux had funds on deposit, took the stand and identified Atteaux's signature on four or five papers which District Attorney Joseph Pelletier offered as exhibits. Henry F. Hurley, counsel for Mr. Wood, objected to their admission as evidence against his client. He argued that the exhibits were not competent until some connection should be established between the papers and the alleged conspiracy.

The district attorney replied that the papers would speak for themselves and would show the payment of money to one defendant to another. Judge Crosby admitted the exhibits with the understanding that they would be competent only in the event that some connection between the papers and the alleged conspiracy should be established by evidence.

The district attorney read the papers to the jury. One of them was a check for $505 drawn on the National Shawmut bank of Boston, payable to and endorsed by Atteaux and signed "American Woolen Co. W. A. Currier, assistant treasurer."

Garments Identified

Found Where Body of Woman Was Recovered

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 23.—Three garments found near the place where the headless body of a woman was recovered in the Blackstone river at Woonsocket were identified as having been worn by Mrs. Angel Parmentier at the trial today of Henri Deslovers for the murder of the woman. The state is trying to prove that the body was that of Mrs. Parmentier. In cross examination one of the state's witnesses, Mrs. Louise Vandeville, said that the body was larger than that of Mrs. Parmentier. Gabriel Vanhaeghe testified that Mrs. Parmentier always wore black stockings, while those in the bundle of clothing were brown.

Crowd of 250 Boarded Car and Compelled All Workmen Going to Hopedale to Return Home

MILFORD, May 23.—The Draper strikers were especially active this morning, having suddenly reversed the tactics since Wednesday and becoming more aggressive. Street cars were stoned and held up, crowds of strikers, women and children, spat upon the reviled workmen and police, while large groups of men at various places made demonstrations against employees on the way to work. The most serious interference was with the Hopedale car at Bragville and due to Lincoln square, Milford, at 6.30. A crowd of fully 250 entered the car at the Bragville switch and compelled all the workmen going to Hopedale to leave and return home. Not one of the 20 or 25 there was allowed to continue. No violence was used as the workmen did not think it prudent to insist in the face of such overwhelming force. The incoming Hopkinton car due in Milford at 6.45 was stoned on the way here, the attack being near the corner on Cedar street. It was on this route that the car was shot up a few weeks ago, and George J. Davis has been incapacitated since with a bullet in his thigh. There was also stoning and interference with an incoming Medway car. No injuries were reported on either.

NEW BOSTON COLLEGE

To Lay Corner Stone on Sunday, June 15

BOSTON, May 23.—It has been officially announced that the faculty, trustees and alumni of Boston college have settled on Sunday, June 15, as the date for the laying of the corner stone of the first of the new buildings of the new Boston college at University Heights, Newton. It had been understood for several weeks that this date would be settled upon, but no official statement was made until last night.

The work of establishing a new home for Boston college, begun several years ago, has really come to a head this year, which is also the 50th anniversary of the founding of the institution. The laying of the corner stone will be the first observance of a week of festivities at the new college campus, Monday, June 16, will be class day. Commencement will be held on Wednesday the 19th. The commencement exercises will also be held on the new college grounds. The corner stone will be laid by Bishop Joseph G. Anderson, Boston college '87. Bishop Anderson will make an address to the people.

The civic exercises which will follow will be presided over by Hon. Arthur W. Dolan, president of the Alumni association. Gov. Foss has been invited to bring the greetings of the commonwealth, and the mayors of Newton and Boston will speak for their respective municipalities. The orator will be Attorney Edward A. McLaughlin, '72. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Walter Drum, S. J., of the class of '90, professor of Scripture at the Jesuit scholasticate at Woodstock, Md. Pres. Thomas I. Gasson, S. J., will be among the other speakers at the celebration. The plans for the remainder of the week lie mainly with the senior class of the college. This class will be the first to graduate from the new college. The commencement speakers chosen are Thomas I. Gannon, Beaumont, president; Francis L. Phelan, Jamaica Plain; John B. Casey, Roxbury; and Francis N. Sallaway, Dorchester.

BRVES REST TODAY

No Game Scheduled But the Giants Will Be in Boston Tomorrow For Four-game Series

BOSTON, May 23.—The game between the Braves and the Cubs, scheduled for yesterday afternoon at the Walpole street grounds, the last in the series, was called off about noon on account of rain.

The Braves have no game scheduled for today, and so will get an extra day's rest. Tomorrow they will open a four-game series with the Giants.

As there will be no game in Boston today, many of the fans intend to go to Lynn to see Lynn and Lawrence of the New England league.

Is Storm Center of the
Silk Strikers

PATERSON, N. J., May 22.—Patrick Quinlan, one of the local I. W. W. leaders who was convicted of instigating a riot and is out on appeal, did not let the conviction interfere with his agitation. The very day he was released on bail he and other I. W. W.

leaders addressed several thousand strikers, attacking the courts and the police. Quinlan said he was the victim of a frameup, and his speeches were more fiery than ever. Swayed by the agitators, the silk weavers, most of whom are foreigners, threatened dire things, and the police prepared to cope with renewed rioting.

GRAFT CHARGE MADE

in Ferry Tolls

BOSTON, May 22.—The direct charge that the city of Boston has been defrauded to the extent of $2,000 a year by the juggling of tolls on the East Boston ferries was made yesterday by the finance commission in a report to Mayor Fitzgerald. As this method has been going on for years, the total amounts to a large sum.

For two years, the commission states, it has had men tabulating the collection of tolls at the ferries and watching the system there in vogue. The commission reported yesterday. It charges that the count submitted by the commission's agents, when compared with the figures for tolls from the gatesmen, indicates that the gatesmen turned in an insufficient number of high-priced fares and a larger number of low-priced fares. The result, the commission states, is that the city has not received the full amount of tolls to which it is entitled. They estimate that the shrinkage will amount to $2,000 a year from this loss alone.

DELAY ALIEN LAND BILL

Mikado Ill—Pres. Wilson
Cables Regrets

WASHINGTON, May 22.—When the news of the sudden illness of the Emperor of Japan reached Washington today, President Wilson and Secretary Bryan expressed deep concern. Louis Blanchard, charge of the American embassy at Tokio, was called immediately to convey a message of sympathy to the Japanese government and President Wilson sent a personal message to the emperor.

It is regarded here as possible that the emperor's illness may have the effect of delaying negotiations in progress regarding the California alien land law.

There were no developments today in the negotiations either at the state department or the Japanese embassy, the attitude being one of waiting for the next word from Tokio.

It was known that up to the present stage no formal suggestion has come from Japan that the American naturalization laws should be amended so as to admit Japanese to citizenship in the United States.

The records of the state department full to show that such a request ever has been made by any other country. Officials here insist that the status of citizenship may be conferred by the state in the exercise of its sovereign rights upon any individual whose it pleases and that it is something that may not be demanded as a right. Therefore it was pointed out that the fact of Japan's request does not create a situation in which the United States is obliged to grant citizenship to Japanese or to any other nation's residents in other countries.

GRAND REGENT, ROYAL ARCANUM

Paid Official Visit to
Council

Fraternities to Have Outings—Memorial
Day Plans

Highland council, No. 370, Royal Arcanum, celebrated its 27th anniversary last night in Highland hall by a concert and dance. The event also welcomed the Grand Regent of Massachusetts, Edward J. Byron, to this city, it being his first official visit since elevated to the office. Long before the entertainment started the hall was filled and many were obliged to stand in the rear to hear the concert.

The program consisted of selections by the Orpheus ladies' quartet of Boston and their numbers were very well received by the large audience. They were obliged to respond to many encores. All other numbers, including a reading by Professor Young, were received with much enthusiasm. The program was as follows: Overture, Griffith's orchestra; "Carmen," (Willsen) quartet; "Shandon Bells," (Nevins) quartet; "Delight," (Luskstone) Miss Henderson; "Old Black Joe," (Webber) quartet; reading, "The Sutfrager," Prof. Young; "Passage Birds Farewell," (Heldach), Miss Beatey and Miss Conley; "The Rosary," (Nevins); "In Love She Fell," (Beach), quartet; Aria from Samson, Mrs. Crocker; "Sing, Maidens Sing," quartet; grand regent, Edward J. Byron.

The members of the quartet were: Marion J. Henderson, soprano; Lillian V. Beatey, soprano; Lillian O. Crocker,

WILLIAM J. CAREY,
Regent Highland Council.

contralto; Abbie J. Conley, alto; Mabelle G. Beatey, pianist.

After the concert dancing was enjoyed in the lower hall with the following committee in charge of the arrangements: General manager, Wm. J. Carey; floor marshal, A. H. Dana; assistant floor marshal, H. H. Taylor; chief aid, Arthur Greenwood; aids, Harold Frazer, J. E. Sturri, Daniel Shea, John LaFleur, John Shea, Wm. Kilpatrick; entertainment committee, J. W. McKean, chairman, F. E. Jones, W. J. Carey, A. C. Greenwood, Frank Dodge, L. M. Fuller, J. E. Stuart, C. E. Taylor, G. C. Blaby, John Howard, A. H. Dana, C. E. Stuart, John Orrell, H. E. Costello.

Highland council officers: Regent, W. J. Carey; vice-regent, L. M. Fuller; past regent, F. R. Kinney; collector, A. M. Hunt; chaplain, G. C. Blaby; warden, H. H. Taylor; orator, J. W. McKean; secretary, W. D. Hilt; treasurer, C. Frank Butterfield; guide, A. C. Greenwood; scribe, F. C. Rand.

General Shields, No. 40, F. O. A. The meeting of Court General Shields, F. O. A., was called to order last night by sub-Chief Ranger John Hanley. Six applications for membership were received and four candidates were initiated into the order. A ways and means committee was appointed to make arrangements for an outing to be held in the near future. They will report at the next meeting. Remarks for the good of the order were made by Brothers Keegan, Bailey, McDonough, Moss, Green, Hanley and Cox. The receipts of the meeting were $125 and the expense was $31.

Ancient Order of United Workmen. The Ancient Order of United Workmen, Lowell lodge, No. 22, held a well attended meeting in Odd Fellows temple last night. A whisky party will be conducted by the order, the second Thursday in June and some good prizes will be awarded to the winners. Plans are under way for a picnic to be held at Canobie lake during the summer, and it is expected that the committee will have a completed report at the next meeting. Master Workman J. H. Mills presided.

Court Scandia, F. O. A.

A meeting of Court Scandia, Foresters of America, was held last night in their rooms in Odd Fellows temple, and a large amount of routine business was transacted. This society will conduct a picnic to Nahasset grove on June 14. A report from Delegate Charles E. Wexander, who attended the grand court convention held in Pittsfield was read with much interest to the members. The meeting was conducted by Chief Ranger Emile C. Pearson.

Ladd and Whitney Post, G. A. R.

The following orders for the Memorial day exercises were adopted at the last meeting of the Ladd and Whitney post, 155, G. A. R.:

1. Sunday, May 25, the post will assemble at these headquarters at 10 o'clock, a. m., to attend divine services at St. Paul's M. E. church, Hurd street. Rev. George W. King, pastor. Lunch will be served after this service at these headquarters.

2. The post will assemble at these headquarters at 2 p. m. sharp to attend the joint memorial service at the First Congregational church. Orator, Rev. Edward H. Newcomb.

3. Comrades who will attend the public school exercises on Thursday afternoon, May 29th, will report to the adjutant at once.

4. The post will assemble at these headquarters at 5 a. m., May 30th, and following Post 42 and Post 120, under the command of Commander Derby, S. V., proceed by automobiles to the Lowell cemetery, and at the close of the service this post will go by automobiles to Tewksbury, assisting that town in its memorial services, returning by electric.

5. The post will assemble at 2:30 p. m. at these headquarters and on the arrival of Post 42 and 120 "fall in" with them, reporting to the chief marshal at the common and at the close of the parade and review, when dismissed, by invitation of Circle 8, Ladies of the G. A. R., enjoy their hospitality at the post hall, closing the day with patriotic speaking.

6. Comrades unable to march are urged to ride. If their health will permit, on Memorial day. Notify the adjutant before the 27th, so he may procure carriages enough.

Carriages with the above veterans leave these headquarters at 1 p. m. Memorial afternoon to assist the Sons of Veterans at the Hildroth cemetery.

Stomach on a Strike

We all ask too much of our stomachs. For days, weeks and months we eat at irregular hours, overload our stomachs, eat too rapidly and are careless as to whether our food is well cooked or digestible. So far as the stomach is concerned, we show little or no consideration until one day we find that the stomach has gone on a strike. We sit back in despair. The stomach is rebellious to the degree in which we have abused it. No amount of coaxing, careful dieting and regular hours for eating have the least effect.

The proper treatment for stomach trouble is understood by very few sufferers. The symptoms seem to show that something is wrong with the stomach. The trouble in reality is deeper. The loss of appetite, discomfort after eating, nausea, gas and pains have little to do with the stomach or food, but are directly caused by the blood which your careless habits have made impure. The proper treatment then is to build up and cleanse the blood. A thorough trial of will do this well. You can take them with every confidence that they will make your blood new and pure.

Sufferers who have tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills recommend them enthusiastically. A few such endorsements are given in our diet booklet, which will be sent free. It also treats of constipation.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50 or they will be sent, postpaid, upon receipt of price by the

WILL REARREST HIM

Wealthy British Merchant Liable to Get Into More Trouble With Government

yesterday calling for the re-arrest of Henry W. A. Page, a wealthy English linen merchant, convicted in Washington a year ago for libeling members of congress.

At that time he was sentenced to five years' imprisonment and fined $1000 and was released under suspended sentence. The order for re-arrest, it is understood, was issued on the grounds that he had violated the terms under which sentence was suspended by writing of his grievances to the president, attacking the department of justice.

Page's conviction followed his circulation of pamphlets calling congressmen "crooks." He believed that the courts had treated him unfairly in giving his wife the custody of their three children after granting her a separation.

He memorialized congress, asking for the impeachment of certain New York judges and when the house judiciary committee, to whom his petition was referred, gave him no satisfaction, he printed and mailed to members of both houses pamphlets containing a lurid attack on various congressmen.

Page could not be found at his office this afternoon and it was said he was out of town.

FINED FOR EVADING FARE

Man Taken From Train

MAN CHARGED WITH FAILING TO EDUCATE SON HELD

Young Girls Charged With Larceny
Given Suspended Sentences—Non-Support Case Heard

Joseph Fontaine decided to travel to Lowell from Boston last night via the blind baggage route but found himself in the grip of the law when the train stopped at the Middlesex street station. Word had been telegraphed on ahead from Waltham by the operator who saw Fontaine clinging on to the side rails as the train passed his post of duty. Officer Dooley, whose beat is around the depot, was summoned by the local operator and nabbed the would-be free passenger as he was attempting to alight on the side of the tracks near the station. He was immediately taken to the station and booked the charge of trying to evade payment of car fare.

When brought before Judge Knight in police court this morning he pleaded guilty to the charge and asked for clemency from the court. It seems that he was only released from jail last Wednesday and did not have much money with which to defray expenses until he located a job. The court ordered him to pay a fine of $10 and gave him two months in which to pay it.

Juvenile Session

In the juvenile session Sadie Belanger, one of the girls held in the Eek-land case, was sent to the reformatory in Lancaster. The two girls who were apprehended while in the act of stealing several articles from the Bon Marche, were given suspended sentences to the same institutions.

Held in $200

Theodoras Mavarakos, accused of failing to provide proper education for his son, pleaded not guilty this morning. Trial Officer Thornton, who prosecuted the case, called Assistant Clerk Trull to the stand. Mr. Trull stated that the defendant had given his son's age as 12 years. The defendant claimed that his son is nearly 15. On this account a new warrant had to be made out and the defendant was held in $200 bonds for his appearance before the local court tomorrow morning.

Non-Support Case

Philip Jalbert, charged with drunkenness and non-support of his wife and minor children, was placed on probation on both count and ordered to give his wife $7 each week out of his pay envelope.

Nightshifts Exhibited

Sergeant Duncan produced a man named Thomas Kelly, whom he placed under arrest when he saw him trying to get rid of two nightshifts for the ridiculous sum of thirty cents. The nightshifts were produced in court this morning. The defendant claimed the said story of somebody else giving the article in question to the defendant. He told a straightforward story, however, and the court believed him. "I've been to sea since 1858," said Kelly, "and never was arrested for anything but drunkenness before." He was found not guilty and discharged. As he was going out of the court room Superintendent Walsh presented him with his two nightshifts.

John B. Roy, charged with drunkenness, was sent to the house of correction for a term of three months. Samuel Martel received a $5 fine for drunkenness; there were also two releases by the probation officer for first offenders for drunkenness.

SCHEDULES OF TARIFF

Meeting of Finance Committee Today

WASHINGTON, May 23.—At the meeting of the Finance Committee today, which is examining the different schedules of the forthcoming tariff, Samuel Ross, a representative of the Textile Workers of America, speaking for his organization urged that the contemplated reduction in cotton be not as heavy as has been proposed.

Senator Hughes asked if he thought the proposed cut would reduce wages. "No, it won't reduce wages," said Ross, "because we won't stand for it and the time is past in this country for any reduction in wages. We have nothing to do with the manufacturers' end of it, but we feel that the great reduction in cotton duties will throw men out of work. If the duty on the finer grades are cut it will put a heavy drain on the capitalization of the mills. I do not think the cotton mills are over capitalized, but the workers do fear that men will be thrown out of work because local manufacturers cannot meet foreign competition if the duties are too low."

Democratic leaders determined today upon a plan to hurry consideration of the bill in the senate. Senators Simmons and Hoke Smith declare that when the debate begins the senate will meet daily at 10 a. m. and continue to 6 p. m.

KILLED HIS SWEETHEART STARVED IN THE ARCTIC

Railroad Engineer Then Survivor of Expedition

ERIE, Pa., May 21.—Jacob Demerle, a railroad engineer, today shot and killed his sweetheart, Miss Marie James, at her boarding house and then shot himself. Demerle died in a hospital an hour later.

GIRL ATTACKED BY DOG

May Die From Bites of Infuriated Animal

BOSTON, May 21.—Maddened by the teasing of several children who were at play in a yard at Phillips and Water streets, Quincy, yesterday afternoon, a large bulldog charged upon the little ones and before assistance arrived rightfully mangled 5-year-old Rose Bartolomeo. The child was picked up insensible and lies at her home in imminent danger of death.

The youngsters had just been dismissed from school, and on their way home gathered in the vacant lot on Water street. One stunt followed another, and, tired finally of playing, they began to plague the dog. First one threw a stone at him, then another. At last one of the bolder spirits approached near the animal and struck at it with a stick.

Growing savagely and showing his fangs, the animal snapped at his assailant. Armed by this they persisted in their teasing until the dog, thoroughly maddened and aroused, charged upon them. Rose was nearest, and he sank his fangs into her side. She fell to the ground, and, springing on top of her, the animal tore her dress and bit her thigh and again on the thighs and back.

The cries of the terrified child attracted the attention of some men in a nearby store, and, hastening to the scene, they managed to beat the dog back with clubs. Rose was insensible by the time they freed her and she was carried into the office of Dr. D. B. Beardon. He found her body terribly mutilated and expressed himself as doubtful of her recovery.

The dog was caught and is being examined for symptoms of rabies by the Quincy board of health.

STARVED IN THE ARCTIC

Tells Thrilling Tale

BERLIN, May 21.—A description of the terrible sufferings undergone by the members of the German Arctic expedition commanded by Lieut. Spree, Dr. Stranz, which met disaster in Spitzbergen, is given in the diary of the artist Herr Rave, who is one of those rescued. He telegraphed extracts to Berlin yesterday from Advent Bay, giving details of the movements of the expedition after its members had been rescued. The "Heros" Ernest, on Sept. 21, 1912.

The dispatch, which in some places is incomplete and almost incomprehensible, says: "The proposal to abandon the ship came from Capt. Ritzschel at the beginning of September. The vessel then had provisions for four months, besides a large supply of condensed foods, and she was otherwise well equipped."

"The party started for Advent Bay and reached a hut on Wilja Bay on Oct. 4."

"Dr. Rudiger, the oceanographer, was suffering then from a half-frozen foot, two of his toes being in bad condition. I offered to remain with him until the others could bring back help."

"The hut contained a month's provisions."

"Dr. Rudiger and I were without tools, sleeping bags or lights. I melted some fat and made lights, and fashioned some sleeping bags from salton skins which I found in the hut."

"Dr. Rudiger's foot became worse and there were no more bandage materials."

"The provisions ran out, and we left the hut on Nov. 23 hoping to regain the ship."

"We suffered severely, having nothing to drink, but we finally reached a hut at Mossel bay, where we found some hard and mouldy bread."

"We remained there three days during a storm and then started again for the ship, guiding ourselves by the stars. We arrived at the ship on Dec. 1."

"Dr. Rudiger, in the meanwhile had suffered greatly, two more of his toes and four fingers having been frozen, while his foot became so bad that it had to be amputated."

"The guides and sailors of the expedition returned unexpectedly to the ship on Dec. 24, reporting the loss of Eberhardt. They had no news of Dr. Dottmers or Dr. Moerer, the botanist."

"They said Capt. Ritzschel had gone on alone to Advent bay."

"Steve died on February 24, and the Norwegian relief expedition commanded by Capt. Staxrud appeared on April 21."

The expedition started last summer, under the patronage of the Duke of Altenburg, the object being to find the northeastern passage.

First Drink Caused Tragic

BOSTON, May 21.—Mabel Snow and Louise Paradise, each about 20 years old, and living in Lewiston, Me., appeared before Judge Bennett in the police court yesterday, charged with larceny from Harry E. Kenney of $310 at an Appleton street house, May 9.

The Snow girl told the judge that it was the first time she had been associated with anything of this nature, and that she had her first drink that night with her friend. She denied that she stole the money.

Judge Bennett held her until Monday and will have her case investigated. The Paradise woman was found guilty, and sentenced to Sherborn, but appealed.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

$5.00 PANTS FREE

In another one of those famous splurges of mine I want to show the people of Lowell that I am out to do business during the month of May regardless of what inducements I have to offer.

With me now it is business---business all the time. I believe if I sell them low enough I can get more than my share of suit customers remaining to be supplied. If foreign woollens swamp the market next fall or next spring, wouldn't I look nice trying to sell American woollens to you that were bought under the present high tariff conditions. Bare tables and bare shelves for me until things settle themselves. That's my dope; sell every man who enters the store regardless of value. Is price any object to you? Is saving any object to you? Is quality, combined with low prices, any object? Is money in your pocket as good to you as it is in the pocket of some clothing dealer? Give me your order for a suit today or tomorrow, and give me till Decoration Day to make the suit. You be your own salesman, pick out what you like, tell me how you want it cut, and let me make it up that way to your satisfaction, or no sale.

MR. CLOTHING WEARER, OTHER YEARS AT THIS TIME YOU HAD YOUR SPRING SUIT ORDERED, PAID FOR AND WELL WORN BY NOW. You haven't given it a thought this year. We fellows in the clothing line know that, because none of us are getting our usual business; you are going to get a summer suit anyway, because you are going to get the summer weather that will make you order, and that weather will soon come.

To induce you to order now, I have placed my stock on the bargain table at prices that will appeal to the thrifty who will need now or who will need later, and for FRIDAY AND SATURDAY I offer an extra inducement of A PAIR OF PANTS ABSOLUTELY FREE with suit to order. My blue serge special being a special extra offer is not included.

N. B.—ORDERS TAKEN UP TO SATURDAY NIGHT WILL BE READY FOR DECORATION DAY IF WANTED.

CAPT. ANTHONY DEAD

Famed as Rescuer of Fenian Prisoners

NEW BEDFORD, May 22.—Captain George S. Anthony, for the last 29 years, boarding officer for the customs service at this port, and famed in Irish history as the commander of the Catalpa expedition to Australia, died at his home in this city yesterday, following an attack of pneumonia.

Captain Anthony was but 32 years old when he set sail as commander of the Catalpa. In 1876, after waiting for about a year, he made a dash to the coast of Australia, where he rescued six Fenian prisoners, confined in a British penal colony. He carried the rescued men off under the very guns of a British man-of-war, and delivered them in New York in August, 1876.

His daring act went without reward until 1905, when he was presented a gold watch, and a year later he was given a present of $100. Because of this daring rescue of the political prisoners, Captain Anthony was debarred from entering any British port. Twenty-nine years ago he was appointed to the customs service at New Bedford. He was 70 years of age, and one of the oldest officers in the service here.

$600,000 For Jap Exhibit

TOKIO, May 23.—The committee of the Japanese parliament yesterday made a favorable report on the proposed appropriation of $600,000 for the representation of Japan at the Panama-Pacific exhibition to be held at San Francisco in 1915.

Thieves Rob Poorboxes

BOSTON, May 22.—The police of Malden and Everett are hunting for a band of poorbox and gas meter thieves who have been operating in the two cities. Two Malden churches, the Immaculate Conception and St. Joseph's, have been the scene of the latest depredations where the poorboxes have been rifled of their contents. Entrance was gained by forcing a window in the basement in each case.

SEARCH FOR LOST GIRL

Pupil of Malden High School is Missing

BOSTON, May 23.—The police of Malden and Greater Boston and in several of the large centres of the country are using every effort to locate Ethel M. Howe, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Howe of 46 Glenwood street, Malden, who disappeared from her home Saturday afternoon.

The girl left home to go to her grandmother's nearby. She wore neither a hat nor coat. The girl did not reach her grandmother's home.

Miss Howe was a third year pupil in the Malden High school and was exceptionally bright in her studies. She would have graduated next June.

TEWKSBURY

One of the worst forest fires this season started Tuesday in a wood lot back of Mr. Wallace Burt's land. It took the combined efforts of a number of men from Andover and Tewksbury several hours before the blaze was under control. It burned between 150 and 200 acres of woodland.

Making Improvements

The property owners on Pleasant street are making every effort to outdo one another in having their places look the best. Mr. Lewis Burt and Mrs. Combs are having their houses painted besides making their grounds attractive. It is now considered by many to be one of the prettiest streets of the village.

Motor Cycle Stuck Auto

What might have proved a serious accident occurred Sunday noon at the junction of Pleasant and Main streets when a motor cycle collided with a large touring car. The car was turning the corner and the motor cyclist, not interpreting the signal correctly, drove straight into the hood of the auto. The cycle was quite badly smashed but was able to continue on its way after an hour's work upon it. The auto was not damaged and after the occupants had given what help they could they resumed their journey.

Preparat to Play

The Y. P. S. C. E. are preparing a drama, "Me and Olla," to be given the first Monday in June. Judging from the number of rehearsals it should be one of the best entertainments of the season and the young people will have an opportunity to display their talent.

Rain Welcome

The farmers were all very glad to see the rain which was needed to help the growth of the seeds which have been planted recently. Some of the greatest demands of the first class markets of Boston are for vegetables grown in Tewksbury. The land in Chandler street yielded some of the best asparagus sent in this spring.

Miss Moody's Death

has brought sorrow to many homes where she was known and loved.

She was a public stenographer in Boston employing a number of girls and as her work needed her constant attention, it was difficult for her to visit her many friends, but they shall always remember her as a sweet and amiable school mate. She was taken ill Wednesday of last week with a severe cold which developed into pneumonia. She was removed to the Quincy hospital Saturday but she had not the strength to recover and passed out of this life Tuesday morning at 3 o'clock. The funeral was held Friday afternoon. Many friends were present to pay their last respects and the floral offerings were many and beautiful.

Dies While Coughing

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 23.—E. O. Painter, a wealthy fertilizer manufacturer and fruit grower, taken with a fit of coughing yesterday while crossing St. John's river on a ferry, fell overboard and was drowned. He was said to have carried life insurance totalling $500,000 and to have applied yesterday for an additional policy of $50,000.

SCALY-LIKE RASH ON BABY'S LEGS

And Neck, Coming Out on Arms, Became Raw Sores. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Gave Instant Relief and Completely Cured.

132 Balch St., Beverly, Mass.—"When my baby was but six weeks old she broke out on her legs and neck with a dry, scaly-like rash. I soon noticed it seemed to be matting together on her neck and was coming out on her arms. She was very fussy and needed constant attention. She could only sleep about half an hour at a time either day or night. 'In about three days it had become raw sores. It turned into a running sore on her neck and was fast becoming so on her arms."

"I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed her with the Cuticura Soap and applied the Ointment as soon as I got them and they seemed to afford instant relief. She went right to sleep and slept for three hours, the first time for over two weeks. After two or three applications of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I noticed a decided change. I continued the treatment and she was completely cured. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured her." (Signed) Mrs. O. B. Gilie, Apr. 19, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

CURTIS ROBBED IN TRAIN

Hub Man Said to Have
Lost $20,000

ROME, May 23.—Francis Gardner Curtis, widely known clubman of Boston, Mass., and an assistant curator of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, who, with his bride of a few months, is traveling through Europe, was robbed yesterday of $20,000 in a train going between Florence and Bologna.

Mr. Curtis and his wife, who was Miss May Barnard, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James M. Barnard of Boston, had left Florence early in the morning. Somewhere on the way Mr. Barnard went into another compartment of the train and made the acquaintance of a fellow traveler. He talked with the man for about half an hour and then went back to his wife.

He had been with her only a few minutes when he noticed his pocket-book was gone. In it were bonds to the amount of $16,000 and banknotes amounting to $4,000. He is of the opinion it was stolen by his chance acquaintance and every effort is being made by the Italian police to find the stranger.

MISS SUSANNE CARROLL, SOUTHERN BEAUTY, WILL WED MAJOR J. P. HILL

MISS SUSANNE CARROLL

BALTIMORE, May 23.—Miss Susanne Carroll, a noted southern beauty, to whom Robert W. Chambers dedicated his recent novel, "The Gay Rebel," is going to marry. The lucky man is Major John Philip Hill, United States district attorney for Maryland. The engagement has just been announced. When Mr. Chambers dedicated his book to Miss Carroll he wrote, "Though J. H. Hill and 'Smith' incline to crown, I do not fear, for you, Susanne, have long since won my heart." Everybody now knows that "J. H." is Major Hill, but the mystery of "Smith" still remains. Of course it doesn't make any difference now why "Smith" is. His name is Dennis anyway. The wedding will take place in June and will be of interest not only to Baltimore and New York society, but also to many people in Europe, where Miss Carroll spent her girlhood. Miss Carroll is a granddaughter of Mrs. Tucker Carroll, with whom she has made her home in New York city the last few winters. She is also a great-granddaughter of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Major Hill is a graduate of Harvard, a member of the Massachusetts Society of the Cincinnati, the Maryland club and the Metropolitan club of Washington.

LONG HIKE TO WIN BET

Must Walk 58 Miles in
20 Hours

BOSTON, May 23.—To win a bet with Junius S. Morgan, Nelson Morris, Morgan Belmont and several other Harvard students, who live in fashionable Back hall in Cambridge, Harold M. Wright, a wealthy student from Germantown, Pa., will start out at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to walk to Rye Beach, N. H., a distance of 58 miles from Cambridge.

Wright's opponents will turn out at that early hour to see him start, and many of those interested in the bet will motor to Rye beach later in the day to see that Wright reaches there before a half hour after midnight Sunday.

Wright, who is a baseball and football player of reputation at Harvard, in a conversation with a number of friends recently said that an athlete could easily cover over 60 miles in walking within a day's time. His statement was doubted and Wright offered to bet that he himself could accomplish the feat.

Rye beach was selected, because it lies only two miles of being 60 miles distant, and to make up for this lack, four hours of the time allowed were taken off. So that to win his bet, which now amounts to something in four figures, according to rumor, Wright must walk 58 miles to Rye beach in 20 consecutive hours.

He has decided to get an early start and will leave Harvard square at 4:30, clad in pedestrian's garb. A group of friends, who will motor to Rye beach, will be waiting for him shortly after midnight tomorrow, and a banquet will be tendered him if he makes the journey according to scheduled time.

TO PAY UNPAID BILLS

Mayor Barry Orders School Committee Expenditures Approved by Cambridge City Auditor

BOSTON, May 23.—A new turn was given yesterday to the question of $100,000 worth of unpaid bills of the Cambridge school committee, when Mayor Barry ordered City Auditor Thurston to approve the bills so that payment might be made.

The several sums are to be charged to the proper appropriation for the school department.

Rupture and Piles

Held Up by Boy of 7
Malden Youth Relieved of Money

BOSTON, May 23.—At the point of a pistol, Paul Lawless, 12 years old, of 112 Pleasant street, Malden, was held up in true yeggman style in Malden square yesterday afternoon by a seven-year-old boy, whose identity the police would not make known because of his youth, and robbed of 50 cents. The "yeggman" was arrested after a chase of half a mile, which was participated in by a crowd of men and boys.

The Lawless boy was running an errand for his mother when a strange youth approached him and demanded all his money. Lawless refused to give him the half dollar which he had in his hand, and started to shove him away. At that the other youth drew a pistol and, telling him to put up his hands, grabbed the money, which was all but ready to fall from the terrified Lawless' hand. The pistol, which was shoved quickly into the pocket, was found to be a water revolver.

At the outcry of the Lawless boy, pursuit was given to the holdup youth, who disappeared in the crowd. He was captured after a chase, and turned over to the police. The Lawless boy was given back his money.

It is believed by the police that mor-

MILK LABEL BILL WAS PASSED

By Senate—Out-State Product
Must be Marked—Senator
Fisher to the Front

BOSTON, May 23.—Meany of Blackstone scored a victory yesterday in the state senate when his bill for the labeling of milk brought from without the state or pasteurized was passed to be engrossed after a stiff contest, 24 to 14.

The governor's veto of the measure relative to bond issues by electric light and power companies went over till today.

Senator Fisher of Westford urged the substitution of his bill to reduce the amount required of towns to pay for the abolition of grade crossings. Conference of Northampton opposed substitution.

Substitution was refused by a rising vote of 10 to 2. The question coming on the acceptance of the adverse report. Senator Bellamy moved to place the report on the table. Senator Coolidge objected. Senator Bellamy then moved that the report lie upon the table till such time as a similar bill now pending is received. The report was tabled by a vote of 10 to 2.

Senator Stearns moved the substitution of his perfecting bill as to notices claimed in respect to industrial accidents. The bill was substituted by a voice vote and goes into the orders of the day for the next session.

Senator Fisher withdrew his amendment to the "Meany" milk bill as to dealers who sell milk to be drunk on the premises, and moved his perfecting amendment as to the type used in the label.

Senator Blanchard attacked the bill as vitally affecting the dairy dealers of the metropolitan district. He said that it takes 250,000 cans to handle the milk used in Boston, but take it at 200,000 cans, the cost would be increased to 10 cents a can if they are all to be labeled.

Milk Brought 267 Miles

Senator Fisher again insisted that the consumer should be informed, as the bill will permit, whether his milk comes from New York, New Hampshire, Vermont or Maine or from Massachusetts; as to the cost labeling, the talk about the extra labor is ridiculous.

He said that milk is brought to Boston 267 miles from one point, 216 miles from another, and in one instance they brought milk from Illinois to Boston. The reason they do not get the milk at 25 cents a can and down here they must pay 45 cents a can for it.

He said that 95 per cent of the food company's supply comes to Boston from outside the state. It is the almighty dollar that is opposed to this bill. If the people knew they were getting Illinois milk, or Maine milk, there would be no difficulty about raising milk right here in this state.

Senator Blanchard asked him if he thought talk raisers in Massachusetts could supply the demand of Boston, and Senator Fisher said there is no doubt about it as soon as the people know where the milk they are now getting comes from.

Wells of Haverhill said he had for an income tax, but insisted that it lowered the debate and failed to find any provision in it for making the milk cleaner or purer than it is now.

Word of Buckland said he had talked with the contractors and they had told him that this bill would not hurt them. He believed the bill will benefit the people.

Treiman of Charlestown thought, by passing this bill they were starting on the wrong end. The Fisher amendment was adopted.

No Tax Amendment

With a single dissenter, Senator of Lawrence, the ways and means committee reported to the Massachusetts house yesterday afternoon the western trolley bill, which the committee on street railways favorably reported last week.

The bill for the substitution of a subway between the North station and Sullivan square for the present elevated structure, went over till Monday on motion of Carr of Boston. There are certain constitutional questions involved that members desire to look into.

The bill making an appropriation of $5,000,000 for river and harbor improvements throughout the state, commonly known as the "Pork-stuffed" bill, was briefly discussed before adjournment cut off debate. Webster of Northfield again opposed the measure. He offered an amendment to cut the appropriation in two. This was easily defeated, 25 to 18.

James of Medford offered an amendment which eliminates the provision "directing" the harbor and land commission to expend the money. Then White of Newton made a vigorous attack on the whole proposition and the house adjourned before he had finished his argument.

Tax Amendment Reopen

The house gave over practically all day to a continued discussion of the proposed amendment to the constitution, authorizing the general court to classify property for purposes of taxation. The advocates of this proposition were easily defeated after a day of debate.

It took a two-thirds vote to agree to this proposed article of amendment and the friends of the measure didn't even secure a majority. Question being asked in the affirmative, 152 voted in the affirmative and 124 in the negative. This killed the proposed amendment.

One of the features of the prolonged debate was the verbal interchange between Lummey of Boston, who opposed the amendment, and Speaker Cushing, who took the floor to favor it.

Speaker Urges the Amendment

Dean of Wakenfield opened the fight against the amendment. Its real purpose, he said, is to enable the commonwealth to impose an income tax of its own, and thus to exempt from direct taxation all property the income from which is taxed.

He agreed that the state should have an income tax, but insisted that it should come through an honest measure for that purpose alone.

Hull of Great Barrington urged the house to consider that the question raised by the preceding speaker are to be left for the consideration of future legislatures.

Mr. Lummey said the proposition is simply one to create two classes of property, one of real estate on which the poor man shall pay a high rate, and the other to be composed of rich men, owning stocks and bonds, upon which there shall be a low rate of taxation.

He said the national income tax will force men of wealth to tell the truth as to their holdings, and in that way the assessors will be able to learn just where the property is.

Speaker Cushing, taking the floor, said that every year since he has been in the legislature the matter has been discussed, and as often killed. Each year, he said, certain members force through the legislature an income tax law which cannot be enforced because it is unconstitutional, but when it is proposed to amend the constitution so that such an income law may be imposed, these same members condemn and defeat it.

Mr. Lummey inquired if it is not a fact that incomes in excess of $2000 are now subject to taxation in this state, and Mr. Cushing replied that the law levies a tax upon incomes from trades, professions and employments only, and that the income of rich men from their stocks, bonds, etc., cannot be taxed because the constitution prohibits it.

He said the amendment has been opposed every year by the great public service corporations and by large trustees and never in the real interest of the poor man. The amendment now before the house, he said, gives to future legislatures the right to do anything they may please in respect to the tax laws, with the single exception that if real estate is taxed as such, the income shall not also be taxed, and that restriction, he said, is wholly wise.

Mr. Lummey insisted that if such an exemption is to be given to real estate, it cannot reasonably be refused to intangible property. Mr. Cushing replied that there is excellent reason for the distinction. In case of a Massachusetts corporation, he said, its real estate is subject to taxation, and the income therefrom would, therefore, be exempt from taxation. In the case of a foreign corporation, which pays its real estate tax in another commonwealth, the income from the stocks and bonds would be subject to taxation under the amendment.

Edward of Barnstable agreed that personal property might well be divided into two classes, tangible and intangible, but he feared that if the legislature were given authority to go farther in classification the result would be to force the holders of personal property into almost limitless multiplication of the legislature for their own advantage.

London of Boston objected to the so-called three-nail tax on intangibles which would be permitted by the amendment.

Speaker of Lawrence said the amendment is but another attempt to strike the word "proportional" out of the constitution. He said the change would place the entire burden upon real estate, which led Kinney of Boston to state that at the present time two-thirds of all the taxes collected in Massachusetts come from real estate.

Robert of Haverhill said the fact that taxation in this state is not sufficient reason for wiping out all the safeguards of the constitution.

School Bill Sent to Senate

After the noon recess Mr. Lummey renewed his opposition, contending that the present laws are sufficient if enforced.

Mr. Cushing replied that the tax commissioner for two years has reported to the legislature that the present laws cannot be enforced, and each year has recommended as a remedy that the constitution be so amended that the general court shall have broad general powers to provide for an income tax.

North of Haverhill offered as an amendment a substitute bill providing for a tax upon all incomes in excess of $2000, from whatever source derived. Creed of Boston raised the point of order that the substitute bill could not be acted upon, having been rejected by the house earlier in the session. The point was sustained.

Mr. Kinney said there is no one who will contend that the present Massachusetts tax system has been other than a failure.

The amendment was then rejected. The bill to recede and revise the laws relative to school attendance and to the employment of minors was debated at length, being opposed by Murphy of Boston, Donovan of Boston, Doyle of New Bedford, L. R. Sullivan and P. F. Sullivan of Boston, and defeated by Wood of Gardner, Holmes of Melford and Bothwell of Newton.

A motion of R. F. Sullivan to strike out the section relative to truant girls was defeated, 156 to 118, after which the bill was passed to be engrossed, 116 to 102, and sent to the senate.

Merrimack Square Theatre

Patrons of the Merrimack Square theatre who haven't as yet seen "Wildfire" the play which is meeting with great success there, this week should avail themselves of the excellent opportunity offered and attend one of the remaining performances. It is one of the best plays ever seen locally, and is admirably staged and acted. The fact that the piece is being given at popular prices should pack the house at every performance.

SOLD BY GROCERS

has been arranged for the coming Sunday by Manager Carroll and will no doubt find favor among the many patrons who visit this popular playhouse on that day.

For the coming week "The White Sister" will be the attraction. This is Marion Crawford and Walter Hackett's best play, and is one in which Miss Grace Young, who will be seen in the title role, appeared in for over seven months on the "road" prior to her coming to Lowell. Seats for all performances now.

HALE'S STATUE UNVEILED

Taft, Long, Fitzgerald and

Others Speak

BOSTON, May 23.—Three thousand persons watched with eager eyes the stars and stripes, in response to a gentle pull of a string by Master Edward Everett Hale, 3d, fall gracefully from about the handsome bronze figure of the Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, on the Charles street mall of the public gardens, yesterday afternoon.

As the seven-year-old grandson of the great divine pulled the string, Nancy Hale, another grandchild, and Elsa Friedrich, a great-granddaughter, stood at his side, while in a carriage a few yards away sat the widow of Dr. Hale, 82 years of age, with tears streaming down her cheeks and somewhat unnerved by a fall sustained in leaving the Arlington street church. With her were her daughter, Miss Ellen Hale, Dr. Mary Holbert and Miss Abigail Clark, for years the devoted secretary of Dr. Hale.

Prominent Spectators
About the base of the statue were men of national repute: The Hon. William Howard Taft, ex-president of the United States; the Hon. John D. Long, ex-governor of the commonwealth; the Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, mayor of the city; the Rev. Dr. James De Normandie of Boston, a lifelong friend of Dr. Hale; Dr. R. D. Francis H. Bowley, head of the S. P. C. K. A. M. and Mrs. John A. Pratt, the sculptors of the work; many of the relatives of Dr. Hale and thousands of his friends and followers.

The unveiling followed exercises held at the Arlington street church, presided over by ex-Governor Long, at which addresses were made by President Taft and Dr. De Normandie. The vast assemblage led by Professor Taft and ex-Governor Long marched from the church to the statue.

The presentation of the statue to the city, prior to its unveiling, was made by ex-Governor Long, and was accepted in behalf of the city by Mayor Fitzgerald.

ABSCONDED WITH $53,000

The Death of Frederick
Moore is Reported

BOSTON, May 23.—The death in Valparaiso, Chile, of Frederick T. Moore, former assistant receiving teller of the National Bank of Commerce of Boston, who absconded 14 years ago with $53,000 of the bank's funds, was reported here today. Moore fled this city in 1898 when a discrepancy was found in his books and was arrested in Valparaiso a year later on a charge of embezzlement. After a lower court acceded to a proposal to extradite Moore he appealed to the supreme court of Chile and in 1900 that tribunal set him free.

Moore, who formerly lived in Newton, was well known as a yachting enthusiast.

ITALIANS ABANDON GUNS HEADLESS BODY FOUND

at Sidi Garba

BENSHAZI, Tripoli, May 21.—The Italian troops under General Garibaldi were forced to retire after the battle with the Arabs on May 16 at Sidi Garba, near Derna, according to details just received here.

The Italians advanced in three columns against the Arab position, where they met with a most stubborn resistance and were finally compelled to retreat to Derna, abandoning three field guns damaged during the fighting.

The check is ascribed by the Italian commander to the superior numbers of the Arabs, to the fatigue of the Italian troops and to the difficult ground.

The casualties sustained by the Arabs are said to have numbered 500, while the Italians lost a large number of officers wounded.

Chinese Loan Over-subscribed
BERLIN, May 23.—The portion of the Chinese loan issued in Germany was over-subscribed five times.

Woman Made Gruesome
Find Yesterday

BOSTON, May 23.—Mystery and a possible murder lie behind the finding by Mrs. William Jepson of Squantum of the body of a man, headless and minus an arm and a foot, in front of her home on Bayville road early yesterday.

The body was washed ashore with the tide and is unidentified. The Quincy police say the body has been in the water more than a month, although they do not believe it to be that of a sailor.

The body was sent to Hall's morgue, Quincy.

The man was about 5 feet 7 inches in height, wore a flannel shirt and a pair of dark trousers with suspenders attached.

WHITNEY LIBEL DISMISSED

Judge Morton Not Fully Satisfied That the Wife Was Guilty of Misconduct

BOSTON, May 23.—Judge Morton yesterday dismissed the divorce libel filed by Alfred H. Whitney against his wife, Mrs. Mabel Smith Whitney of 15 Vernon street, Brookline, on the ground that the evidence as a whole failed to satisfy him that the libel was guilty of misconduct.

Whitney is a traveling salesman and accused his wife of misconduct with Dr. Henry Coogan of 32 Vernon street, Roxbury, in June, 1911. The couple separated in July, 1911. They were married in 1900 and have an 11-year-old son at a school in New Hampshire.

A FINE DRAMA

Was Presented by the Wistaria Dramatic Club at the Hillside Church—Large Attendance

The members of the Wistaria Dramatic club, a recently formed organization among the young people of the Hillside church, made their debut in the vestry of the church Wednesday night, when they presented a three-act drama, "The Teaser." The affair was very largely attended and the play was given with precision and accuracy. The parts were all well sustained and the audience voiced its appreciation by its frequent applause.

The cast of the drama was as follows: "Ellice Flemming," Mrs. Flemming's daughter, Miss Lily Tucker; "Arnold Maye," a young journalist, Harvey Kierstead; "Mrs. Marion Flemming," a widow, Miss Ethel Tucker; "Dr. Thorpe," homeopath, William

These are of "100 count" percale—which means 100 threads to the square inch. More than that, it means that the shirts are durable, that they look "quality," that they have none of the filling that washes out in the first laundering and leaves a cheese cloth effect. The "count," in fact, is the test of a good shirt.

They are coat model, with flap front, and have laundered cuffs attached, also solsette, with or without collars.

During the presentation of the drama the Wistaria quartet composed of Miss Lily Tucker and Messrs. Keams, Swindell and Scott, gave several numbers which were evidently enjoyed and they responded to several encores. Miss Lily Tucker gave pleasing songs, while Messrs. Laura and Miss Swindell, Edna Kierstead played well in several piano duets.

CONCERT AND LECTURE

Miss Sofia Stephall Scored Great Success at Y. M. C. A. Hall in Series of Three Lectures

The last in a series of three popular concert lectures by Miss Stephall was given last night at the Y. M. C. A. hall in Merrimack street, and the attendance was very large. The subject of her talk was "Music and Life," and her lecture was very interesting as well as instructive.

The lecture was accompanied by a fine musical program, Miss Stephall singing several old songs, and a number of operatic pieces. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Berenice Lathrop, who also played piano preludes to each lecture. The program rendered was as follows:

"When Daffodils Unfold".....Dietrich
"Just a Wearyin' for You".....Bord
"The Kiss".....Arctur
"Land of the Living".....Metcalfe
"A Vagabond's Song".....Robert Just
"My Lady Gail".....Clough-Feather
"To You".....Helena Bingham
(Written for and dedicated to Sofia Stephall by the composer).
"The Merry Maidens".....Thomas
"My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice".....Saint Saens

Verses of Old Songs. Various Composers
"La Perle du Bresil".....David
"The Danza".....Chadwick
"The Years at the Spring".....Heaton
"One stanza of the following old time songs was also given:

"Sweet Genevieve".....Old Kentucky Home
"His Buttons Are Marked U. S.".....My Rosary" and "Home, Sweet Home"
Yesterday afternoon, Miss Stephall's lecture was on "Music and Childhood," and her songs, in large part, were such as would appeal to children. The program follows:
"Mother of Mine".....Tours
"The Swing".....Hadley
"I Wish I Was a King".....Bingham
"The Flower's Lullaby".....Grace Watson
"I Once Had a Sweet Little Girl".....Nevin
"Now I Lay Me".....Nora Perette (Dedicated to Sofia Stephall).

NEWLY ELECTED PASTOR

Guest of Men's Club at
Eliot Church

Rev. Herbert A. Barker, the newly elected pastor of the Eliot Congregational church, was the guest of the Men's Club of that church and delivered an address on Abraham Lincoln. The speaker was introduced by Mr. Charles S. Proctor, the president of the club.

Mr. Barker spoke of the three features of Lincoln, physical, mental and moral. He said Lincoln was very tall, ungainly and unpolished, but with tremendous strength of body, and a wrestler of no mean repute. He said that Lincoln's physical power enabled him to do the work for the nation and the man had the advantage of a strong mind and a strong body. Drawing a lesson from this feature of Lincoln, Mr. Barker said that he believed it to be a serious problem and a dark blot on modern civilization that children are obliged to lay down their lives and souls of old so worthless that it is impossible for them to become efficient. Strength of body should be conserved and encouraged.

Intellectually, Lincoln was a giant in spite of his 12 months of schooling. This was the master mind of his presidential campaign. He was the greatest statesman and, as such, was never surpassed. As a leader he was the deepest and most far-sighted. Lincoln's own theory was that work hard, persistent plugging at the task would bring success. Lincoln was a deep thinker. His habit of thought was indicated by the lack of books in his early life. He spent much time pondering and thinking and in training his mind in this way. From this the speaker brought out a point that, in his opinion, the school children of today are being taught wrongly in the particular that too much is done for them and that they are not obliged to think for themselves. They have a broad scope of study that they have no time to think. He argued that if the children are really to become efficient, they must be taught to think and that some of the old-fashioned virtues should be re-established.

At Annual Dinner of Kirk Street Church Brotherhood—Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher Speaker of the Evening

At the annual dinner of the Brotherhood of the Kirk Street church held in the main vestry of the church last night the following officers were elected: President, Henry A. Smith; vice-president, Edwin L. Fletcher; secretary, J. Victor Carey; treasurer, George W. Osgood.

An excellent dinner was served under the direction of Mrs. E. D. Harris and a committee of young women. The speaker of the evening was Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher, who spoke on "Men in Affairs." He said the really successful men in life were the men who had a record for service to their fellowmen. He believed that the world is demanding the higher standard, and had given evidence of its progress. Rev. C. A. Lincoln, pastor of the church, in a short address said that the wealth of the world was not increased most by land, capital or labor, but by the men with ideas. The inventor and the organizer of resources were the ones who added to the profit of the world without doing harm to anyone. He said that he had found Lowell, during his brief ministry here, a most interesting city, in spite of its increasing problems. He did not believe that it was his mission to organize a large and complacent church in Kirk street, but rather to direct its energy to such ends that the whole city, and especially the foreign population, should be better served. President Smith and others spoke informally and there was chorus singing of Brotherhood songs.

PRAY FOR YOSHIHITO
Emperor's Condition is Very Grave

TOKIO, May 23.—Official report that the emperor Yoshihito is ill with pneumonia, the constant attendance upon him by one or more of the eight court physicians and the vigil which the empress Sadaka kept at his bedside all last night make it appear that his condition is more grave than was indicated by the first bulletins. The whole Japanese empire is today depressed with the reports.

The bulletin issued this morning only announced briefly that the emperor's condition was unchanged. The high fever of last night when his temperature ranged from 103.5 to 104.2 Fahr. apparently was unabated. The imperial patient is at the Aoyama palace, on whose immense parade ground he constructed a cold while reviewing the troops last Sunday. It had been intended to remove him at once to the never Chiyoda palace, but the sudden serious turn of inflammation of the lungs necessitated abandonment of the plan.

Arthur B. Blanchard, American charge d'affaires, was among the first of the stream of callers at the imperial palace to inquire about the condition of his majesty and he expressed the sympathy of the American government and people for his suffering. A number of native organizations have despatched special messengers to the imperial shrine to pray for the recovery of the emperor.

THE HOUSE COMMITTEES

Democrats Agree Tentatively on Members

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Democratic members of the ways and means committee it was asserted today have agreed tentatively upon a number of the committees of the house, appointments to which have been deferred because of the pressure of business.

The immigration committee chairmanship will be retained by Rep. Burnett of Alabama, who also served in the latter part of the last congress as head of the public buildings committee. Most of the principal chairmanships will be undisturbed but there will be many changes in the memberships. The interstate commerce committee will be almost completely changed. Rep. Houston of Tennessee must drop out to retain the chairmanship of the census committee and Rep. South of Texas to keep his irrigation chairmanship. Other members are similarly situated.

House leaders have made tentative selections for the chairmanships of the following committees: Agriculture, Rep. Lever, South Carolina; appropriations, Fitzgerald, New York; banking and currency, Glass, Virginia; District of Columbia, Johnson, Kentucky; Education, Hays, Alaska; foreign affairs, Flood, New Hampshire; Burnett, Alaska; interstate and foreign commerce, Adairson, Georgia.

Mountain Peak Blown Up
CHAMBERY, France, May 23.—Military engineers blasted into fragments yesterday the loose peak of a mountain consisting of 80,000 cubic feet of rock, which had threatened to fall and destroy any persons in the village of Ternery, in the department of Savoie, ever since its foundation as a cluster of huts in the middle ages.

A charge of 500 pounds of dynamite was used for the explosion. Before the fall was fired the villagers moved away all their animals and portable property to the neighboring hills.

BUYING UP OF RIVALS

United Shoe Trial

BOSTON, May 22.—Further evidence of the buying up of rivals and the disappearance of the latter from the field of their former activity was presented by the government today in its suit brought in the United States district court to dissolve the United Shoe Machinery company, which is alleged to have violated the Sherman anti-trust act. During the first year of its existence the company bought up nine companies, only two of which are doing business today. Seven companies were bought up during the second year, of which only two are in operation at the present time. These companies are the Boston East Color Eyelet Co. and the Hoss-Meyer Mfg. Co. of Cincinnati. The latter is an Ohio corporation with an issued capital of $127,400, all of which is owned by the United Shoe Machinery company.

On acquiring control of the Boston East Color Eyelet company, a new company was organized under the same name with a capital of $1,500,000. The United company owns 11,020,600 of this stock. President Sidney Winslow of the United is president of both companies.

Some of these companies were making machines similar to those of the United while others were engaged in manufacturing the tools and supplies incidental to the shoe machinery business.

The government contends that all of these companies were acquired in pursuance of a plan to monopolize the shoe machinery business of the country. The defense admits the acquisition of the companies but denies the plan to monopolize all as charged by the government.

The contracts and agreements entered into by the defendant for the purpose of acquiring these companies were offered as exhibits by William S. Greer, special assistant to the United States attorney general and the machines which were acquired were described by Nelson Howard, a patent attorney employed by the United company.

WOMAN DIED SUDDENLY

Mrs. Corcoran Passed Away Today

The many friends of Mrs. Helena E. Corcoran will be pained to hear of her death, which occurred suddenly this morning at her home, 13 Hampton avenue, off Walker street. Although the deceased had not been in good health for the past few weeks, she had been in the best of spirits and no alarm was felt by her family as to her condition. She was born in Chicago, Ill., but came to this city in her childhood and received her education at the hands of the Sisters of Notre Dame and since her graduation, which came with the class of 1892, she has been a faithful member of the alumni, bringing good cheer with her sunny disposition at all times. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, Michael A. Corcoran, a mother, Mrs. Helena E. Quinn, and a daughter, Mary Teresa.

TO REMOVE LEAD FROM WATER

Continued

In the Cook well water, so as to prevent action on lead, and aerating and filtering the boulevard water so as to remove the iron. He proposes, he says, to install small experimental plants at both the Cook and boulevard stations to try out the proposed methods, cooperating with the state authorities, who will make the necessary analyses to determine the success of the work done.

Mr. Barrett's Statement

"Considerable discussion of the present water supply," said Mr. Barrett, "has been occasioned by some reference in the newspapers to the possible necessity of treating the water in order to render it satisfactory to the consumers. As this is a question of vital interest to the people of Lowell, it may be well to make plain the position of this department in regard thereto. Before stating our intentions, however, a brief outline of past and present conditions will perhaps enable the citizens to better appreciate the problem to be solved."

The Original Supply

The original supply, built in 1870, was from a filter gallery in the bank of the Merrimack river, a short distance above the Pawtucket dam. This supply proving insufficient, a small filter was constructed in 1876, but likewise soon proved inadequate, and water was taken direct from the river in varying quantities from 1879 to 1896. During 1890 and 1891 severe typhoid epidemics made apparent the need of better water, and the development of a ground-water supply was undertaken. In 1893—the Cook wells, so-called—in the valley of River Meadow brook were put in service, yielding about 3,000,000 gallons daily. In 1894 another series of wells in the same valley, known as the hydraulic wells—were driven, and these, in combination with the Cook wells, yielded slightly less than five million gallons. As the consumption in 1893 had increased to 7,000,000 gallons per day, it was necessary in this year to draw 34 per cent of the total quantity used from the river, and in order to avoid a continuation of such use of river water, to further increase the supply of ground water. Accordingly the development of the system of boulevard wells was undertaken in 1895, and an amount of water obtained which, in combination with the Cook system, was sufficient to supply the city without the use of river water.

State Board Investigates

The city having apparently solved the problem of obtaining a sufficient supply of ground water has, however, soon confronted by the gradually decreasing quality of these supplies. In 1895 the state board of health had called attention to the rapid increase of ammonias and iron in the Cook well supply. In 1898 complaints of the corrosive action of this water on metals and of lead poisoning due to its effect on lead service pipes became pronounced. The state board of health accordingly undertook a special investigation, the results of which are described in the 1898 report of this board. In a letter dated June 29, 1899, to the Lowell water board, the state authorities advised that the action on lead is due to carbonic acid in the water, and that the Cook well water contains a large amount of this acid. In another supply in the state. In a letter of communication, dated September 28, 1899, the state board calls attention to the fact that, since its first letter, 33 new cases of lead poisoning, many of them severe, had been reported.

The letter reads: "Nowhere else in the state do we find a public water supply acting so rapidly upon lead pipe, and with such pernicious results; and we advise that measures be taken without further delay to prevent the continued use for drinking and cooking of this water drawn through lead pipe." The communication ends as follows: "To guard against lead poisoning to an appalling extent in the city of Lowell, two courses appear to be warranted. One is to remove the lead service pipes through which the water from the Cook and hydraulic wells is drawn for drinking and cooking, and the other is to cease using the Cook and hydraulic well water and extend the boulevard system to supply the whole city. The public health requires that one or the other remedy be supplied as soon as possible."

Developing Boulevard Wells

With the use of the Cook well system thus condemned, it became necessary to further develop the boulevard wells, and in 1900-1901, 177 additional wells were driven, and such a supply obtained that in 1902 and 1903 no water was drawn from the Cook system. With continued use, however, the amount of water obtainable from the boulevard wells rapidly lessened, and it has been necessary in each year since 1903 to draw from the Cook well supply for short periods—despite the advice of the state board—the amounts so taken varying from 3.2 per cent in 1904 to 19.4 per cent of the total consumption in 1911. In this latter year, in an endeavor to increase the amount obtainable 118 more wells were driven at the boulevard and at the present time 450 wells are available for use in the city. With this development the amount of water obtainable will not be sufficient to supply the city during the coming summer.

Ground is Overworked

I have been advised that the falling out in the capacity of the wells at the boulevard is due to deposits of organic matter and iron in the underlying ground surrounding the wells, and in the well points, and that this condition is the result of overworking the ground intervening between the wells and the river.

It appears evident, as is indicated by the variation in the temperature of the water which rises and falls with the temperature of the river water, that the greater portion of the supply drawn from the wells comes from the river through the ground. With the gradually increasing draft, this intervening ground is being overworked, and as a result of this overworking, the amount of iron in the water is gradually increasing. This increase is well indicated by the reports in the state board of health, and while in 1896 the iron in the water reported to have equalled .0098 parts per 100,000, an increase of thirty times had occurred in 1911, raising it to .2975 parts per 100,000. The results of this iron in the boulevard water are known to every consumer in the city, and need no comment here. The water is not suitable for laundry use, and after any disturbance in the pipe system, the loosening of the accumulated deposits renders it dirty and disagreeable in appearance. The expense to the department in cleaning out services and meters which have been stopped up by these deposits is large, amounting to at least $4000 annually.

The Summing Up

Here, then, is the situation: A city with two ground water supplies, one condemned because of its action on lead pipes, and the other insufficient in quantity and containing so much iron as to make it unsuitable for municipal supply. Something must be done at once, and the question is to determine the best and cheapest method of improving existing conditions.

I am advised that both supplies can be treated at small expense so as to render them entirely acceptable, this to be accomplished by reducing the carbonic acid in the Cook well water so as to prevent action on lead and aerating and filtering at low cost the boulevard water so as to remove the iron. Obviously, if this is true, and by such treatments these supplies in which a large amount of money has been expended can be made in every way fit for the continued use of the city, a most valuable and necessary result will have been obtained.

It is proposed, therefore, to install small experimental plants at both the Cook and boulevard stations to try out the proposed methods, cooperating with the state authorities, who will make the necessary analysis to determine the success of the work done. In this way, all risk of failure will be eliminated, and the information required for the construction of the works for the treatment of the entire supply will be obtained. By effecting the necessary improvements in the Cook and boulevard supplies, so that both supplies can be used, sufficient water for the city for some time will be made available. If this cannot be done, some other method of obtaining a suitable water supply must be developed, and the expense will, without doubt, be greater than that necessary for the improvement of the present supplies.

DELAYING THE TARIFF

The announcement that the republicans of the senate at Washington are going to concentrate all their energies in an effort to delay, if not defeat, the proposed tariff, does not reflect much credit on their sense of public responsibility. By proposing amendments to every schedule, calling for frequent roll calls, and all other filibustering methods of delay, they will give an exhibition of childish stubbornness which cannot be considered either wise or timely by their warmest supporters. The method in itself is a remnant of discarded and condemned legislative practices, but when those who use it have no hope of making it effective, it will serve only to defeat its own purpose.

Tariff revision must come and will come, whether the republicans of the senate like it or not, and the complaints of its opponents, if sincere, call for an opposition based on higher principles than party pique. The republicans had their chance to do what the democrats are now doing, but they were primarily responsible for the high protection and, they failed when brought face to face with the evil results of that protection. The people who supported the democratic party do not expect the republicans to favor the present tariff revision, but they do expect them, and not unreasonably, to be as open in their opposition as the democrats are in their support of the measure. Party action which would simply retard the passage of the bill without any constructive policy, deserves unreserved condemnation.

Whatever the method employed, anything which delays the tariff bill cannot serve the best interests of the country at the present time. There is a certain amount of business uncertainty, and this will continue until the new legislation is passed and the general business of the country becomes adjusted to the new conditions. Tariff revision is a foregone conclusion, and the sooner it comes the better. If the republican senators are sincere in desiring changes, they cannot hope to help their cause much by hampering the passage of the bill by filibustering methods.

NORTH AMERICAN CIVIC LEAGUE

The North American Civic League, which is to confer with the school board this evening, has done splendid work among the foreigners of other cities, and it is to be hoped that they will be given the opportunity of doing a like amount of good in Lowell. They do not ask for financial aid or any very important concessions, and their main request is permission to use one or two of the school buildings as a means to create the desire among the foreign elements of the city for an education in American customs and principles. The press and public have long counseled this course of procedure for immigrants, and the North American Civic League offers the means by which it may be accomplished.

This work of uplift has long been in force in other cities, and the results have more than justified the attempt. In Boston and Lawrence, for instance, the league has created a new spirit of active patriotism among those whom it is meant to benefit. The lessons have been made attractive, and lectures are frequently given on subjects which are of interest to old as well as young, with the result that large audiences have been attracted and a club spirit created. Lessons are given in American history, and classes are prepared for naturalization. When they are ready for the final processes of taking out their papers of citizenship, the affair is surrounded with dignity and sufficient ceremony to remind the immigrants that becoming an American citizen is no light honor. The value of such an elevating influence on foreign peoples may readily be understood, and the local field that awaits the activity of the league is large.

The North American Civic League is not the only influence which requests the use of schoolhouses for the purpose of educating and amusing some branches of our people. The movement is country-wide, and is being adopted very generally. It is to be understood, of course, that great care will have to be exercised with regard to the school furnishings, but this is not an unsurmountable obstacle. The need for the work of the league is pressing. They have already justified their existence in other cities. The school board should grant their request.

IN SAN DIEGO

Emma Goldman, the apostle of anarchy and extreme socialism, and Ben Reitmann, a gentleman of like reputation, appeared in San Diego a year ago, after having attracted more or less unenviable interest throughout the west by their violent and seditious teachings, and they received a reception that was more energetic than cordial. Reitmann was tarred and feathered and rushed out of the city. Whether their memories are poor, or hoping for a change in sentiment, or for some other reason, they made a return trip a few days ago. This time they were received by the authorities and taken in a police patrol to the city boundaries, where they were permitted to depart, after having promised not to attempt again to speak in San Diego.

The San Diego method somehow does not seem quite American, but it has its undoubted advantages. In the case of pestilence or epidemic we do not wait for the disease to break out before applying remedies. We pride ourselves on the efficacy of the preventive measures prescribed by our boards of health. But in the case of dangerous moral and mental diseases we too often wait until harm is done before applying the remedy. The lawless declarations of such undesirable as the Goldman-Reitmann combination are of incalculable danger, and do serious damage to weak and indomitable natures. They are not liable to do much damage in San Diego.

STREET WORK

The mayor is to be commended in urging the speedy completion of the unfinished work of the street department, particularly the paving of Bridge street and the remainder of the work on the Lawrence street sewer. There is nothing more aggravating to the people of any section than the condition of affairs which unfinished street work entails. The comfort and convenience of the public calls for as high a rate of speed as is compatible with good work. If such work is not done early in the year, it is pretty sure to drag later on when weather conditions are not as favorable as at the present time. Last year the paving of Church street was being done at a time when the cold seriously interfered with the work. Delay, therefore, is poor policy, regardless of who is responsible therefor.

CHEER UP

If you are despondent because the sun refuses to shine, if you are a peace advocate and deplore the anti-Japanese agitation, if you are against tariff revision and believe it will ruin the industries of the country, if you are worried over the bill for your wife's Bulgarian uniform, or if you are gloomy on general principles—cheer up. There's joy in store for you. The bill boards proclaim that the circus is coming to town, and whether you are seven or seventy, the news will be an antidote for most of the wounds of the flesh and the spirit. In the midst of turmoil the circus has a charmed existence. Not even the neclat of the gods was sweeter than the prospect of peanuts and pink lemonade—in the proper atmosphere.

SHOOTING AFFAIRS

The number of recent shooting affairs in this section of the country has been enormous. One can scarcely take up a paper that does not relate a harrowing tale of murder or suicide, accomplished by a revolver in the hands of one crazed by jealousy or drink. And yet when a firearms bill again comes before the legislature, it is liable to be defeated—as it has been in the past—because it would impose the terrible inconvenience of getting a license on the military companies. We are paying dearly in human life for the delicate feelings of our legislators. But the present state of affairs cannot continue indefinitely. Laws must eventually be made which will keep firearms away from those unfit to handle them.

Seen and Heard

A little baby pigeon with its feet entangled in some sort of string, presumably part of the nest, flew into Dr. Smith's office on the top floor of city hall a few days ago and landed in the lap of the agent of the board of health, Mr. Bates. The little pigeon came through the open window and was not the least scared. Mr. Bates, taken a little off his guard, but when the pigeon picked at the strings on its feet, the kind-hearted board of health agent knew there was good work to be done. In removing the strings from the pigeon's feet Mr. Bates found it necessary to use a knife, but not for a single second did the little bird play any mean tricks, and after having its feet released the pretty little visitor rested on the window sill before flying away to join its parents, or perhaps to its little brothers and sisters.

She was well dressed, and Jim, the mayor's private secretary, put on his best smile when the woman entered the mayor's office. "Where is the honorable mayor of our city?" inquired the woman. "I am sorry to hear that," said the mayor's out of his office today, on a private business matter. "Possibly you can attend to the little matter of business I wanted to see the mayor about." "I shall be glad to do so if I can," replied the reticent secretary. "Well," continued the woman, opening an elaborate handbag, "I have here a very fine brand of toilet soap. It is only ten cents a cake, and I am sure the mayor would be here he would be glad to buy it." Jim bought it.

Mickey and Pat had been at school together, but had drifted apart in after life. They met one day and the conversation turned to athletics. "Did you ever meet brother Dennis?" asked Pat. "He has just won a gold medal in a marathon race."

"That's fine," said Mike. "But did I ever tell you about my uncle at Bally-thous?" Pat agreed that he could not call him to mind. "Well," continued Mike, "he's got a gold medal for five miles and one for ten miles, a silver medal for swimming two cups for wrestling, and a lot of badges for boxing and cycling."

"He must be a great athlete, indeed," said Pat. "You're wrong," cried Mike. "He keeps a pawnshop."

There is a small boy in Fort Scott whose mother remarried when he was about five years old. Somehow, or other he could not get accustomed to the fact that he had a new father. One day a stranger came into the house and asked him his name. "It's Smith," replied the boy. "Well is Mrs. Smith in?" The boy thought it over. "Her name is Mrs. Brown, but mother's in."

The man asked: "Well, how does it happen her name is Brown and yours is Smith?" The boy, quick as a flash replied: "You see, it is like this: She married again and I didn't."

DO IT!

Do it! Keep on and leap on—get through it! Don't stop in the road or hop like a toad. From this side to that, or fly like a bat. With your head upside down tilt your brain rattles round. Of course—there are boulders! But you have strong shoulders—A tug and a stride, though, will move them aside—of Deep rut? To be sure. Toward the end, though, they're fewer. The path over there may appear far more facile. But you haven't the time to find out if it's prime. And the road to the right winds too far out of sight. It may prove much slicker and smoother and quicker. But you know your way's right, for the goal is in sight. So what if it's rough—isn't sureness enough? Join this down where 'twill stay, for you need it all day. What's got without effort is worth what it cost. The really gained things are easily lost. When a road is worn flat you can bet your best hat That it leads to a place where too many are at. When a way is all roughness and gutters and roughness, and humped and grumbled and wild—by over-grown—You can make up your mind There are new things to find. That you're getting at something that if you don't go on through it you'll live on to rue it. Somebody who isn't a quitter will do it. He'll laugh as he rambles his way through the brambles; He'll know that the big things in life must be won. He won't mind a stumble (it takes time to grumble to the fold, but he won't care a hang if he does bark his shin. He won't be defeated because he's over-heated. He'll keep on and keep on until he gets in.

—Herbert Kaufman.

The Division

Lynn Telegram: The offshoot of the once great republican party is a sharp thorn in the side of its parent, and the mother—fond and doing old woman—is vexed and torn with conflicting emotions as she views the erratic course which her progeny is taking. With outstretched arms—to carry the metaphor along—she is beseeching the erring youngster to return to the fold, but the youngster, self sufficient in his new born glory, refuses to return and continues to make his own way. And it must be conceded, so far the way has proven quite successful. The progressive infant has reached the long trouser age and believes itself old enough, wise enough, to stand on the corners of the political highways and bellow forth in a Teddious voice, "Behold, I am becoming greater than those who gave me birth."

New Lawrence Spirit

Lawrence American: The day has arrived in Lawrence when some of its leading citizens no longer fear the threats of befouling their character or despoiling their homes because they may desire to perform a civic duty as they see it. The recent I. W. W. lawlessness has stirred local citizens to "take the bit in their teeth" and henceforth, whenever occasion warrants it, the fair name of this city will be upheld, in season and out of season, in courts of law and out of them, to the end that the community will be a better, cleaner, safer, more inviting place to live in.

The Franking Privilege

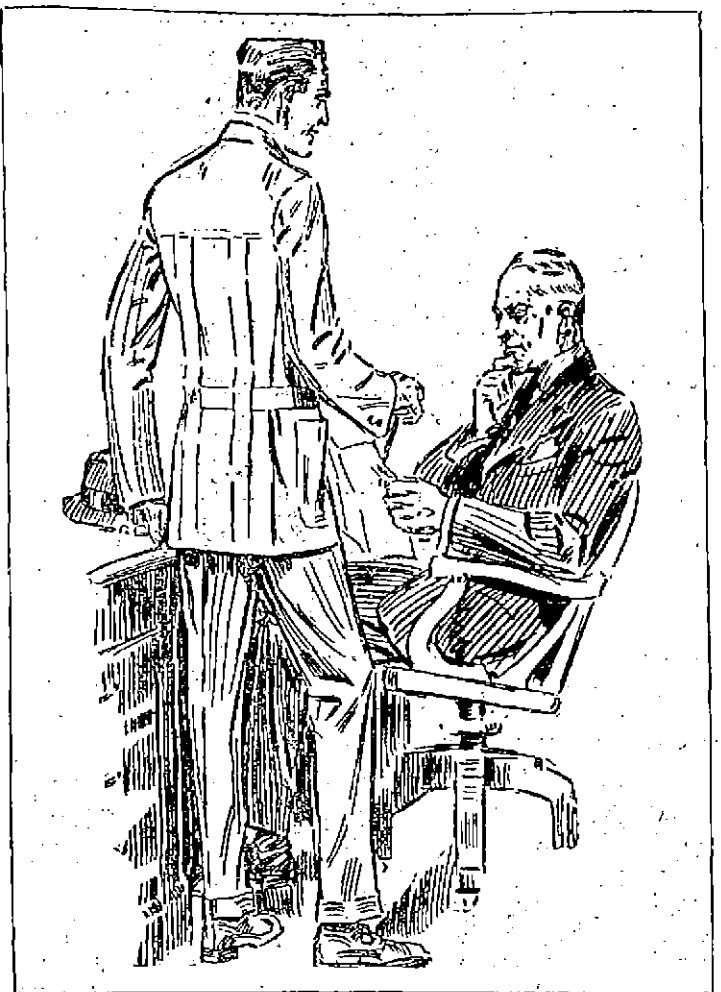

New Bedford Mercury: Postmaster Burleigh is being urged to regulate the franking privilege abuse by letting each government department pay for its mailing service. Under present arrangements the postoffice department is charged with the mailing bills of nine other departments. If this plan is carried out it is believed that the saving will be more than one of book-keeping charges for the postoffice department, inasmuch as it is expected the departments may be reluctant to make an extravagant showing.

The Flag Law

Lynn Item: Every nation is more or less jealous of the display of the ensigns of other powers, but generally the presence of foreign flags is not so common as to cause offense. The use of the red flag of socialism and anarchy was the cause of the opposition that has culminated in prohibitive laws. The display of these offensive colors has aroused a sentiment that is dangerous, and the laws against them, before a united front that will tolerate its excesses no longer.

Milk Inspection

Brookton Times: It is well that dairies supplying the milk consumers of Brookton are to be inspected. Epidemics of tonsillitis, scarlet fever, diphtheria and typhoid in surrounding towns make such a step imperative, even though there is no indication that any of the milk being supplied to this city is contaminated. There has been considerable disease in other localities where the milk is suspected, it is proved, the agent of contagion, and it is reasonable to suppose there would have been less had the matter of dairy inspection been attended to more carefully. The public need not be alarmed at the supposed danger, but may rather consider itself fortunate that the authorities have not waited for actual investigation and constant watchfulness such as is expected of the local authorities. Brookton should escape the misfortune experienced by Canton, Easton and other places that are fighting either great or small epidemics.

AUTOMOBILE SPEED LIMIT

Senate Kills Twenty-five Mile an Hour Measure

New Law Requires Reports of All Accidents

Without debate the senate yesterday afternoon killed the house bill to limit automobiles to a speed of 25 miles an hour.
Report All Accidents
An addition to the motor law went into effect yesterday, that every driver of motor vehicles should be careful to remember, for it provides that all accidents must be reported to the highway commission. As there is no exception made to any particular style of vehicle, it includes motorcycles as well as automobiles. The law reads: Section 1. Every operator of a motor vehicle which for any reason is involved in an accident in which any person or property is injured, shall forthwith report the same to the Massachusetts highway commission. Section 2. For any violation of the provisions of this act said commission may revoke or suspend the license of the operator.

Highway Safety League
The new law was presented before the committee on roads and bridges for a hearing and it got a favorable report. After that it had, smooth sailing and it was signed by Gov. Foss a month ago. The Highway Safety League was sponsor for it.

It will be interesting to watch how it works out, for there are many accidents which are never heard of by the highway commission. The law, if it is lived up to, will mean a lot of extra work for the motor department of the commission, due to the fact that the report need not be very definite. As no exemption is made of slight accidents where the injury to property is slight, for example, such as a bent fender, a scraping of paint, or some minor damage, or brushing a person a few inches—no discretion being allowed the motorist under the law—it means that to be on the safe side a report must be made.

However, the law does not require a complete, detailed report of what happened. In the original bill it said "with a full account thereof," but this phrase was struck out because there was some belief that it might be unconstitutional to furnish information against one's self. There is a belief by some now that the law would not stand a test in the courts.

Drivers of commercial vehicles in cities throughout the state, where traffic is heavy, should be very careful to obey the law, for if they ignore it and lose their licenses to drive, it will mean the loss of their earning power.

Another Lot of Trust Pianos Sent in for Sacrifice!

The recent financial stringency, drove many fine pianos to our sacrifice floor. A man can get along without his high-class piano better than almost anything else in his house. During these "tight-money" times we have sold pianos for prices so low that it seemed to us that people could not believe our sacrifice quotations. Some of our prices do seem ridiculous, but sell we must and it's good hard cash that's wanted by the sellers—it's the seller's tough luck that makes the buyer's good luck. INTERESTING TOMBSTONE LEGENDS

Samples of the Inscriptions Used Years Ago Bear Warnings of Uncertainties of Death

While going through St. Patrick's cemetery, the writer's curiosity was aroused relative to the age of some of the tomb stones in this city of the dead, and consequently a trip through the main avenues was undertaken. The cemetery was visited in its four corners, and the reporter was given a very good opportunity for contemplation when some of the inscriptions on the tomb stones were read.

While on his journey through the cemetery he met the superintendent, Mr. Dennis Meagher, who has been in charge of the "sleeping city" for the past fifteen years. What Mr. Meagher does not know about the place is not worth knowing. He is a capable and efficient superintendent, and the right man in the right place.

He said the average burials in St. Patrick's cemetery during the months of April and May in 1912 were five or six each day, while during the same months this year there have been about six burials each day. At the present rate of burials, according to the superintendent it may serve the community for about 15 years. The small lots are nearly all sold out, while a limited number of large lots are going rapidly.

At the present time there is much work being done on the grounds. Six men are constantly on the job some in grading the avenues and places for new lots, while others cut the grass on the lots which are in charge of the superintendent.

A tract of land consisting of about two acres, formerly covered with pretty trees is being cleared. The trees were cut down and uprooted, and now the place is being brought to a level. It is a down-grade piece of land with a decline of about thirteen feet. It will soon be divided into lots and sold.

While walking along one of the avenues yesterday Mr. Meagher met a couple of ladies who complained of the roughness of the road. "Well," he replied you know they tell us it is a hard road to heaven, and this one here is to remind us of the road we will travel after death." He then explained that the said avenue was graded last year and is not yet finished. He told them his men have now so much work on hand they cannot attend to every little detail.

Mr. Meagher said it is a part of his job to keep posted as to the location of different graves, and it is safe to say he does honor to his position in this respect for he can tell where most lots are without the aid of his records.

Foundations are being laid on several lots for large monuments, and stone cutters are busy installing large and costly monuments on the lots of the late Assistant Chief Norton, of the fire department, and of the Foye family.

The first lot sold in St. Patrick's cemetery was in 1845, but some of the tomb stones indicate that burials on this particular site were made long before that year. While going over to what is known as "yard one," where the oldest graves are, the writer's attention was attracted to the O. M. I. lot, where the following inscriptions can be seen: Rev. J. M. McGrath, O. M. I., Jan. 12, 1895; Rev. P. R. Brady, O. M. I., Dec. 30, 1890; Rev. W. D. Joyce, O. M. I., Feb. 8, 1901; Rev. D. O'Riordan, O. M. I., Feb. 20, 1897; Rev. A. Trudeau, O. M. I., Nov. 16, 1885; Rev. C. Phaneuf, O. M. I., April 19, 1872.

The oldest grave in "yard one" is that bearing the inscription, "John Stark, Mar. 8, 1832." Then comes "Cornelius Bartley, Nov. 2, 1832." On the tombstone can be seen the following poem:

Come, Holy Ghost, Creator come.
From thy bright heavenly throne;
Come take possession of our souls,
And make them all thine own.

Other inscriptions of interest are as follows: Annie McGuire, wife of Chas. Tunnally, Sept. 19, 1838.

Friends and physicians could not save our mortal bodies from the grave. Neither can the grave confine us here. When Christ shall call us to appear.

A few other inscriptions are cited below:

John Gray, a native of the parish of Cloon, County Leitrim, Ireland, died Sept. 17, 1845. Aged 25.

Here to the bosom, mother earth, Take back in peace what thou hast given. And all that is of heavenly birth, O God, in peace recall to heaven.

Hannah M. Carroll, Nov. 9, 1865.

I left this world in blooming years, And all my friends in grief and tears. Repent, therefore, while you have time, For I was taken in my prime.

Mary Daly, wife of Thomas Daly, Jan. 20, 1841.

Passing stranger call this not A place of fear and gloom; I love to wander on this spot. It is my mother's tomb.

Mary Devine, Feb. 21, 1843.

In sickness sore long time I bore, By physicians' advice in vain. Till Christ the chief sent his relief, Releasing me from pain.

Ellen M. daughter of Charles M. and Mary Short, Aug. 31, 1841.

Thine happy babe supremely blest, By glorious and eternal rest. With angel choir in heavenly lays, Thou'll sing forever thy Maker's praise.

James Carr, Sept. 11, 1845.

All you who come to my tomb to see When you read this pray think of me;

Repent in time; make no delay; In my bloom was snatched away.

Margaret G. Green, Feb. 11, 1841.

Friends weep not in sorrow of spirit, But joy that my time is o'er; I go the good part to inherit Where sorrow and sin are no more.

Philip Farley, May 16, 1840.

Stop, poor wanderers, come, make a pause Do you regard heaven's lane? If not, my friends, due warning take, A voice from the grave says such is fate.

Thy pains and sorrows all are past, And the peaceful rest of heaven is thine at last.

Mary Flynn, Sept. 24, 1845.

Remember, man, as you pass by, As you are now so once was I. As I am now so you shall be. So think of God and pray for me.

Elizabeth Gannon, Sept. 1, 1842.

Man on length of days presuming Who on paths of pleasure tread: View him late in beauty blooming, Numbered now among the dead.

There are numerous other poetic legends quite interesting, and a walk through the graveyard is well worth taking. It reminds one of what he is, and what he shall be, and also brings back to memory the departed ones who all are too soon forgotten. It was the custom about fifty years ago to have poetical lines on tombstones. The old English cemetery on Gorkham street has a great variety of such rhymes. It appears that the monumental workers had a collection of such rhymes, and allowed the parties who ordered the monument to select the verses. Many of these are now covered with grass in the old cemetery as the stones were in many cases but small, and the space for lettering was necessarily near the bottom. On the tombstones of today there is less sentiment, merely the name of the deceased, the date of death and the age.

79 HOUSES WERE BURNED

The Jewish Theological School Wrecked

PRESSBURG, Hungary, May 23.—In this great fire which occurred here on May 21 the Jewish theological school building was destroyed but the celebrated and valuable library connected with it was saved.

Altogether 79 houses were burned and the loss is estimated at $200,000.

DECORATION DAY

May 30 is a day devoted to the memory of our honored dead, and in memory and out of respect to them everybody should try and make a good appearance on that day. If you are clothed with one of our stylishly made suits for men or women you will surely be able to stand inspection in this or any other city. Hence we ask you to call at our store and see what we have in store for you both in price and quality. The stock is complete, and we have got just the style that will please you, and with our credit system there is no reasonable excuse for not being well dressed on Memorial Day. We will not attempt to quote prices but simply say, if you want the best at lowest prices, the best place in the city to trade is here.

SENATOR O'GORMAN'S PRETTY DAUGHTER ONE OF SEASON'S BRIDES

NEW YORK, May 23.—One of the invited was President Wilson and his late spring brides whose wedding announcement created wide interest was Miss Dolorita O'Gorman, daughter of United States Senator James A. O'Gorman. Hundreds of invitations were sent out for her marriage to John Anthony Maher on May 24 at the chapel of the Loyola school. Among those family, with whom the O'Gormans are very friendly, Miss Alice O'Gorman was selected as her sister's only attendant. Daniel M. McMahon was chosen as best man. Mr. Maher is the younger son of Edward A. Maher, one of the time mayor of Albany, N. Y.

FUTURE MARRIAGE

A pretty marriage will be performed on June 12, when two popular young people of this city, Mr. Oscar J. Lajeunesse, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lajeunesse of 123 Ennell street, and Miss Eva M. Lelacheur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lelacheur of 123 Mt. Hope street, will be united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony will be performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at seven o'clock at St. Joseph's church. Following the ceremony an informal reception will be held at the Lelacheur home.

Miss Lelacheur was tendered a linen shower last night at the home of her parents. The attendance was very large and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The affair was prepared under the able direction of Misses Rita Quinn, Evelyn and Rachel Richards and Laura Chouinard.

The young hostess was presented several costly pieces of linen and cut glass and a varied entertainment program was rendered, those taking part being Misses Orilla, Robertina and Irene Lajeunesse, Helen Grandchamp, Rose Goldman, Laura Chouinard, Catherine Wholey and Rita Quinn. A dainty luncheon was enjoyed and the party broke up at a seasonable hour, all extending their best wishes to the future bride.

Motor Boat Club

At a recent meeting of the Pawtucket Motor Boat club it was voted to change the name to Lowell Motor Boat club. On May 21st the regular bi-monthly meeting was held and considerable business was brought up which included important improvements to the club house.

A committee has been appointed to arrange for a regatta of carnival to be held in the afternoon of July 4th. Members of the club and committee are all working hard to get up an interesting program of events and it is proposed to make this regatta far surpass those of previous years.

The following have already announced that they would donate prizes: Harry Pitts, J. H. Gamble, James H. Walker and T. J. McDonald.

The club is now composed of nearly a hundred members with about forty boats on the register and more being added each week.

MR. BROWN PERTURBED

Says He is Not Delaying Street Work

Commissioner Brown takes exception to certain statements made relative to requisitions for street oils being held up. Commissioner Donnelly having claimed to the mayor that this requisition for oil for macadamizing had been held up and that no attempt had been made to get the oil. Until the oil arrives there was no need of attempting to macadamize streets.

Yesterday in the presence of the city hall reporters, he asked Purchasing Agent Foye when the requisitions were received for the oil, and Mr. Foye said they were received last Saturday. "There you go," said George H., "these requisitions should have been sent in two months ago."

"What did you do when you received the requisitions?" asked Mr. Brown. "I wrote letters to the oil people mentioned in the requisitions, asking them to state their prices and asked them to answer by return mail," said Mr. Foye.

Mr. Brown allows that there is no reason why the work of macadamizing streets should be held up awaiting the arrival of oil.

LOWELL GREEKS

Will Be Allowed to Return From Greece When Peace Has Been Fully Restored

A great many Greeks in this city, storekeepers and others, have been alarmed by a report which reached here within the last twenty-four hours to the effect that the Greeks who left this country to participate in the war against the Turks would not be allowed to return; at least those of them under 40 years of age, as the Greek government would use them for an army of occupation to protect her newly acquired territories.

Asked if he had heard of the very drastic order of the old home government, George Courcoules, one of the most enterprising of the many enterprising Greek citizens of Lowell, said: "There is no truth in that at all. The government has put a temporary stop to emigration from the mother country, but that will last only until such time as peace has been declared and it looks as if that time were near at hand. Greece does not need any new army of occupation. She has a standing army of 250,000 soldiers at the present time and that is enough. All the Greeks who went from Lowell will return and more Greeks will come with them."

Patterson Rubber Company

The machinery in the factory of the Patterson Rubber company was turned over yesterday in its initial tryout. Practically everything at the plant is in readiness for operation and the manufacturing activity, say the officials, will begin soon.

Cars Collided

The slippery rail caused by the rain yesterday was responsible for a small collision on Central street when an inward bound electric car could not be halted and it bumped into a car that was stopped opposite Middle street. The car was going slowly and no damage was done.

FUNERALS

GILL.—The funeral of Mrs. Louis Gill took place yesterday from her home, 25 Coolidge street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at 8 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. I., officiating. The bearers were Louis Gill, Phyllis Lamarche, Michel Dumont, Joseph Martin, Alcide Gill and Joseph Vignault. The choir was under the direction of Telephone Male, Mrs. Joseph A. Bernard presiding at the organ. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read at the grave by Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

DEMERS.—The funeral of Girard Arthur Demers took place yesterday afternoon. Service was held at St. Louis church, Rev. R. A. Fortier officiating. The bearers were Frank Mercier, Francois Filiatrault, Ernest Pettit, Armand Gauthier, Edouard Lacasse and Arthur Levesque. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. Undertaker Joseph Albert in charge.

THOSE BACHELOR GIRLS

Will Delight Lowell People With Grand Musical Revue Friday Night in Associate—New Features

Another and elaborate musical revue has been arranged by the talented Bachelor girls and will be presented in Associate hall tomorrow evening. The music will be furnished by Miner's famous orchestra with Mr. Charles Miner as director. Dancing will follow the concert and entertainment.

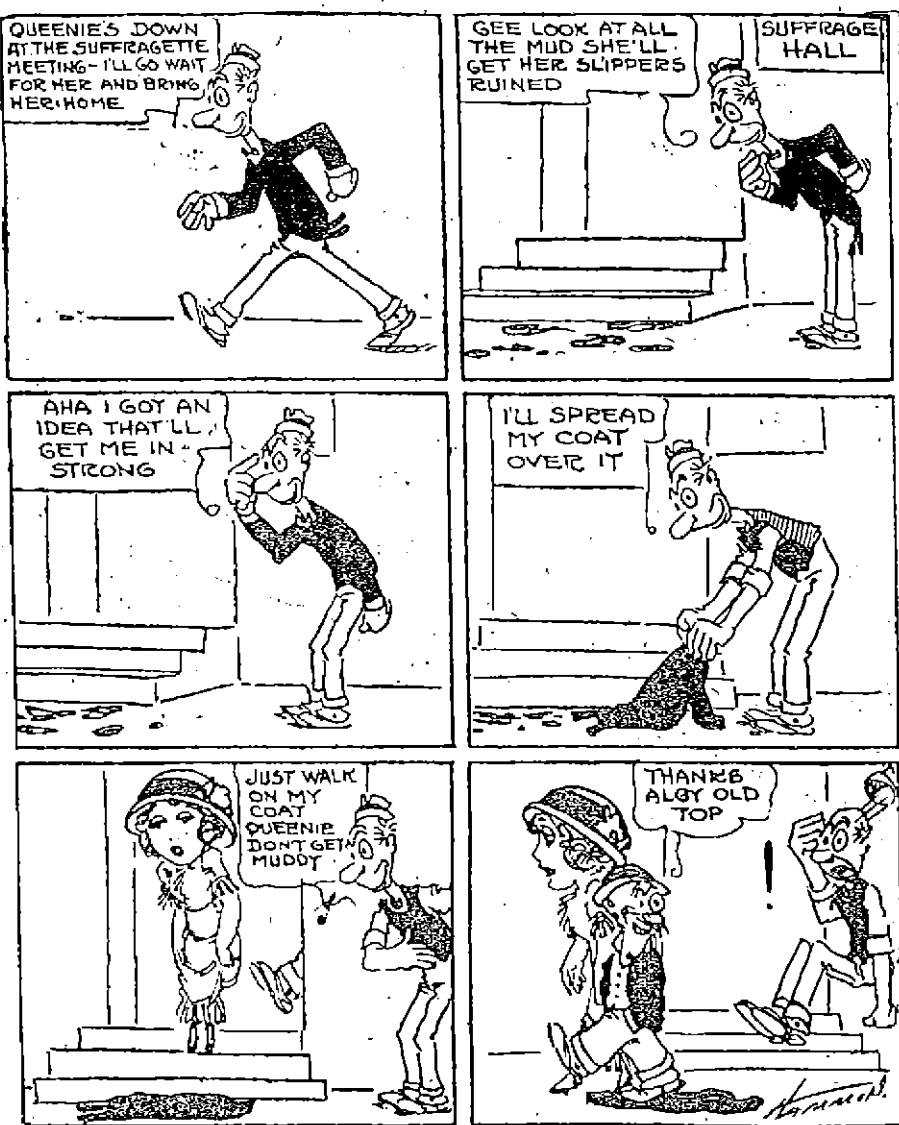

The program of the affair contains many new song hits, never before heard in this city, besides several excellent specialty singing and dancing numbers by the girls. The costumes are very well selected and, are a departure from the custom in song revues on former occasions. The Bachelors are rated highly among Lowell's most popular organizations and they are of the best entertainers as is well known to all.

HONEYMOON TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arton of Nashua, N. H., enjoyed a part of their honeymoon as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Girard of 710 Merrimack street, this city Wednesday. They returned to their home in the New Hampshire city last night.

The young couple were married Tuesday at St. Louis de Gonzague's church, Nashua, by Rt. Rev. J. B. V. Millette, pastor of the said church. Immediately after the ceremony they left on a brief wedding tour, during which they visited relatives and friends in Sanford, Me., Newmarket, N. H., and Lowell. While in Lowell, where they count a host of friends, the happy couple were entertained and presented numerous costly gifts.

The Sir Walter Raleigh Stunt Went Wrong

THREE KILLED, NINE HURT

Big Gun Exploded at Fort Moultrie

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 23.—Three soldiers were killed and nine or more seriously injured late last night at Fort Moultrie, when the breech blew off a 3-inch gun, which was being used for night target practice. Privates Baxter, Chastensen and Dalton were killed, the former two being cut in two and dying instantly. Capt. Hanna, who was standing with several other officers of the coast artillery, was badly wounded by a fragment from the exploded cannon. Hospital Steward Lamar was injured in the right arm and hand. One account stated that the tragedy occurred at Battery Bingham, and another that it occurred at Battery Lord. It was stated by a resident of Sullivan's Island that several officers were reported wounded. He said that it was difficult to learn just how many were wounded when the fragments of the cannon scattered among the soldiers close by. It was reported that the breech had not been properly closed after the insertion of a cartridge, and that when the cap was exploded the breech was thrown back with terrific force. The wounded men were rushed to the Post hospital, where immediate attention was given them. Several Charleston physicians hurried to the fort and assisted in taking care of the victims. Fort Moultrie is the headquarters of the Charleston division of the South Atlantic coast artillery district, with Maj. A. G. Jenkins, who resides at Fort Moultrie, in command. Four companies of coast artillery, the 18th, 19th, 14th and 15th, are stationed there, although some of the soldiers garrison the nearby Fort Sumter. The headquarters officers, in addition to Maj. Jenkins, are 1st-Lieut. E. K. Smith, adjutant; Capt. J. W. C. Abbott, quartermaster; 2nd-Lieut. R. S. Dodson, artillery engineer and ordnance officer. The first artillery band is also stationed at Fort Moultrie. The officers of the four companies are: 18th, Captain, G. B. Hanna; 1st-Lieutenant, T. A. Terry; second Lieutenant, J. E. Heller; 19th—Captain, W. Patterson; 1st-Lieutenant, J. K. Crain; second Lieutenant, J. G. Boston; 14th—Captain, H. B. Clark; second Lieutenant, H. A. Dagg; 15th—Captain F. L. Dangler; second Lieutenant, J. L. Sinclair. There are about 500 enlisted men in the four companies of coast artillery. Most of them are at Fort Moultrie.

NO MORE CONSTIPATION

It's Me for Olive Tablets!

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and Calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing laxative. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normal. They never force them to unnatural action. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take that children do not regard them as "medicine" at all. If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're perfectly harmless. Thousands take one every night just to keep right. Try them. "Every little Olive Tablet" has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O.

BUTLER VETS

Plan to Have a Big League Muster Here in Month of August—Will Attend Other Musters. The men connected with the General Butler Veteran Firemen's association are planning to raise the sum necessary to hold a big league muster at Lowell in August. It plans are carried out successfully, it is believed there will be 50 companies that will come to this city, and about 25,000 visitors. At the last meeting of the association it was decided to attend the firemen's muster at Indian Orchard on June 14, and also to be present at the big Charlestown muster on Bunker Hill day, June 17.

GIRL TRIES TO END LIFE

Found in Lonely Spot on Edge of Woods

WORCESTER, May 23.—Evelyn Gerry, aged 15, of Shrewsbury, lies at City hospital suffering from a bullet wound that she says was self-inflicted last night in a suicidal intent, and which is likely to prove fatal. The girl was found at a lonely spot on the edge of the woods on Lincoln street at 3.03 last night. Beside her lay a revolver with one chamber empty. The bullet entered the abdomen and lodged in the muscles of the back. Although suffering great pain, Miss Gerry did not collapse nor lose consciousness. Her first request to Police Surgeon H. J. Shanahan when he arrived in the police ambulance was that her mother and her stepfather should be notified. She told the surgeon and the police officers she attempted suicide because she and her mother could not agree. The girl said her mother and she had trouble last night and that she procured the revolver and went away from the house with the intention of killing herself.

Horatio Keating is her stepfather. The girl was found by Daniel Erickson and Edwin Plumquist, grocery delivery men, who notified police headquarters. Miss Gerry was rushed to City hospital and was at once placed on the operating table. Positive statements as to the probable outcome of the wound could not be given prior to this examination and treatment, but Police Surgeon Shanahan said her chances of recovery are slight because of the danger of peritonitis.

WHITE HOUSE CAR BUSY

Party Investigates the Slums

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Slumming in the automobile of the president of the United States almost has ceased to be a novelty and today Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, society woman, reformer and friend of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, for the second time in two days will conduct a party of investigators to the squalid section of the capital in a White House car.

In Mrs. Hopkins' party yesterday were Senator Hollis of New Hampshire, Mrs. Own, wife of the senator from Oklahoma and Mrs. Pomerene, wife of the senator from Ohio. The investigations are being conducted under the direction of the woman's section of the National Civic Federation. The investigators now are at work on legislation which they will press in congress looking to the elimination of all allies and narrow courts that at present disfigure certain sections of the capital.

UNCLE JOE COMES BACK

Former Speaker is at Washington

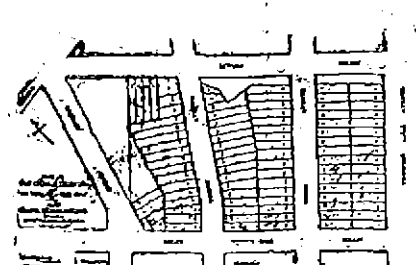

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Uncle Joe Cannon, former speaker of the house, is back in his old haunts as jaunty as ever, wearing the inevitable carnation in the lapel of his coat and with the same rakish tilt to the big black cigar that has made him famous. He is here to attend a meeting of the Lincoln Memorial hall commission in which both he and former Senator Culham of Illinois have retained membership after their retirement from public life with the incoming of the present congress. The former speaker, who is in great spirits, already has taken occasion to float over the troubles of his former colleague, Rep. Mann of Illinois, minority leader of the house. Mr. Mann was Mr. Cannon's floor lieutenant during all the time the former speaker wielded the gavel and earned the title of "czar."

No More Tariff Arguments

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Announcement that the finance committee will hear no more tariff arguments after Tuesday has brought from all parts of the country appeals for an extension of time. They will be disregarded, however, and all manufacturers who have inquired have been notified that they may file briefs up to the time the bill is reported to the senate. Corridors of the capital and the senate offices were thronged today with those who wished to be heard before the doors of the committee room opening this morning.

BOB EDESON IN HOSPITAL

Actor Being Treated for Blood Poisoning

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 23.—Robert Edeson, the actor, is being treated at a hospital here for blood poisoning. Edeson sustained an injury to his left leg at a local theatre Thursday night and blood poisoning developed. Physicians say today that his condition is so serious that an operation will be necessary if no improvement takes place.

Mrs. Edeson Also Ill NEW YORK, May 23.—Mrs. Robert Edeson, it was learned today, has been for some time in the Southampton, L. I., hospital suffering from a nervous breakdown. Physicians at the institution declined to discuss the case today other than to say her condition was not serious. Mrs. Edeson was formerly Miss Georgie Porter of Brookline, Mass.

1913. Machinery hall will be the largest structure on the grounds. It is well under-way, and its great iron structural work looks like the skeleton of some huge leviathan of the Tertiary period. The exposition seal is ready. From many competitive offerings the directors of the exposition selected a design by Alfred Lenz, the sculptor. The seal tells in symbolism the story of the United States opening the Panama canal to the world, and announces by the circular lettered inscription the celebration of that event through the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco in 1915. The dominating feature of the design,

CLEW TO YOUNG KRAMER

West Lynn Boy Missing Nine Months Believed to Be in Providence—Father There PROVIDENCE, May 23.—Israel Kramer of 73 Wyman street, West Lynn, who has been missing from his home for nine months, is believed to be in this city and his father, Samuel Kramer, is here trying to find him. Israel is 15 years old. He left home one morning for work and since then not a word as to his whereabouts has been received. His father has spent about $1200 in trying to find him and has offered a reward of $200 for his return. His mother has worried herself sick over his absence.

BOTH WORE MASKS AND CARRIED REVOLVERS

Were Caught After Chase by Lewiston Police—Will Be Arraigned in Court Today

LEWISTON, Me., May 23.—Charles J. Riley, aged 18, of 22 Howell street, Dorchester, and Frank Hodges of 28 Park street, this city, with masked faces and a big revolver held up the Mechanics Falls stage in Auburn yesterday morning after tampering with switches on the street railway line.

They are held by the police for arraignment in court today.

Riley, who first gave the name of Clarence Reynolds, ran away from his Boston home a few weeks ago, but sent back word to his widowed mother that he had found employment with the Hodges boy on a farm near Lewiston.

Mrs. Riley said Wednesday evening: Charles' head was full of romantic notions. He was not bad, but was always stirring, and he thought he could go out and conquer the world. About a year ago he ran away into Vermont and worked in a railroad shop two weeks. Returning, he gave back to his brothers and sisters $4 he had taken to start out with. He is a good student and with the right environment would make an able young man.

"It breaks my heart to hear that he has acted so, but I feel sure they will find no great harm in him and will send him back to me. He has a good home here with a hard working older brother, and we could get along splendidly if Charlie would set his mind to the serious things of life. I am not able to go down after the boy or I would start at once."

Riley and Hodges intercepted the stage running between Mechanics Falls and Auburn at Haskell's corner. The stage carried Edward Hackett and Percy Faunce. They were astounded when out from behind a stone wall stepped a youth, his face masked, who leveled a big revolver.

Instead of putting up his hands at the command, Hackett stepped out of the wagon and seized the possessor of the revolver, who proved to be Riley, and chastised him severely. Hodges, with his face also masked, took no active part.

Hackett returned to his wagon and drove off with Faunce, leaving the lads to their own devices. An electric car arrived at the scene a moment later from which the crew alighted and gave chase to the two boys, who were caught with little difficulty.

ESCAPES GUILLOTINE

Vallepi, Freed by Court at Carcassonne, France—Returned to Confess to Crime of 15 Years Ago

CARCASSONNE, France, May 23.—Miguel Vallepi, who recently returned here from the Argentine Republic and gave himself up to the police, declaring that he wished to go to the guillotine for the murder of a woman 15 years ago, was given his freedom yesterday.

Vallepi related his story in the assize court here, a jury and told of his struggle with his conscience, which finally led to his spiritual conversion and irresistibly impelled him to give up a prosperous position in Argentina to expiate his crime in France and satisfy the law. The jury without leaving the box acquitted him amid applause.

The crime caused a great sensation in France at the time and Vallepi, who was suspected of killing the woman for her money, disappeared. He was adjudged guilty by default and condemned to be guillotined.

Studebaker
"Yes Sir! Studebaker wagons are made to back up a reputation."
"I know, because wagons of every make come into my shop for repairs, and I have a chance to see how few are Studebakers."
That's the opinion of thousands of blacksmiths who know the quality of Studebaker wagons.
The owners never regretted that they bought Studebakers.
Tested materials, accurate workmanship insure a wagon unequalled for durability, and this careful selection of wood, iron, steel, paint and varnish has been a fixed rule with the Studebaker Company for sixty years. That is why a Studebaker wagon runs easiest and lasts longest. It is built on honor.
Whether you live in town or country, there is a Studebaker vehicle to fill your requirements for business or pleasure — and harness of every description made as carefully as are Studebaker vehicles.

ASSESSOR SEGEE IN CELL

BOSTON, May 23.—Samuel A. Segge, chairman of the Revere board of assessors, who is under indictment on forgery charges, was surrendered by one of his bondsmen, John Cazale of Revere, last night and locked in a cell in the Charles street jail.

Cazale was surety for $1500 of the $3000 bail. Segge was taken to the jail at 10 o'clock. After a conference with his attorney, Harry W. James, it was decided that it would be useless to attempt to get new bail until morning.

Cazale retired to his home in Revere as soon as the surrender had been effected, and denied himself to everyone except his attorney. He refused to explain why he had taken the action, and would neither deny nor affirm that he had been influenced by the rumors that Segge might default.

In a brief statement, given out after his client was locked up, Mr. James declared "it looked like an attempt to belittle Segge by making him spend a night in jail. I think that people politically opposed to him have been interfering."

Segge's surrender came directly on the heels of property transfer at the office of the registry of deeds of 10 Revere parcels of real estate to Cazale by Mrs. Ida McLeod, who in turn was deemed the property by the "Sarah Stanhood," whose name has figured in the Revere tax scandal.

The transfer of the 10 lots from Sarah Stanhood to Mrs. McLeod was in the shape of a quit claim deed executed Oct. 12, 1912, but not recorded until yesterday. The transfer to Cazale was made yesterday. Both were executed before Samuel A. Segge as justice of the peace.

At the special meeting of the board of assessors yesterday morning, the motion of Assessor William H. Colcord that a new audit of the books be made and warrants be issued to Tax Collector Arthur C. Pendergast, was taken under advisement.

Rumors of new developments in the scandal from the district attorney's office were rife when Inspector Silas P. Wolfe of police headquarters made a new examination of the Revere tax books, copied several entries and departed.

"LOVES UNITED STATES"

Letter From Former Ambassador Bryce

WASHINGTON, May 23.—James Bryce, formerly Ambassador of Great Britain, just before leaving American soil sent back from San Francisco a letter of appreciation and affection to the American people. The letter, made public today, was in reply to one from residents of Washington, expressing their regret at his leaving. It referred to his well known interest in the plans for the beautification of the National capital.

"I am glad to think that an Englishman who loves the United States and its people," the former envoy wrote, "is not debarred by an official position from taking in all your projects for the artistic development of the national capital an interest as keen as any that your own citizens could take."

Among the signers of the letter of regret and farewell to the Ambassador were Admiral Dewey, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, Gifford Pinchot, formerly chief forester, Thomas Nelson Page and more than a score of others prominent in local and official circles.

CORPUS CHRISTI

Changes in the Route of the Procession Which Will be Held Sunday to St. Louis' Parish

The pastor of St. Louis' church, Rev. J. N. Jacques, wishes to announce that changes have been made in the procession in honor of the feast of Corpus Christi which will be held next Sunday immediately after high mass.

It was announced in church last Sunday and in The Sun Monday that the route of the procession would be from the church into West Sixth st., Lakeview avenue, Fisher street, Alken avenue, Hildreth street, Ennell street, Victor street, Beaulieu street and West Sixth street as far as the church.

However, it has been decided to avoid the Alken avenue hill and accordingly the procession from Fisher street will shift into Essex street as far as Hildreth street, the rest of the route remaining as previously announced.

Solemn benediction will be held on the steps of Mr. J. A. Fillon's home in Hildreth street, and the residents of the streets included in the route of the procession are requested to decorate the exterior of their homes.

JUDGE MAY QUIT CASE

Delay in Shoe Case Evidence Responsible

BOSTON, May 23.—Judge Putnam, who with Judge Dodge and Brown is presiding at the trial of the federal suit which seeks the dissolution of the United Shoe Machinery company, told counsel yesterday that he would retire from the bench if the presenting of evidence continued to be delayed.

His remark came in the course of the introduction of a mass of documents in the form of agreements which the government was offering in connection with the taking over of concerns by the defendant company. There are already more than 10 exhibits, leases and agreements, before the court with the prospect of many more.

The procedure the government's attorneys had adopted involved the identification of each of these agreements and the reading of clauses deemed essential to the government's case. Judge Putnam raised the point that the method would require a great amount of time and might have been obviated. He suggested that this type of evidence should be brought before the court in another way, and after some discussion by counsel on both sides, it was decided that a witness should be called to testify as to each of the alleged agreements.

Emperor Thanks Pres. Wilson
WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Wilson today received the following cablegram from Emperor Yoshihito of Japan.

"Deeply touched by your kind message inquiring after my indisposition, I express my sincere thanks to yourself, government and the people of the United States."

"Enemy of Civilization"
DETROIT, May 23.—"The man who by word or deed creates fear between the United States and Japan is an enemy of civilization," declared James H. Franklin of Boston, secretary of the Foreign Mission society, in an address today before the Northern Baptist convention in session here.

Secretary Franklin discussing a recent tour he made in Japan, said the "Japanese people want no trouble with the United States unless the trouble is forced on them in defense of what they consider their national honor."

WINDOWS WERE SMASHED

Destructive Work by Unknown Man in Boston

BOSTON, May 23.—Some unknown person had a happy time about 3:45 o'clock this morning smashing costly plate glass windows in three stores in Hanover street, just below Washington street. A man in a lunchroom heard the noise of crashing glass at that time, and made an investigation, but failed to see anyone on the street.

Shortly after a patrolman of the Hanover street police station discovered that a plate glass window of a jewelry store at 125 Hanover street, on police division 2, conducted by S. Dreyers, had been smashed. The window was filled with watches of a cheap variety, but none had been stolen.

Walking along toward the station, the patrolman found that a window at the store of P. B. Brooks & Co., dealers in furniture, at 119 Hanover street, had been smashed, but apparently nothing was stolen.

The policeman again started for the police station to report the damage to Lieut. Gallivan, and when he reached the store of W. H. Jones & Co., wholesale liquor dealers, 139 Hanover street, he found that the glass of a large window there also had been smashed. A bottle of wine was stolen from this window.

The policeman by this time felt that it was possible a crazy person was about breaking glass in stores, and he ran to the station and reported the case.

Lieut. Gallivan ordered all the policemen on the streets to search for the window smasher. He also directed them to make a thorough investigation to ascertain if any other windows had been broken.

A report of the matter was immediately sent to police headquarters, and policemen all over the downtown section were warned to be on the watch for the window smasher. Men from the Fire and Police Notification company secured the broken windows against thieves.

From appearances it was thought that a man who may have been intoxicated and armed with a carpenter's hammer, smashed the windows with his hammer as he walked along. The windows were broken along a line just above the brass guard rails. The damage to the windows broken amounts to several hundred dollars.

Anti-Woman Suffrage

An appeal for funds with which to carry on an active campaign against woman suffrage is being made by the New York State association opposed to woman suffrage. In a letter sent out recently to business men the association says: "My dear Sir: We earnestly request your personal attention to the following facts. There are 133,000 illiterate women in New York. The time has come when every thoughtful man and woman in New York should realize that our government is being run by a few men who are not interested in adding this vote to the ignorant male vote should help toward strengthening the association which is carrying on organized opposition to woman suffrage."

A woman suffrage constitutional amendment will probably be brought before the voters of New York in November 1915. During the next three years we must carry on a wide campaign against the expediency of extending the suffrage to women. This can only be done if we receive financial aid from those who believe that woman suffrage would be a serious menace in the state. Will you help us by indicating on the enclosed card how much you are willing to contribute toward this work for one, two or three years? Your name will not be printed on any lists or given out if you request us not to do so."

The association was founded in 1911. Its officers are: President, Miss Alice Hill Chittenden; first vice president, Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge; treasurer, Mrs. Charles T. Lewis; secretary, Mrs. M. E. Loomis; honorary vice presidents, Miss Elitha Rook, Mrs. Richard Watson Gilder, Mrs. Francis S. Seely; and president, Mrs. Fritz Achelle. Miss Eleanor G. Hewitt, Mrs. George Douglas Mills and Mrs. William F. Northrup.

New York City Bonds
The New York city 4 1/2 per cent. bonds, 100 of which are to be sold tomorrow at the Merrimack Clothing Co., will also be put on sale at the great Gimbal Bros. store in that city. But Lowell people will have an advantage over the people of New York who will purchase these bonds at the Gimbal store, for while these bonds are sold here in denomination of $10 par, the 100,000 which will be sold at Gimbal Bros., New York, will be sold at par and one-eighth. In securing these bonds and selling them at less than the New York price, the Merrimack Clothing Co. has shown great enterprise. These bonds will be sold when, and as if issued. Only one bond will be sold to any person.

Merrimack Clothing Co.
The Merrimack Clothing company's offering of 100 New York city's 4 1/2 per cent. bonds in denomination of $10 par is something unusual for a clothing store, and never before attempted in Lowell. It is not done by the clothing company for profit. It acts as an intermediary to bring the privilege of only one of these bonds at a nominal figure within the reach of the people.

The sales of these bonds by New York city have attracted worldwide attention. It determines the credit of the city and the supply of investment money at a time when the market has been somewhat burdened with bond flotations and money demands a bit higher premium.

The entire issue of $45,000,000 was over-subscribed at a trifle above par, so that for those who wish to subscribe at the Merrimack Saturday for one of these bonds of the denomination of $10 at par is getting the bond a fraction lower than the entire issue is floated at.

When you deposit your ten dollars for one of these bonds at the Merrimack Clothing company Saturday you are not expected to get your bond there and then. You subscribe for the bond when and as if delivered. That is to say, you obtain a receipt for your money, and in the course of a week or thereabouts a temporary certificate will be given you, and in the course of maybe a month or so the bonds will be delivered. In the meantime, the interest is accruing on your bond. At May 20th, only 100 subscriptions can be received, and the Merrimack reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

CONVICTED OF BRIBERY

Lawyer Anhut Sentenced to Sing Sing

FRANK MURPHY WON RACE

Defeated Bass Point Man

—Dive From Bridge

The attraction between Lowell and Stanley's on the Merrimack this forenoon was a swimming match between Frank "Podge" Murphy of this city and "Jim" Maloney of Bass Point.

As a prelude to the swimming contest Maloney made a high dive from the Central bridge to the river and he did it very gracefully, too. The high dive was made in the evening, rain and was witnessed by about 60 persons.

It was stated that the race was for $25 a side but this was not vouched for by the principals. The fact, however, remains that the man from Bass Point made a match for Murphy and while the visitor demonstrated the fact that he was a good swimmer he was not strong enough for the local man and did not have the endurance. Maloney, by the way, is a member of the summer life saving crew at Revere beach and has assisted in making some very heroic rescues.

The two swimmers started for Stanley's immediately after the high dive by Maloney. At 9:05 o'clock and when within about a mile of their destination, Maloney was stricken with cramps and was obliged to leave the water. Murphy was then well in the lead. When the man from Bass Point left the river for terra firma, "Ed" McCormick, "Podge" Murphy's trainer, dipped into the briny and followed Podge to Stanley's, arriving there at 11:15, covering the distance from the Central bridge in 2 hours and 10 minutes.

ASKS $50,000 OF HUSBAND

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Brown of Middletown Alleges False Commitment to Insane Asylum

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 23.—Alleging that she was falsely committed to the state insane asylum in this city as the result of a conspiracy, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Brown yesterday brought a suit for $50,000 against her husband, Thomas S. Brown, ex-sheriff and republican leader in this section.

Mrs. Brown says that as a result of her husband's charges she was compelled to stay at the asylum for six weeks. A sister of Mrs. Brown, who protested at the treatment accorded the wife, has likewise sued the ex-sheriff. Mr. Brown was a candidate for state senator last fall.

BIRTHDAY RECITAL
Held Yesterday Afternoon at Lowell Conservatory of Music Was Enjoyable Affair

A children's birthday recital was held yesterday afternoon at the Lowell Conservatory of Music in honor of the birthday of Miss Sylvester Corcoran. A birthday cake with eight colored lighted candles, was placed in the center of the table, and a merry time was enjoyed by the children. The program was as follows: Piano duet, "Harvest Festival," Mrs. Henrietta Bond and Christina Kirkoran; piano solo, "La Ballerina," Margaret Carmody; piano solo, "La Petite danse," Vera Corran; piano solo, "Queen of Sheba," Mrs. Henrietta Bond.

CAPTAIN GEORGE E. WORTHEN

Receives Check for $50

Due Since War Days

Popular Veteran Surprised When Check Arrived

Captain George E. Worthen, superintendent state aid at city hall, was pleasantly surprised the other day when he received a letter from the auditor of the war department of the United States stating that a balance of $50 was due him for services during the Civil war in 1863. The letter was dated May 3, 1913, and that day commemorated the 50th anniversary of the battle of Chancellorsville, Va., in which he took part and in which his clothes were riddled with bullet holes, but he escaped uninjured.

When interviewed by a representative of The Sun this morning Captain Worthen said: "While reading the National Tribune in November, 1912, I saw an article stating that no claim for services during the Civil war could be made at the National headquarters after December 31, 1912. Believing that I had a balance due for services from October 18, 1863, the time I was promoted from sergeant to first lieutenant, to December 8, 1863, I wrote to the war department, giving them the date of my enlistment and date of promotion and asking them to look into my case. In December of this same year I was notified that my claim was on file and on May 3, 1913, just fifty years after the battle of Chancellorsville, in which I took part, I was notified that they found a balance due me of $50 and that a check would be forwarded me without further correspondence. On May 13 the check was mailed at Washington and it was received by me the following day."

George E. Worthen enlisted in the 12th New Hampshire Infantry at Plymouth August 11, 1862 as a private. He was promoted to corporal on the battlefield of Gettysburg July 3, 1863, and was commissioned lieutenant, June 21, 1865, for taking the colors after two flag-bearers had been killed. Since that time he has served in the militia for nearly twenty years and he there received the title of captain.

OLD CASE ON DOCKET MURDERER CUT THROAT

George H. Brown vs. the City of Lowell

Used Razor to End Life in Prison

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 23.—William R. Whipple, sentenced to Auburn prison for eight years for murder early today cut his throat from ear to ear while confined in the Monroe county jail. Whipple used a razor, which he obtained from unknown sources. He was removed to a hospital where it was said that death was almost certain.

COMPARISON OF LOWELL AND LAWRENCE TEAMS

Handsome Oxfords!

Worcester has got some pitcher in Woodman. If Burkett doesn't kill him off with overwork, he will surely be a stumbling block for all the contenders.

Tom Bannon came here yesterday for his appearance as decision maker before the Lowell fans this season. He will umpire tomorrow's game with Lawrence.

Rain or shine, the ball players and the umpires draw down their rays. A rainy day now and then is a great boon to the members of any club a little later in the season when they are calling on all their surplus energy for the requisite standing-up powers with which to finish the playing schedule.

The bout one week from today looks like the real thing in the night line. Neither Egan nor Baldwin have ever showed their wares in Lowell, and it is expected that the largest crowd on record will be on hand when the going rings for the first round.

Lawrence here tomorrow, and the highest crowd of the season. Manager Pieper of Lawrence expects to bring 500 fans from the down-river town with his team. If the last game is an indication of the kind of contest that will be played at Spaulding park tomorrow the management ought to raise the prices for the game.

The Lynn fans are certainly some wrought up over Manager Flaherty's release of Catcher Dault. This player has been with Lynn for the past nine years and has won many games for the club. However, Flaherty thinks that he has reached the point where his stick work cannot overcome his lack of speed. The Lynn papers will rave for a few days and the fans will give vent to a few catcalls at the first home game, and then old Gus Dault will be forgotten. The professional demise of a ball player is not long mourned.

The New England Inter-Collegiate next Saturday at the Stadium will prove a fitting preliminary to the big Inter-Collegiate on the 30th and 31st. The smaller colleges always have a few good men who usually upset the predictions of the wise dopsters.

Meandix of Colby, who has performed here, will give them all a taste in the low hurdles.

"Hugs" McGraw has finally secured Pitcher Fromme of the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for Gray, Ames and Devore. The Giants' manager has been after this slabster for two years and it looks as though he has given full value in return. New York has now one of the best pitching staffs in either league.

There were several notable figures in the baseball world summoned as witnesses in the trial vs. The New Bedford Baseball Association. "Rabbit" Maranville of the Boston Braves was called as a witness by Dault. The case has been continued until the fall session.

Jack Slattery may be able to hit the ball a mile but he can't run. Whenever he gets on the path the bases are blocked unless somebody lifts out a circuit club and the Portland let socked can amble along home. It was very fortunate for Lowell that this player was on third when Henderson threw to Dault for that fore-runner at home in the eighth. Any other member of the Portland team would have scored without difficulty.

The other papers around the circuit are just waking up to the facts about the Lowell team which were predicted in this paper after Lowell had played and lost her first two games. Manager Gray is perfectly willing to go along in second place just now, although he isn't throwing any games away. The end of the season is a long way off and his idea is to have the local club as fresh as possible at the finish. We have numerous examples to profit by of the fallacy of a team's overrating itself in the early part of the season.

Monahan has fully recovered from the spike cut he received in Tuesday's game with Lynn when he blocked off Porter from scoring a run which might have meant the game. He is ready to work now as soon as Manager Gray calls upon him for backstop duty.

CAPTAIN MONAHAN, Of Lowell Team.

With the third week of the New England league race completed the two teams which stand out strongly as playing the best brand of ball are Lawrence and Lowell. Worcester, Brockton and Lynn all look to be above the average, while Portland with Hugh Duffy at the helm must be figured in the race. Duffy has got to make several changes before he can get a real contender out of his present aggregation, but it will certainly be policy for him to do it, and we think he will.

Lawrence has a few new men, but in the main her team is practically the same as the one which defeated Lowell last year. Carlstrom has taken the place of Slattery at first base and Phoenix, Mahoney and Cargo comprise the remainder of her infield. McDonnell, Braggy and Luster are a great trio in her outer gardens. Although the fast center fielder, O'Connell, is hitting far above his last year's average and may be going now much better than he will perform later on, Dreganier is the same reliable backstop that he was last year, although there is nothing flashy about his work. Lawrence is well fixed for pitchers this year with Pearson and Fuller leading in this department. Pearson, however, the majority, has shown signs of being overworked during the past week and if this is the case and Manager Pieper is forced to give him a rest Lawrence will be under a great handicap.

Manager Gray's Boys Are Shaping Into Great Form

Let's take a glance over the Lowell team and compare her players, individually, with those of the down-river team. Halstein is the best first baseman in the league without a shadow of a doubt, although Carlstrom is good, especially with the stick. Miller is also the smoothest fielding second-sacker out of the eight teams playing New England league ball and is hitting close to the 400 mark. Anderson at short stop is more or less an uncertainty, while Cargo is a reliable man on taking the throw down to second and holds his position well. He is also a good performer with his club when he faces a pitcher in a pinch. Ben is playing mighty good ball this year at the hot corner, taking a chance with any kind of a hit ball and working on his toes all of the time. Mahoney is one of the best third-basemen playing ball in this class, but we can't give him any advantage over our own third-basemen.

Although Braggy in left field is a star, both in fielding and at the bat, to use Patsy Donovan's words, "Braggy is fit to play ball with any club in the country." In center field Clemens looks to have it on McDonnell by a shade in every department of the game. Clemens is faster, knows more baseball and can hit in the pinches with greater certainty. DeGroff is the heaviest slugger in the league and has improved in his fielding this year to an appreciable degree. Luster, the captain of the Lawrence team, is a good man and a clever field captain, but as an individual player has not a chance with the Lowell right fielder.

The Lowell pitching department is still the weak spot of the team. Henderson looks to be the most reliable man in the box today, although the warm weather will undoubtedly bring the arms of Maybom and Zeller back into shape. Both Smiths are uncertain. They may pitch a remarkable game or they are just as apt to groove every ball that is anywhere near the plate. Lawrence has the better staff of pitchers. Dreganier has nothing on either Monahan nor Dault. Dault is one of the finds of the season and, barring accidents, will put up a great record this year. Monahan is captain of the Lowell team and has been a big factor in bringing the team into its present effective shape. He is an aggressive player and never quits until the last out is completed.

From this individual analysis of the two teams we see that Lowell is away in the lead so far as the players in their various positions go. This being the case we fail to see where Lawrence has anything on the local club, in fact, just the reverse order of conditions exist. Manager Pieper is a very active pilot. He is always in the game and proves an inspiration to his men. His style is altogether different from that of Manager Gray. The Lowell baseball head is just as much in the game as Manager Pieper, although he prefers to do his work in a more quiet manner. The two men are as different in their tactics as Connie Mack and Muggsy McGraw. Pieper is always ragging the umpire, while Gray rarely leaves the bench. Connie Mack beat McGraw in their struggle for the world's series.

Bank Messenger Held Up by Four Highwaymen

Succeeds In Saving Money, Though Badly Beaten

NEW YORK, May 23.—James T. Wintress, a bank messenger, fought in the street yesterday with four highway men who leaped into his carriage and attempted to wrest from him the payroll of the Nathan Manufacturing company. Resisting their efforts to subdue him with a rifle, a revolver and clubs, he struggled to such good purpose that he saved the money, although he was shot in the arm and his scalp was laid open with a blow with a club.

Police on fixed post heard the shooting and ran to his aid. At their approach the highwaymen fled. One of them was shot by a bluecoat; another was captured after a thrilling chase, and the other two escaped. Wintress was taken to a hospital; the two prisoners were held without bail by the police, and a squad of detectives was rushed to the upper east side to search for the highwaymen who escaped.

DARING QUINCY OFFICER

Leaped From a Car to Grasp Runaway

BOSTON, May 23.—Patrolman David Farrell of Quincy stopped a runaway at the risk of his life yesterday afternoon, when he leaped from the running board of an electric car at the bridge of a horse bolting through Quincy square.

The officer caught the bridle and managed to check the animal by winding his legs around the animal's neck. The crowd in the square which saw the incident cheered the officer for his skill and daring.

The horse, attached to a parcel post wagon, became frightened on Hancock street, Wollaston, and started so suddenly the body of the wagon was left behind.

Scores rushed for shelter as the horse ran through the crowded streets, a woman and child having a particularly close call from being run down.

Officer Farrell, riding on a car bound for Hough's Neck, ordered the motor man to slow down a bit, and then leaped.

Yale Has Good Ball Team

NEW HAVEN, May 23.—Yale alumni and under graduates both at New Haven and throughout the entire east are discussing the prospects of a championship baseball team for the Blue this season. The remarkable record made by the varsity nine to date has encouraged the belief that Yale has an excellent chance to capture both the Princeton and Harvard series. Since the season opened early in April Yale has played 25 games, and all but four have been won.

ADMITTS LOW PRICE SALES

Pres. Farrell Testifies in Steel Case

NEW YORK, May 23.—After testifying that the prices quoted by the United States Steel corporation for its products were treated alike, James A. Farrell, president of the corporation, conceded yesterday that some contracts had been entered into by which certain customers received concessions and that he knew of no general publicity given to such arrangements.

Mr. Farrell was under cross-examination by Jacob M. Dickinson, counsel for the government. In the suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law. Under the latter's questioning he admitted that such contracts, which Judge Dickinson referred to as secret, had been entered into with the American Can company, the Hartman Line, the National Transit company, a Standard Oil concern, and the Pittsburgh Steel company. He explained that the word "quantity contracts" under which discounts were given for large tonnages.

He refused to admit that they were secret, adding that anybody who "desired to know about them would have no difficulty in finding out." He conceded that some of the contracts "tied up the customers" preventing them from buying from the corporation's competitors.

Mr. Farrell admitted that the United States Steel corporation sold steel cheaper to manufacturers of products intended for sale abroad, such as machinery, than it sold to manufacturers of products sold in the domestic trade.

"But we do that," said the witness. "In order to help American manufacturers develop their export trade, just as the interstate commerce commission allows on products intended for export than on domestic products. The government helps to develop export trade and so do we."

FINE LIST OF SPORTS

At Spaulding Park on Memorial Day

The Lowell A. C. is planning a big field day for the afternoon of May 29, the meet to be held at Spaulding park. The program will be one of the best diversified list of sporting events seen here in many years.

Of special interest locally will be a baseball game between the Burkes and the South Ends, while a five mile race for Lowell runners exclusively will be a second attraction. A 100 yard dash, open to all, will be a feature.

The boxing events will show as a feature Maltby Baldwin, champion light weight of New England, and Joe Egan, conqueror of Steve Kennedy and Young McElough, will on 12 rounds Baldwin is known throughout the country now as the cleverest boys at his weight anywhere, while Egan is a youngster pronounced O. K. by experts who have seen him. Gus Lunny and Young Moran will do battle in the semi-final, while Gardner Brooks will tackle an unknown.

RUDE WADDLE MISSING

Large Crows Attend Games in Wollaston in Hope of Seeing Him, but Are Disappointed

WINNIPEG, May 23.—Although the Virginia, Minn., Northern League team has played two games here, "Rud" Waddell failed to appear on the field for either game. Just where he is a question, and if "spike" Shannon, manager, now he is not telling. Large crowds attended 10th games in the hope of catching a glimpse of the former big leaguer, but were disappointed.

Ask Bill—

exactly what he thinks about that P. & Q. spring suit he bought about Easter time. Is it holding its original shape? Is it made as thoroughly inside and out as we represented it to be? Is it as fine in fabric as any $20. or $25. suit he ever owned before?

We know what Bill's answer will be, because he is sending many of his friends to the P. & Q. Shop for new outfits.

You save $5. to $10. when you buy a P. & Q. Suit for $10. or $15. and we can prove it to your perfect satisfaction. The question we ask you is: Will you save it, or not?

WOOD GAVE ATTEAUX MONEY

Com. Barrett Reviews Water Situation and Decides to Establish Experimental Plants

W. H. Dwelley Testifies That Vouchers Made Out to Atteaux Bore Wood's Signature

Crowd of 250 Boarded Car and Compelled All Workmen Going to Hopedale to Return Home

Water Commissioner Andrew E. Barrett gave a statement to The Sun today relative to the water supply of the city. The statement includes a general review of the water supply. He says that the water from the Cook wells has been condemned by the state board of health because of its action on lead pipe and that the boulevard supply is insufficient in quantity and contains too much iron as to make it fit for a suitable municipal supply. Mr. Barrett allows that something must be done at once, and the question is to determine the best and cheapest method of improving existing conditions. The commissioner says he has been advised that both supplies can be treated at small expense so as to render them entirely acceptable, this to be accomplished by reducing the carbonic acid.

NEW HAVEN LOSES SUIT
Held Accountable for Explosion on Torpedo-boat Stewart

NEW YORK, May 23.—The New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R. Co. was defeated today in a suit brought to hold it accountable for the death of Arthur Curtis, engineer of the Federal express, when that train was wrecked last July. The supreme court awarded a judgment of $6,000 to the engineer's widow. The wreck in question caused 15 deaths. When the railroad surprised the court by moving to have the judgment raised to $5,000 was no adequate compensation for the loss of a skilled engineer, provided the railroad was at fault. The jury, he said, should have made the judgment $10,000. This motion Justice Gavesan denied.

DR. D. T. CHAGNON
Lowell Physician Will Remove to Northampton—Will Open Drug Store

The many friends of Dr. D. T. Chagnon, who has an office at 125 Allen street, will regret to learn of his intended removal from this city, for the well known physician has decided to open an office at Northampton, where he will also go into the drug business. Dr. Chagnon is a graduate of Laval university in Montreal and is a native of this city. Shortly after he received his medical degrees he came to Lowell, where he has been practicing for the past eight years. Recently he purchased the drug store formerly conducted by Arthur J. Drouin at the corner of Liller avenue and West Sixth street, and he is now packing the entire stock, the same to be removed to Northampton, where the doctor will open a store in Pleasant street. The physician will remove his office to the latter city on June 1.

Mrs. J. B. Chagnon, his mother, will soon leave for Montreal, Que., with her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Carignan, formerly of this city, who is at present at the former's home in Decatur street, and after a short sojourn in the Canadian metropolis, Mrs. Chagnon will make her home with her son in Northampton.

CONSTANTINE JUBILEE
Will be Held at St. Louis' Church Beginning June 8—Francisena Monk to Preach

What is known as the Constantine jubilee will open at St. Louis' church, this city on June 8. The services which will consist of appropriate religious exercises, accompanied by a sermon will be held every evening for eight days, and the preacher will be a Franciscan monk.

This jubilee is to commemorate the granting of liberty to Catholics by Emperor Constantine in Rome in the year 313. The ceremony will be held in every Catholic church in the world, and it is up to the clergyman to select the date providing it will not be after Dec. 8.

To Investigate New Haven
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Thomas W. Gregory, recently appointed by Attorney-General McReynolds a special assistant to investigate the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad under the Sherman anti-trust law, today conferred with the attorney-general about the inquiry which will begin at once. The scope of the investigation will be unlimited, embracing all phases of the New England transportation situation. It will include the New Haven's absorption of the Boston & Maine several years ago. Representatives of Maine, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, studying the problems from the standpoint of the states have been in Washington to present their views to Mr. McReynolds.

BOSTON, May 23.—Vouchers showing that money payments had been made to Frederick E. Atteaux, one of the alleged dynamite conspirators, by the American Woolen Co. and which were approved by its president, William M. Wood, were introduced at the trial today of President Wood, Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins, who are accused of having conspired to "plant" dynamite in Lawrence during the textile strike in January, 1912.

The vouchers indicated that the payments were authorized by President Wood. The check for $500 was drawn on March 22, 1912. Another check for $200 was drawn on June 16, 1912 and the voucher for this was marked "In full for all claims to date." Both checks were endorsed with Atteaux's name.

Support Government's Claim
The exhibits were offered in support of the government's claim that the defendants conspired with John J. Breen and Ernest W. Pittman to "plant" dynamite in the homes of the strikers at Lawrence in order to give the impression to the public that the strikers contemplated blowing up the American Woolen Co.'s mill. Pittman

MILFORD, May 23.—The Draper strikers were especially active this morning, having suddenly reversed the tactics since Wednesday and becoming more aggressive.

Street cars were stoned and held up, crowds of strikers, women and children, spat upon the reviled workmen and police, while large groups of men at various places made demonstrations against employees on the way to work. The most serious interference was with the Houghton car at Bragville and due at Lincoln square, Milford, at 6.30. A crowd of fully 250 entered the car at the Bragville switch and compelled all the workmen going to Hopedale to leave and return home. Not one of the 20 or 30 there was allowed to continue. No violence was used as the workmen did not think it prudent to insist in the face of such overwhelming force.

The incoming Houghton car due in Milford at 6.45 was stoned on the way here, the attack being near the carteries on Cedar street. It was on this route that the car was shot up a few weeks ago, and George H. Davis has been incapacitated since with a bullet in his thigh. There was also stoning and interference with an incoming Houghton car. No injuries were reported on either.

While the men pickets were thus engaged Lincoln square itself was a scene of disturbance in which the aggressors were women in the families of strike sympathizers.

At Milford workmen were taking electric for Hopedale fully 50 women, some with infants in their arms, shouted "Scabs" and other epithets, spat toward them and made a noisy demonstration against their going to work. With the women were many children, who had just before been harrying loudly singing labor songs and the "Marseillais," but were stopped by Police Chief J. J. O'Neill. The children assembled then in knolls along Main street and jeered loudly and in much the same way against the workmen and police as had the women.

At Green Bros' factory in Railroad square more than 150 men, women and children assembled this morning, and there was much disorder similar to that at Lincoln square. Girls going to work were harassed, annoyed and roughly treated. The result was that it frightened the working girls.

At many street corners there were other groups of pickets watchful, but not molesting anyone.

Altogether it was the largest "demonstration in force" yet made by the strikers, although some of the parades have shown greater numbers.

Fully 700 strikers and sympathizers were out.

Boston Dressmaker Arraigned in Court By District of Appeals Clerk of Fitchburg City Collector Arrested

BOSTON, May 23.—Mrs. Mary A. Dolan of Brookline, who conducts a dressmaking business in this city as Madame Driscoll, was arraigned before Judge Morton in the United States district court today on two indictments charging smuggling and receiving smuggled goods. Securities amounting to $10,000 were furnished for her future appearance. The indictments were returned in connection with the grand jury investigation of smuggling which has before resulted in several arrests.

High School Drill
The entire strength of the high school boys' regiment was present this afternoon when the first sergeants of the various light companies which compose the regiment called the roll at the annex drill shed. On account of the rain the drill was held in the high school annex instead of on the South common as originally intended.

The regiment, which is comprised of approximately 150 boys, was dressed in dress uniforms with leggings and gloves. The drill this afternoon is for the purpose of eliminating all but three companies from the drill which will be held on field at Spaulding park and to also cut down the number of competitors in the individual drill.

The judges for this afternoon's competition were Captain Keene of Co. G, 31st M. V. M., Captain Jeyes of Co. G, 6th M. V. M., and Lieutenant Cole of the U. S. M. C. These officers all arrived in a large touring car at the annex at half past two o'clock and after a few minutes spent in consultation the drill for company elimination was begun.

Three companies are all that lived through the contest and these companies will drill on field day for the blue and red pennants which are given respectively for first and second places. The sword, which is always given to the company whose company makes the best drill, will be awarded to the field day exercises will be awarded without reference to today's contests.

NEW MOTOR BOAT
Launched in the Merrimack River Last Week Contains All Modern Improvements

A very handsome motor boat was launched in the Merrimack river near the Yawper boat house last Saturday afternoon. The boat is owned by John Eugene Dunbar and is probably the largest and best equipped motor boat on the Merrimack river.

The boat contains a cabin 24 feet long, an up-to-date kitchen, four sleeping berths, a toilet room and all modern improvements. It is equipped with ten electric lights and a dynamo to manufacture its own electricity and contains a 24-horse power engine.

The boat was built by a Maine man in the lumber yard of Pratt and Forester.

Many Students Killed
AKRON, O., May 23.—All the ambulances in the city were called to the Central high school building at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. It is reported that many students were killed or injured when a platform upon which an orator was being rehearsed collapsed.

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gendreau of Johnson street.

FAIR RIVER, May 23.—Amable M. Dematt, a clerk in the office of the city collector, was arrested this afternoon on a charge of larceny of $1900 from the city funds. He had been employed in the collector's office for the past twelve years and was recently placed under civil service. Arrest was ordered by the Massachusetts Bonding company, following an investigation made by City Collector Albert and the city solicitor.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 23.—Three garments found near the place where the headless body of a woman was recovered in the Blackstone river at Woonsocket were identified as having been worn by Mrs. Angel Parmentier at the trial today of Henri Deslovers for the murder of the woman. The state is trying to prove that the body was that of Mrs. Parmentier. In cross examination one of the state's witnesses, Mrs. Louise Vandeville, said that the body was larger than that of Mrs. Parmentier. Gabrielle Verhasselt testified that Mrs. Parmentier always wore black stockings, while those in the bundle of clothing were brown.

NEW LODGE OF ELKS
Story for Which the Elks' Cat is Responsible

There's a new lodge of Elks in Lowell and the new comers are domiciled at the Central fire station.

This was the sum and substance of a message received at The Sun office via the phone route this afternoon and Dipin, the Cub scout, put on four or five coats and went out to investigate.

He visited the fire station and asked if he could interview a member of the new lodge of Elks. It was District Chief Sullivan that Dipin accosted and Mr. Sullivan, thinking there was something the matter with the young and enterprising scribe told him, tenderly across the street.

"I know all about the Elks' hall across the street," said Dipin, "but I want to meet a representative of the new lodge of Elks. The district chief 'holled' for assistance and three huskies were on the ground in a second. The district chief explained the situation in a 'few well chosen words.'"

One of the firemen, displaying rare signs of intelligence, said he guessed he could unravel the mystery. "I guess," he said, "that this is a bit of a joke on young scound. The Elks' cat came over here yesterday afternoon and this morning she was discovered, tucked away in a box with four kittens. Just for that somebody started the report that a new lodge of Elks had taken up their abode, temporarily, at the Central fire station."

Let him up, Barney, he had an uncle an Elk and his father was a railroadman.

AT POINT OF REVOLVER
Closed With Banquet at Fitchburg—Many Noted Speakers Addressed Assembly

The last event in the 25th annual convention of the grand court, Foresters of America, took place last night when the three days' gathering came to a close with a banquet at city hall, Fitchburg, at which over 500 men sat down. Many noted speakers were present and the evening was one of pleasure.

Bernard H. Flaherty, P. D. S. C. R. was introduced as toastmaster of the evening. After brief remarks he introduced Mayor Hardy as the first speaker. The mayor's address was received with much enthusiasm by those present.

Lieut. Governor David I. Walsh was expected to be present and speak but he missed the train and was unable to reach the town in time. President C. R. Hayes of the board of trade was also absent, it being expected that he would speak.

William G. Duncan, the newly elected G. C. R. spoke and he was given a grand reception, the delegates rising to their feet and cheering him. Other speakers were: E. V. O'Brien, supreme treasurer of the order, J. Q. Edgerly, superintendent of the Fitchburg schools, T. E. Donnelly, supreme secretary of the Foresters of America, J. C. Cronan, who is connected with the Foresters' journal, The Knights of Columbus Glee club aided materially in entertaining the many delegates that were present.

DEFENDANT WINS
IN CASE OF BURNHAM VS. D. & M. RAILROAD

Matter Will Go to Supreme Court—Action of Contempt Against Haverhill Man Now On Trial

In the case of Burnham vs. Boston & Maine railroad, which came to a close at the superior court late yesterday afternoon, the jury this morning upon agreement of both counsel reported a verdict in favor of the defendant. The matter will be brought to the supreme court on points of law. Messrs. Trull & Wier for defendant.

The next case started was that of Desmond vs. Kimball, an action of contract. The ad damnum is $2000. Cornelius Desmond, the plaintiff, is a Lowell blacksmith, and he brought suit against Warren Kimball of Haverhill for the recovery of an alleged bill amounting to $200 for work performed by him for the said Kimball.

A verdict of $181.13 for the plaintiff was found in the case of Desmond vs. Kimball, which was tried at the local court house.

The court adjourned until Monday morning.

BRAVES REST TODAY
No Game Scheduled But the Giants Will Go in Boston Tomorrow For Four-game Series

BOSTON, May 23.—The game between the Braves and the Cubs, scheduled for yesterday afternoon at the Walpole street grounds, the last in the series, was called off about noon on account of rain.

The Braves have no game scheduled for today, and so will get an extra day's rest. Tomorrow they will open a four-game series with the Giants.

As there will be no game in Boston today, many of the fans intend to go to Lynn to see Lynn and Lawrence of the New England league.

I. W. W. LEADER QUINLAN

Silk Strikers

PATRICK QUINLAN, N. J. May 22.—Patrick Quinlan, one of the local I. W. W. leaders who was convicted of inciting a riot and is out on appeal, did not let the conviction interfere with his agitation. The very day he was released on bail he and other I. W. W.

leaders addressed several thousand strikers, attacking the courts and the police. Quinlan said he was the victim of a frameup, and his speeches were more fiery than ever. Swayed by the agitators, the silk weavers, most of whom are foreigners, threatened dire things, and the police prepared to cope with renewed rioting.

GRAFT CHARGE MADE

in Ferry Tolls

BOSTON, May 23.—The direct charge that the city of Boston has been defrauded to the extent of $2600 a year by the juggling of tolls on the East Boston ferries was made yesterday by the finance commission in a report to Mayor Fitzgerald. As this method has been going on for years, the total amounts to a large sum.

For two years, the commission states, it has had men tabulating the collection of tolls at the ferries and watching the system there in vogue. The commission reported yesterday. It charges that the count submitted by the commission's agents, when compared with the figures for tolls from the gatekeepers, indicates that the gatekeeper turned in an insufficient number of high-priced fares and a larger number of low-priced fares. The result, the commission states, is that the city has not received the full amount of tolls to which it is entitled. They estimate that the shrinkage will amount to $2600 a year from this loss alone.

DELAY ALIEN LAND BILL

Mikado III—Pres. Wilson
Cables Regrets

WASHINGTON, May 23.—When the news of the sudden illness of the Emperor of Japan reached Washington today, President Wilson and Secretary Bryan expressed deep concern. Bailly Blanchard, chargé of the American embassy at Tokyo, was cabled from directly to convey a message of sympathy to the Japanese government and President Wilson sent a personal message to the emperor.

It is regarded here as possible that the effect of delaying negotiations in progress regarding the California alien land law.

There were no developments today in the negotiations either at the state department or the Japanese embassy, the attitude being one of waiting for the next word from Tokyo.

It was learned that up to the present stage no formal suggestion has come from Japan that the American naturalization laws should be amended so as to admit Japanese to citizenship in the United States.

The records of the state department fail to show that such a request ever has been made by any other country. Officials here insist that the status of citizenship may be conferred by the state in the exercise of its sovereign rights upon an individual class. It is pointed out that it is something that may not be demanded by a nation. However it was pointed out that the United States has entered into no international treaties designed to limit naturalization treaties designed to American residents in other countries.

GRAND REGENT, ROYAL ARCANUM

Council

Fraternities to Have Outings—Memorial
Day Plans

WILLIAM J. CAREY,
Regent, Highland Council.

Highland council, No. 510, Royal Arcanum, celebrated its 27th anniversary last night in Highland hall by a concert and dance. The event also welcomed the Grand Regent of Massachusetts, Edward J. Byron, to this city. It being his first official visit since elevated to the office. Long before the entertainment started the hall was filled and many were obliged to stand in the rear to hear the concert.

The program consisted of selections by the Orpheus ladies' quartet of Boston and their numbers were very well received by the large audience. They were obliged to respond to many encores. All other numbers, including a reading by Professor Young, were received with much enthusiasm. The program was as follows: Overture, Griffith's orchestra; "Carmina" (Wilson) quartet; "Shandon Belle" (Neveins) quartet; "Delight" (Lynchstone), Miss Henderson; "Old Black Joe" (Webber) quartet; reading, "The Suffragette," Prof. Young; "Passage Birds Farewell" (Heldach), Miss Beatey and Miss Conley; "The Rosary" (Neveins), "In Love She Fell" (Beach), quartet; Aria from Samson, Mrs. Crocker; "Sing, Maidens Sing," quartet; grand regent, Edward J. Byron.

The members of the quartet were: Marion J. Henderson, soprano; Lillian V. Beatey, soprano; Lillian O. Crocker,

contralto; Abbie J. Conley, alto; Mabelle G. Beatey, pianist.

After the concert dancing was enjoyed in the lower hall with the following committee in charge of the arrangements: General manager, Wm. J. Casey; floor marshal, A. H. Dana; assistant floor marshal, H. R. Taylor; chief aid, Arthur Grimwood; aids, Harold Prazon, J. E. Stuart, Daniel Shea, John LaFleur, John Shea, Wm. Kilpatrick; entertainment committee, J. W. McKee, chairman; F. E. Jones, W. J. Carey, A. C. Grimwood, Frank Dodge, L. M. Fuller, J. E. Stuart, C. E. Taylor, C. E. Bisby, John Howard, A. H. Dana, C. E. Stuart, John Orrell, R. E. Costello.

Highland council officers: Regent, W. J. Carey; vice-regent, L. M. Fuller; past regent, P. R. Kinnear; collector, A. M. Huntson; chaplain, G. C. Bisby; warden, H. H. Taylor; orator, J. W. McKee; secretary, W. D. Hill; treasurer, C. Frank Butterfield; guide, A. C. Grimwood; sentry, F. C. Rand.

General Shields, No. 46, F. O. A. The meeting of Court General Shields, F. O. A., was called to order last night by sub-Chief Ranger John Hanley. Six applications for membership were received and four candidates were initiated into the order. A way and means committee was appointed to make arrangements for an outing to be held in the near future. They will report at the next meeting. Remarks for the good of the order were made by Brothers Keegan, Dailey, McDonough, Moss, Green, Hanley and Cox. The receipts of the meeting were $125 and the expense was $34.

Ancient Order of United Workmen. The Ancient Order of United Workmen, Lowell lodge, No. 22, held a well attended meeting in Odd Fellows temple last night. A whist party will be conducted by the order. The second Thursday in June and some good prizes will be awarded to the winners. Plans are under way for a picnic to be held at Carobie lake during the summer, and it is expected that the committee will have a completed report at the next meeting. Master Workman J. H. Mills presided.

Court Scandia, F. O. A. A meeting of Court Scandia, Foresters of America, was held last night in their rooms in Odd Fellows temple, and a large amount of routine business was transacted. This society will conduct a picnic to Nahasset grave on June 14. A report from Delegate Charles E. Wogander, who attended the grand court convention held in Pittsfield was read with much interest to the members. The meeting was conducted by Chief Ranger Emilio C. Pearson.

Ladd and Whitney Post, G. A. R. The following orders for the Memorial-day exercises were adopted at the last meeting of the Ladd and Whitney post, 135, G. A. R.:

1. Sunday, May 25, the post will assemble at these headquarters at 10 o'clock, a. m., to attend divine service at St. Paul's M. E. church, Hard street, Rev. George W. King, pastor. Lunch will be served after this service at these headquarters.

2. The post will assemble at these headquarters at 2 p. m. sharp, to attend the joint memorial service at the First Congregational church. Orator by Rev. Edward H. Newcomb.

3. Comrades who will attend the public school exercises on Thursday afternoon, May 23rd, will report to the adjutant at once.

4. The post will assemble at these headquarters at 8 a. m., May 30th, and following Post 42 and Post 120, under the command of Commander Derby, S. V., proceed by automobile to the Lowell cemetery, and at the close of the service this post will go by automobiles to Tewksbury, assisting that town in its memorial services, returning by electric.

5. The post will assemble at 2.30 p. m. at these headquarters and on the arrival of Posts 42 and 120 "fall in" with them, reporting to the chief marshal at the common and at the close of the parade and review, when dismissed, by invitation of Circle S. Ladies of the G. A. R., enjoy their hospitality, at the post hall, closing the day with patriotic speaking.

6. Comrades unable to march are urged to ride. If their health will permit, on Memorial day. Notify the adjutant before the 27th, so he may procure carriages enough.

7. Carriages with the above veterans leave these headquarters at 1 p. m. Memorial day to assist the Sons of Veterans at the Highland cemetery.

yesterday calling for the re-arrest of Henry W. A. Page, a wealthy English linen merchant, convicted in Washington a year ago for libelling members of congress. At that time he was sentenced to five years' imprisonment and fined $1000 and was released under suspended sentence. The order for re-arrest, it is understood, was issued on the grounds that he had violated the terms under which sentence was suspended by writing of his grievances to the president, attacking the department of justice.

Page's conviction followed his circulation of pamphlets calling congressmen "crooks." He believed that the courts had treated him unfairly in giving his wife the custody of their three children after granting her a separation. He memorialized congress, asking for the impeachment of certain New York judges and when the house judiciary committee, to whom his petition was referred, gave him no satisfaction, he printed and mailed to members of both houses pamphlets containing a lurid attack on various congressmen. Page could not be found at his office this afternoon and it was said he was out of town.

Several of the tenants in the Tyler block are looking for new locations. Some of them state that their profits would not be sufficient to pay half the rent proposed by the new owner. Mr. Alexander, the latter has decided to move, the Duffy company will move unless they can remain a rent that will not eat up all their profits and the American Express is also talking about locating elsewhere.

Young Girls Charged With Larceny
Given Suspended Sentences—Non-Support Case Heard

Joseph Fontaine decided to travel to Lowell from Boston last night via the blind baggage route but found himself in the grip of the law when the train stopped at the Middlesex street station. Word had been telegraphed on ahead from Wilmington by the operator who saw Fontaine clinging on to the side rails as the train passed his post of duty. Officer Dooley, whose beat is around the depot, was summoned by the local operator and nabbed the would-be free passenger as he was attempting to alight on the side of the tracks across from the station. He was immediately taken to the station and booked the charge of trying to evade payment of car fare.

When brought before Judge Enright in police court this morning he pleaded guilty to the charge and asked for leniency from the court. It seems that he was only released from jail last Wednesday and did not have much money with which to defray expenses until he located a job. The court ordered him to pay a fine of $10 and gave him two months in which to pay it.

Juvenile Session
In the juvenile session Sadie Belanger, one of the girls held in the Ecklund case, was sent to the reformatory in Lancaster. The two girls who were apprehended while in the act of stealing several articles from the Boni March, were given suspended sentences to the same institutions.

Held in $200
Theodoros Mavarakos, accused of failing to provide proper education for his son, pleaded not guilty this morning. Trust Officer Thornton, who prosecuted the case, called Assistant Clerk Trull to the stand. Mr. Trull stated that the defendant had given his son's age as 12 years. The defendant claimed that his son is nearly 15. On this account a new warrant had to be made out and the defendant was held in $200 bonds for his appearance before the local court tomorrow morning.

Non-Support Case
Philip Jalbert, charged with drunkenness and non-support of his wife and minor children, was placed on probation on both count and ordered to give his wife $7 each week out of his pay envelope.

Nightshirts Exhibited
Sergeant Duncan produced a man named Thomas Kelly, whom he placed under arrest when he saw him trying to get rid of two nightshirts for the ridiculous sum of thirty cents. The nightshirts were produced in court this morning. The defendant claimed the old story of somebody else giving the article in question to the defendant. He told a straightforward story, however, and the court believed him. "I've been to sea since 1888," said Kelly, "and never was arrested for anything but drunkenness before." He was found not guilty and discharged. As he was going out of the court room Superintendent Welsh presented him with his two nightshirts.

John B. Roy, charged with drunkenness, was sent to the house of correction for a term of three months. Samuel Martel received a $5 fine for drunkenness; there were also two releases by the probation officer for first offenders for drunkenness.

SCHEDULES OF TARIFF

Meeting of Finance Committee Today

WASHINGTON, May 23.—At the meeting of the finance committee today, which is examining the different schedules of the forthcoming tariff, Samuel Ross, a representative of the Textile Workers of America, speaking for his organization urged that the contemplated reduction in cotton be not as heavy as has been proposed. Senator Hughes asked if he thought the proposed cut would reduce wages. "No, it won't reduce wages," said Ross, "because we won't stand for it and the time is past in this country for any reduction in wages. We have nothing to do with the manufacturers' end of it, but we feel that the great reduction in cotton duties will throw men out of work. If the duty on the finer grades are cut it will put a heavy drain on the capitalization of the mills. I do not think the cotton mills are over-capitalized, but the workers do fear that men will be thrown out of work because local manufacturers cannot meet foreign competition if the duties are too low."

Democratic leaders determined today upon a plan to hurry consideration of the bill in the senate. Senators Simmons and Hoke Smith declare that when the debate begins the senate will meet daily at 10 a. m. and continue to 5 p. m.

ERIE, Pa., May 23.—Jacob Demerle, a railroad engineer, today shot and killed his sweetheart, Miss Marie James, at her boarding house and then shot himself. Demerle died in a hospital an hour later.

GIRL ATTACKED BY DOG

May Die From Bites of Infuriated Animal

BOSTON, May 23.—Maddened by the tramping of several children who were at play in a yard at Phillips and Water streets, Quincy, yesterday afternoon, a large bulldog charged upon the little ones and before assistance arrived frightfully mangled 5-year-old Rose Bartolomeo. The child was picked up insensible and lies at her home in imminent danger of death.

The youngsters had just been dismissed from school, and on their way home gathered in the vacant lot on Water street. One stout fellow, another, and tired finally of playing, they began to plague the dog. First one threw a stone at him, then another. At last one of the bolder spirits approached near the animal and struck at it with a stick.

Growing savagely and showing his fangs, the animal snapped at his assailants. Amused by this they persisted in their teasing until the dog, thoroughly maddened and aroused, charged upon them. Rose was nearest to him and he sank his fangs into her side. She fell to the ground and springing on top of her, the animal tore her dress and bit her time and again on the thighs and back.

The cries of the terrified child attracted the attention of some men in a nearby store, and hastening to the scene, they managed to beat the dog back with clubs. Rose was insensible by the time they freed her and she was carried into the office of Dr. D. B. Reardon. He found her body terribly mutilated and expressed himself as doubtful of her recovery.

The dog was caught and is being examined for symptoms of rabies by the Quincy board of health.

MACARTNEY'S APPAREL SHOP

Fourth Anniversary Sale Is Proving a Great Attraction to Local Purchasers—Prices Put Away Down

This week is anniversary week at this big clothing establishment known as the Macartney Apparel Shop, and there is a special inducement to the public to call and help celebrate. The big page advertisement that was run in The Sun this week has certainly brought wonderful success, judging from the tidal wave of visitors since the sale opened. Weather conditions haven't been anything to boast of this week, but neither rain nor wind has had any terrors for patrons who desire stylish and up-to-date clothing. The store was closed a whole day this week to readjust the prices, bringing them down to a degree that cannot fail to appeal to purchasers. There are wonderful bargains at the sale. There is not a single article in the store that isn't marked down from the regular prices, thereby pleasing every customer. In order to do this the owners make a sacrifice. The sale has come in with a boom and a rush and will continue not only for today and tomorrow, but until everybody has purchased what they want. Of course, like all special inducement sales, the first come is best served although with their wonderful stock it would take weeks or months perhaps to clear it out. But at the price being quoted it looks as if the managers are taking big chances. If you haven't been to this wonderfully big fourth anniversary sale, go today or tomorrow, for there's money in every shirt. The sale is now on and if you miss it you lose, while some other bargain-hunter will gain.

the hut on Nov. 23 hoping to regain the ship.

"We suffered severely, having nothing to drink, but we finally reached a hut at Mossel bay, where we found some hard and mouldy bread."

"We remained there three days during a storm and then started again for the ship, guiding ourselves by the stars. We arrived at the ship on Dec. 1."

"Dr. Rudiger in the meanwhile had suffered greatly, two more of his toes and four fingers having been frozen, while his foot became so bad that it had to be amputated."

"The guides and sailors of the expedition returned unexpectedly in the ship on Dec. 21, reporting the loss of Ekhardt. They had no news of Dr. Detmers or Dr. Moerer, the botanist. They said Capt. Ritschel had gone on alone to Advent bay."

"Steve died on February 24, and the Norwegian relief expedition, commanded by Capt. Staxrud appeared on April 21."

"The expedition started last summer, under the leadership of the Duke of Altenburg, the object being to find the northeastern passage."

First Drunk Caused Trouble
BOSTON, May 23.—Hazel Snow and Louise Paradise, each about 20 years old, and living in Lewiston, Me., appeared before Judge Bennett in the police court yesterday, charged with larceny from Harry E. Kenney of $310 at an Appleton street house, May 2.

The Snow girl told the judge that it was the first time she had been associated with anything of this nature, and that she had her first drink that night with her friend. She denied that she stole the money.

Judge Bennett held her until Monday and will have her case investigated. The Paradise woman was found guilty, and sentenced to Sherborn, but appealed.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

$5.00 PANTS FREE

In another one of those famous splurges of mine I want to show the people of Lowell that I am out to do business during the month of May regardless of what inducements I have to offer.

With me now it is business---business all the time. I believe if I sell them low enough I can get more than my share of suit customers remaining to be supplied. If foreign woollens swamp the market next fall or next spring, wouldn't I look nice trying to sell American woollens to you that were bought under the present high tariff conditions. Bare tables and bare shelves for me until things settle themselves. That's my dope; sell every man who enters the store regardless of value. Is price any object to you? Is saving any object to you? Is quality, combined with low prices, any object? Is money in your pocket as good to you as it is in the pocket of some clothing dealer? Give me your order for a suit today or tomorrow, and give me till Decoration Day, to make the suit. You be your own salesman, pick out what you like, tell me how you want it cut, and let me make it up that way to your satisfaction, or no sale.

MR. CLOTHING WEARER, OTHER YEARS AT THIS TIME YOU HAD YOUR SPRING SUIT ORDERED, PAID FOR AND WELL WORN BY NOW. You haven't given it a thought this year. We fellows in the clothing line know that, because none of us are getting our usual business; you are going to get a summer suit anyway, because you are going to get the summer weather that will make you order, and that weather will soon come.

To induce you to order now, I have placed my stock on the bargain table at prices that will appeal to the thrifty who will need now or who will need later, and for FRIDAY AND SATURDAY I offer an extra inducement of A PAIR OF PANTS ABSOLUTELY FREE with suit to order. My blue serge special being a special extra offer is not included.

N. B.—ORDERS TAKEN UP TO SATURDAY NIGHT WILL BE READY FOR DECORATION DAY IF WANTED.

CAPT. ANTHONY DEAD

Famed as Rescuer of Fenian Prisoners

NEW BEDFORD, May 23.—Captain George S. Anthony for the last 23 years boarding officer for the customs service at this port, and famed in Irish history as the commander of the Catalpa expedition to Australia, died at his home in this city yesterday, following an attack of pneumonia.

His darling act went without reward

until 1905, when he was presented a gold watch, and a year later he was given a present of $400. Because of this daring rescue of the political prisoners, Captain Anthony was debarré from entering any British port. Twenty-nine years ago he was appointed to the customs service at New Bedford. He was 70 years of age, and one of the oldest officers in the service here.

$500,000 For Jap Exhibit

TOKIO, May 23.—The committee of the Japanese parliament yesterday made a favorable report on the proposed appropriation of $500,000 for the representation of Japan at the Panama-Pacific exhibition to be held at San Francisco in 1915.

Thieves Rob Poorboxes

BOSTON, May 23.—The police of Malden and Everett are hunting for a band of poorbox and gas meter thieves who have been operating in the two cities. Two Malden churches, the Immaculate Conception and St. Joseph's, have been the scene of the latest depredations where the poorboxes have been rifled of their contents. Entrance was gained by forcing a window in the basement in each case.

SEARCH FOR LOST GIRL

Pupil of Malden High School is Missing

BOSTON, May 23.—The police of Malden and Greater Boston and in several of the large centres of the country are using every effort to locate Ethel M. Howe, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Howe of 45 Glenwood street, Malden, who disappeared from her home Saturday afternoon.

The girl left home to go to her grandmother's nearby. She wore neither a hat nor coat. The girl did not reach her grandmother's home. Miss Howe was a third year pupil in the Malden High school and was exceptionally bright in her studies. She would have graduated next June.

TEWKSBURY

One of the worst forest fires this season started Tuesday in a wood lot back of Mr. Wallace Burt's land. It took the combined efforts of a number of men from Andover and Tewksbury several hours before the blaze was under control. It burned between 150 and 200 acres of woodland.

Making Improvements

The property owners on Pleasant street are making every effort to outdo one another in having their places look the best. Mr. Lewis Burt and Mrs. Coombs are having their houses painted besides making their grounds attractive. It is now considered by many to be one of the prettiest streets of the village.

Motor Cycle Struck Auto

What might have proved a serious accident occurred Sunday noon at the junction of Pleasant and Main streets when a motor cycle collided with a large touring car. The car was turning the corner and the motor cyclist, not interpreting the signal correctly, drove straight into the hood of the auto. The cycle was quite badly smashed but was able to continue on its way after an hour's work upon it. The auto was not damaged and after the occupants had given what help they could they resumed their journey.

Preparing a Play

The Y. P. S. C. E. are preparing a drama "Me and Otis" to be given the first Monday in June. Judging from the number of rehearsals it should be one of the best entertainments of the season and the young people will have an opportunity to display their talent.

Rule Welcome

The farmers were all very glad to see the rain which was needed to help the growth of the seeds which have been planted recently. Some of the greatest demands of the first class markets of Boston are for vegetables grown in Tewksbury. The land in Chandler street yielded some of the best asparagus sent in this spring.

Miss Moody's Death

has brought sorrow to many homes where she was known and loved.

She was a public stenographer in Boston employing a number of girls and as her work needed her constant attention, it was difficult for her to visit her many friends, but they shall always remember her as a sweet and amiable school mate. She was taken ill Wednesday of last week with a severe cold which developed into pneumonia. She was removed to the Quincy hospital Saturday but she had not the strength to recover and passed on at this life Tuesday morning at 3 o'clock. The funeral was held Friday afternoon. Many friends were present to pay their last respects and the floral offerings were many and beautiful.

Dies While Coughing

facturer and fruit grower, taken with a fit of coughing yesterday while crossing St. John's river on a ferry, fell overboard and was drowned. He was said to have carried life insurance totalling $500,000 and to have applied yesterday for an additional policy of $50,000.

SCALY-LIKE RASH ON BABY'S LEGS

132 Balch St., Beverly, Mass.—"When my baby was but six weeks old she broke out on her legs and neck with a dry, scaly-like rash. I soon noticed it seemed to be matting together on her neck and was coming out on her arms. She was very fussy and needed constant attention. She could only sleep about half an hour at a time either day or night. In about three days it had become raw sores. It turned into a running sore on her neck and was fast becoming so on her arms."

"I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed her with the Cuticura Soap and applied the Ointment as soon as I got them and they seemed to afford instant relief. She went right to sleep and slept for three hours, the first time for over two weeks. After two or three applications of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I noticed a decided change. I continued the treatment and she was completely cured. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured her." (Signed) Mrs. O. B. Giles, Apr. 19, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

STYLISH SUMMER SUITS FOR DECORATION DAY

CURTIS ROBBED IN TRAIN

Hub Man Said to Have
Lost $20,000

ROME, May 23.—Francis Gardner Curtis, widely known clubman of Boston, Mass., and an assistant curator of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, who, with his bride of a few months, is traveling through Europe, was robbed yesterday of $20,000 in a train going between Florence and Bologna.

Mr. Curtis and his wife, who was Miss May Barnard, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James M. Barnard of Boston, had left Florence early in the morning. Somewhere on the way Mr. Barnard went into another compartment of the train and made the acquaintance of a fellow traveler. He talked with the man for about half an hour and then went back to his wife.

He had been with her only a few minutes when he noticed his pocket-book was gone. In it were bonds to the amount of $10,000 and banknotes amounting to $10,000. He is of the opinion it was stolen by his chance acquaintance and every effort is being made by the Italian police to find the stranger.

MISS SUSANNE CARROLL, SOUTHERN BEAUTY, WILL WED MAJOR J. P. HILL

MISS SUSANNE CARROLL

BALTIMORE, May 23.—Miss Susanne Carroll, a pored southern beauty, to whom Robert W. Chambers dedicated his recent novel, "The Gay Rebellion," is going to marry. The lucky man is Major John Philip Hill, United States district attorney for Maryland. The engagement has just been announced. When Mr. Chambers dedicated his book to Miss Carroll he wrote, "Though I have seen and known her, I do not fear, for you, Susanne, have long since won my heart." Everybody now knows that "J. H." is Major Hill, but the mystery of "Smith" still remains. Of course it doesn't make any difference now who "Smith" is. His name is Dennis anyway. The wedding will take place in June and will be of interest not only to Baltimore and New York society, but also to many people in Europe, where Miss Carroll spent her girlhood. Miss Carroll is a granddaughter of Mrs. Tucker Carroll, with whom she has made her home in New York city the last few winters. She is also a great-granddaughter of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Major Hill is a graduate of Harvard, a member of the Massachusetts Society of the Cincinnati, the Maryland club and the Metropolitan club of Washington.

LONG HIKE TO WIN BET

20 Hours

BOSTON, May 23.—To win a bet with Junius S. Morgan, Nelson Morris, Morgan Belmont and several other Harvard students, who live in fashionable back hall in Cambridge, Harold M. Wright, a wealthy student from Germantown, Pa., will start out at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to walk to Rye Beach, N. H., a distance of 58 miles from Cambridge.

Back hall's occupants will turn out at that early hour to see him start, and many of those interested in the bet will motor to Rye Beach later in the day to see that Wright reaches there before a half hour after midnight Sunday.

Wright, who is a baseball and football player of reputation at Harvard, in a conversation with a number of friends recently said that an athlete could easily cover over 60 miles in walking within a day's time. His statement was doubted and Wright offered to bet that he himself could accomplish the feat.

Rye Beach was selected, because it lacks only two miles of being 60 miles distant, and to make up for this lack, four hours of the time allowed were taken off. So that to win his bet, which now amounts to something in four figures, according to rumor, Wright must walk 58 miles to Rye Beach in 26 consecutive hours.

He has decided to get an early start and will leave Harvard square at 4:30, clad in pedestrian's garb. A group of friends, who will motor to Rye Beach, will be waiting for him shortly after midnight tomorrow, and a banquet will be tendered him if he makes the journey according to scheduled time.

TO PAY UNPAID BILLS

Mayor Barry Orders School Committee Expenditures Approved By Cambridge City Auditor

BOSTON, May 23.—A new turn was given yesterday to the question of $10,000 worth of unpaid bills of the Cambridge school committee, when Mayor Barry ordered City Auditor Thurston to approve the bills so that payment might be made.

The several sums are to be charged to the proper appropriation for the school department.

Now Curable

Dr. A. W. Turner, a Boston specialist, has published a pamphlet explaining how rupture, piles and all rectal troubles may be cured to stay cured without going to the hospital or using the knife.

Of course all sufferers are interested and letters are coming to the doctor in great numbers from other physicians and from afflicted people.

To all inquirers the doctor sends the pamphlet by mail without charge. The doctor's address is A. W. Turner, M. D., Hotel Pelham, 74 Boylston St., Boston, Mass.

NEWLY ELECTED PASTOR

Guest of Men's Club at
Eliot Church

Rev. Herbert A. Barker, the newly elected pastor of the Eliot Congregational church, was the guest last night of the Men's club of that church and delivered an address on Abraham Lincoln. The speaker was introduced by Maj. Charles S. Director, the president of the club.

Mr. Barker spoke of the three features of Lincoln's physical, mental and moral. He said Lincoln was very tall, ungainly and unattractive, but with tremendous strength of body, and a wealth of no mean repute. He said that Lincoln's physical power enabled him to do the work for the nation and the man had the advantage of a sturdy and a strong body. Drawing a lesson from this fact, Mr. Barker said that he believed it to be a serious problem and a dark blot on modern civilization that children are obliged to live down their lives and some of the best of them are lost. It is impossible for them to become efficient. Strength of body should be conserved and encouraged.

Intellectually Lincoln was a giant in spite of his 12 months of schooling. His was the master mind of his presidential cabinet. He was the greatest statesman and, as such, was never surpassed. As a leader he was the deepest and most far-sighted. Lincoln's own theory was that work, hard work, persistent planning at the task would bring success. Lincoln was a deep thinker. His habit of thought was induced by the lack of books in his early life. He spent much of his leisure and thinking and in training his mind in this way. From this the speaker brought out a point that, in his opinion, the school children of today are being taught unwisely in the particular that too much is done for them and that they are not obliged to think for themselves. They have no time to think. He argued that if the children are really to become efficient, they must be taught to think and that some of the old-fashioned virtues should be re-established.

The Little Store With the Big Trade.

OFFICERS ELECTED

At Annual Dinner of Kirk Street Church Brotherhood—Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher Speaker of the Evening

An excellent meal was served under the direction of Mrs. F. E. Harris and a committee of young women.

The speaker of the evening was Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher, who spoke on "Men in Affairs." He said the really successful men in life were the men who had a record for service to their fellowmen. He believed that the world, in demanding the higher standard, had given evidence of its progress.

Rev. C. A. Lincoln, pastor of the church, in a short address, said that the wealth of the world was not increased more by land, capital or labor, but by the men with ideas. The inventor and the organizer of resources were the ones who added to the profit of the world without doing harm to anyone. He said that he had found Lowell, during his brief ministry here, a most interesting city, in spite of its increasing problems. He did not believe that it was his mission to organize a large and complacent church in Kirk street, but rather to direct its many energies to such ends that the whole city, and especially the foreign population, should be better served.

President Smith and others spoke informally and there was chorus singing of Brotherhood songs.

Emperor's Condition is Very Grave

TOKIO, May 23.—Official report that the emperor Yoshihito is ill with pneumonia, the constant attendance upon him by one or more of the eight court physicians and the vigil which the empress Sadaka kept at his bedside all last night make it appear that his condition is more grave than was indicated by the first bulletins. The whole Japanese empire is today depressed with the reports.

The bulletin issued this morning only announced briefly that the emperor's condition was unchanged. The high fever of last night when his temperature ranged from 98.5 to 102.32 Fahr. apparently was unaltered.

The imperial patient is at the Aoyama palace, on whose immense parade ground he contracted a cold while reviewing the troops last Sunday. It had been intended to remove him at once to the newer Chiyoda palace, but the sudden serious turn of inflammation of the lungs necessitated abandonment of the plan.

Arthur B. Blanchard, American chargé d'affaires, was among the first of the stream of callers at the imperial palace to inquire about the condition of his master and he expressed the sympathy of the American government and people for his suffering.

A number of native organizations have despatched special messengers to the imperial shrine to pray for the recovery of the emperor.

Democrats Agree Tentatively on Members

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Democratic members of the ways and means committee it was asserted today have agreed tentatively upon a number of the committees of the house, appointments to which have been deferred because of the pressure of business.

The tariff committee chairmanship will be retained by Rep. Burnett of Alabama, who also served in the latter part of the last congress as head of the public buildings committee. Most of the principal chairmanships will be undisturbed but there will be many changes in the memberships. The interstate commerce committee will be almost completely changed. Rep. Houston of Tennessee must drop out to retain the chairmanship of the census committee and Rep. Smith of Texas to keep his irrigation chairmanship. Other members are similarly situated.

House leaders have made tentative selections for the chairmanships of the following committees: Agriculture, Rep. Lever, South Carolina; appropriations, Fitzgerald, New York; banking and currency, Glass, Virginia; District of Columbia, Johnson, Kentucky; Education, Hanson, Ala.; foreign affairs, Floyd, Va.; immigration, Burnett, Ala.; interstate and foreign commerce, Adairson, Georgia.

Mountain Peak Blown Up
CHAMBERY, France, May 23.—Military engineers blasted into fragments yesterday the loose peak of a mountain consisting of 50,000 cubic feet of rock, which had threatened to fall and destroy at any moment the village of Ternay, in the department of Savoie. BUYING UP OF RIVALS

Further Evidence at the United Shoe Trial

BOSTON, May 23.—Further evidence of the buying up of rivals and the disappearance of the latter from the field of their former activity was presented by the government today in its suit brought in the United States district court to dissolve the United Shoe Machinery company, which is alleged to have violated the Sherman anti-trust act. During the first year of its existence the company bought up nine companies, only two of which are doing business today. Seven companies were bought up during the second year, of which only two are in operation at the present time. These companies are the Boston East Color Eyelet Co. and the Hugs-Meyer Mfg. Co. of Cincinnati. The latter is an Ohio corporation with an issued capital of $150,000, all of which is owned by the United Shoe Machinery company. On acquiring control of the Boston East Color Eyelet company, a new company was organized under the same name with a capital of $1,500,000. The United company owns $1,020,000 of this stock. President Sidney Winslow of the United is president of both companies.

Some of these companies were making machines similar to those of the United while others were engaged in manufacturing tools and supplies incidental to the shoe machinery business. The government contends that all of these companies were acquired in pursuance of a plan to monopolize the shoe machinery business of the country. The defense admits the acquisition of the companies but denies the plan to monopolize all as charged by the government.

The contracts and agreements entered into by the defendant for the purpose of acquiring these companies were offered as exhibits by William S. Gregg, special assistant to the United States attorney general and the machines which were acquired were described by Nelson Howard, a patent attorney employed by the United company.

WOMAN DIED SUDDENLY

Mrs. Corcoran Passed Away Today

The many friends of Mrs. Helena E. Corcoran will be pained to hear of her death, which occurred suddenly this morning at her home, 15 Hampton avenue, off Walker street. Although the deceased had not been in good health for the past few weeks, she had been in the best of spirits and no alarm was felt of her family as to her condition. She was born in Chicago, Ill., but came to this city in her childhood and received her education at the hands of the Sisters of Notre Dame and since her graduation, which was with the class of 1892, she has been a faithful member of the alumni, bringing good cheer with her sunny disposition. All those who leave to mourn her loss her husband, Michael A. Corcoran, a mother, Mrs. Helena M. Quinn, and a daughter, Mary Teresa.

HOW TO PREVENT OFFENSIVE PERSPIRATION, CHICAGO WOMAN TELLS

Mrs. Mary J. Erskine of Chicago, Ill., says: "I wish every fleshy woman who suffers from excessive or offensive perspiration and chafing would try Comfort Powder. It quickly combats and cools the skin, prevents chafing and destroys all odors." The superior medication of Comfort Powder makes it unequalled for all toilet, sick room and nursery uses. TO REMOVE LEAD FROM WATER

Continued

In the Cook well water, so as to prevent action on lead, and aerating and filtering the boulevard water so as to remove the iron. He proposes, he says, to install small experimental plants at both the Cook and boulevard stations to try out the proposed methods, cooperating with the state authorities, who will make the necessary analyses to determine the success of the work done.

Mr. Barrett's Statement

"Considerable discussion of the present water supply," said Mr. Barrett, "has been occasioned by some reference in the newspapers to the possible necessity of treating the water in order to render it satisfactory to the consumers. As this is a question of vital interest to the people of Lowell, it may be well to make plain the position of this department in regard thereto. Before stating our intentions, however, a brief outline of past and present conditions will perhaps enable the citizens to better appreciate the problem to be solved."

The Original Supply

The original supply, built in 1870, was from a filter gallery in the bank of the Merrimack river, a short distance above the Pawtucket dam. This supply proving insufficient, a small filter was constructed in 1876, but like-wise soon proved inadequate, and water was taken direct from the river in varying quantities from 1879 to 1886. During 1890 and 1891 severe typhoid epidemics made apparent the need of ground water, and the development of a ground water supply was undertaken. In 1893—the Cook wells, so-called—in the valley of River Meadow brook were put in service, yielding about 3,000,000 gallons daily. In 1894 another series of wells in the same valley—known as the hydraulic wells—were driven, and these, in combination with the Cook wells, yielded slightly less than five million gallons. As the consumption in 1895 had increased to 7,000,000 gallons per day, it was necessary in this year to draw 34% of the total quantity used from the river, and in order to avoid a continuation of such use of river water, to further increase the supply of ground water. Accordingly the development of the system of boulevard wells was undertaken in 1895, and an amount of water obtained which, in combination with the Cook system, was sufficient to supply the city without the use of river water.

State Board Investigates

The city having apparently solved the problem of obtaining a sufficient supply of ground water has, however, been confronted by the gradually decreasing quality of these supplies. In 1895 the state board of health had called attention to the rapid increase of ammonias and iron in the Cook well supply. In 1898 complaints of the corrosive action of this water on metals and of lead poisoning due to its effect on lead service pipes became pronounced. The state board of health accordingly undertook a special investigation, the results of which are described in the 1899 report of this board. In a letter dated June 29, 1899, to the Lowell water board, the state authorities advise that the action on lead is due to carbonic acid in the water, and that the Cook well water contains more of this acid than any other supply in the state. In a letter of communication, dated September 25, 1899, the state board calls attention to the fact that, since its first letter, 33 new cases of lead poisoning, many of them severe, had been reported.

The letter reads: "Nowhere else in the state do we find a public water supply acting so rapidly upon lead pipe, and with such pernicious results; and we advise that measures be taken without further delay to prevent the continued use for drinking and cooking of this water drawn through lead pipe." The communication ends as follows: "To guard against lead poisoning to an appalling extent in the city of Lowell, two courses appear to be at hand—one is to remove the lead service pipes through which water from the Cook and hydraulic wells is drawn for drinking and cooking, and the other is to cease using the Cook and hydraulic well water and extend the boulevard system to supply the whole city. The public health requires

Developing Boulevard Wells

With the use of the Cook well system thus condemned, it became necessary to further develop the boulevard wells, and in 1900-1901, 177 additional wells were driven, and such a supply obtained that in 1902 and 1903 no water was drawn from the Cook system. With continued use, however, the amount of water obtainable from the boulevard wells rapidly lessened, and it has been necessary in each year since 1903 to draw from the Cook well supply for short periods—despite the advice of the state board—the amount so taken varying from 3.2 per cent. in 1904 to 19.4 per cent. for the total year, 1904 to 1911. In this latter year, in an endeavor to increase the amount obtainable 118 more wells were driven at the boulevard and at the present time 450 wells are available for use in this system. Even with this development the amount of water obtainable will not be sufficient to supply the city during the coming summer.

Ground is Overworked

I have been advised that the falling off in the capacity of the wells at the boulevard is due to deposits of organic matter and iron in the underlying ground surrounding the wells, and let the well points, and that this condition is the result of overworking the ground intervening between the wells and the river.

It appears evident, as is indicated by the variation in the temperature of the water which rises and falls with the temperature of the river water, that the greater portion of the supply drawn from the wells comes from the river through the ground. With the gradually increasing draft, this intervening ground is being overworked, and as a result of this overworking, the amount of iron in the water is gradually increasing. This increase is well indicated by the reports in the state board of health, and while in 1906 the iron is reported as an equivalent of 0.008 parts per 100,000, an increase of thirty times had occurred in 1911, raising it to .2379 parts per 100,000. The results of this iron in the boulevard water are known to every consumer in the city, and need no comment here. The water is not suitable for laundry use, and after any disturbance in the pipe system, the loosening of the accumulated deposits renders it dirty and disagreeable in appearance. The expense to the department in cleaning out services and meters which have been stopped up by these deposits is large, amounting to at least $1000 annually.

The Summing Up

Here, then, is the situation: A city with two ground water supplies, one condemned because of its action on lead pipes, and the other insufficient in quantity and containing so much iron as to make it far from a suitable municipal supply. Something must be done at once, and the question is to determine the best and cheapest method of improving existing conditions.

I am advised that both supplies can be treated at small expense so as to render them entirely acceptable, this to be accomplished by reducing the carbonic acid in the Cook well water so as to prevent action on lead and aerating and filtering at low cost the boulevard water so as to remove the iron. Obviously, if this is true, and by such treatments these supplies in which a large amount of money has been expended can be made in every way fit for the continued use of the city, a most valuable and necessary result will have been obtained.

It is proposed, therefore, to install small experimental plants at both the Cook and boulevard stations to try out the proposed methods, cooperating with the state authorities, who will make the necessary analyses to determine the success of the work done. In this way, all risk of failure will be eliminated, and the information required for the construction of the works for the treatment of the entire supply will be obtained. By effecting the necessary improvements in the Cook and boulevard supplies, so that both sources can be used, sufficient water for the city for some time will be made available. If this can be done, some other method of obtaining a suitable water supply must be developed, and the expense will, without doubt, be greater than that necessary for the improvement of the present supplies.

DELAYING THE TARIFF

The announcement that the republicans of the senate at Washington are going to concentrate all their energies in an effort to delay, if not defeat, the proposed tariff, does not reflect much credit on their sense of public responsibility. By proposing amendments to every schedule, calling for frequent red calls, and all other filibustering methods of delay, they will give an exhibition of childish stubbornness which cannot be considered either wise or timely by their warmest supporters. The method in itself is a remnant of discarded and condemned legislative practices, but when those who use it have no hope of making it effective, it will serve only to defeat its own purpose.

Tariff revision must come and will come, whether the republicans of the senate like it or not, and the complaints of its opponents, if sincere, call for an opposition based on higher principles than party pique. The republicans had their chance to do what the democrats are now doing, but they were primarily responsible for the high protection and they failed when brought face to face with the evil results of that protection. The people who supported the democratic party do not expect the republicans to favor the present tariff revision, but they do expect them, and not unreasonably, to be as open in their opposition as the democrats are in their support of the measure. Party action which would simply retard the passage of the bill without any constructive policy, deserves unreserved condemnation.

Whatever the method employed, anything which delays the tariff bill cannot serve the best interests of the country at the present time. There is a certain amount of business uncertainty, and this will continue until the new legislation is passed and the general business of the country becomes adjusted to the new conditions. Tariff revision is a foregone conclusion, and the sooner it comes the better. If the republican senators are sincere in desiring changes, they cannot hope to help their cause much by hampering the passage of the bill by filibustering methods.

NORTH AMERICAN CIVIC LEAGUE

The North American Civic league, which is to confer with the school board this evening, has done splendid work among the foreigners of other cities, and it is to be hoped that they will be given the opportunity of doing a like amount of good in Lowell. They do not ask for financial aid or any very important concessions, and their main request is permission to use one or two of the school buildings as a means to create the desire among the foreign elements of the city for an education in American customs and principles. The press and public have long counseled this course of procedure for immigrants, and the North American Civic league offers the means by which it may be accomplished.

This work of uplift has long been in force in other cities, and the results have more than justified the attempt. In Boston and Lawrence, for instance, the league has created a new spirit of active patriotism among those whom it is meant to benefit. The lessons have been made attractive, and lectures are frequently given on subjects which are of interest to old as well as young, with the result that large audiences have been attracted and a club spirit created. Lessons are given in American history, and classes are prepared for naturalization. When they are ready for the final processes of taking out their papers of citizenship, the affair is surrounded with dignity and sufficient ceremony to remind the immigrants that becoming an American citizen is no light honor. The value of such an elevating influence on foreign peoples may readily be understood, and the local field that awaits the activity of the league is large.

The North American league is not the only influence which requests the use of schoolhouses for the purpose of educating and amusing some branches of our people. The movement is countrywide, and is being adopted very generally. It is to be understood, of course, that great care will have to be exercised with regard to the school furnishings, but this is not an insurmountable obstacle. The need for the work of the league is pressing. They have already justified their existence in other cities. The school board should grant their request.

IN SAN DIEGO

Emma Goldman, the apostle of anarchy and extreme socialism, and Ben Reitmann, a gentleman of like reputation, appeared in San Diego a year ago, after having attracted more or less unfavorable interest throughout the west by their violent and reditious teachings, and they received a reception that was more energetic than cordial. Reitmann was tarred and feathered and rushed out of the city. Whether their memories are poor, or hoping for a change in sentiment, or for some other reason, they made a return trip a few days ago. This time they were received by the authorities and taken in a police patrol to the city boundaries, where they were permitted to depart, after having promised not to attempt again to speak in San Diego.

The San Diego method somehow does not seem quite American, but it has its undoubted advantages. In the case of pestilence or epidemic we do not wait for the disease to break out before applying remedies. We pride ourselves on the efficacy of the preventive measures prescribed by our boards of health. But in the case of dangerous moral and mental diseases we too often wait until harm is done before applying the remedy. The lawless declarations of such undesirable as the Goldman-Reitmann combination are of incalculable danger, and do serious damage to weak and inflammatory natures. They are not liable to do much damage in San Diego.

STREET WORK

The mayor is to be commended in urging the speedy completion of the unfinished work of the street department, particularly the paving of Bridge street and the remainder of the work on the Lawrence street sewer. There is nothing more aggravating to the people of any section than the condition of affairs which unfinished street work entails. The comfort and convenience of the public calls for as high a rate of speed as is compatible with good work. If such work is not done early in the year, it is pretty sure to drag later on when weather conditions are not as favorable as at the present time. Last year the paving of Church street was being done at a time when the cold seriously interfered with the work. Delay, therefore, is poor policy regardless of who is responsible therefor.

CHEER UP

If you are despondent because the sun refuses to shine, if you are a peace advocate and deplore the anti-Japanese agitation, if you are against tariff revision and believe it will ruin the industries of the country, if you are worried over the bill for your wife's Bulgarian uniform, or if you are gloomy on general principles—cheer up. There's joy in store for you. The bill boards proclaim that the circus is coming to town, and whether you are seven or seventy, the news will be an antidote for most of the wounds of the flesh and the spirit. In the midst of turmoil the circus has a charmed existence. Not even the nectar of the gods was sweeter than the prospects of peanuts and pink lemonade—in the proper atmosphere.

SHOOTING AFFAIRS

The number of recent shooting affairs in this section of the country has been enormous. One can scarcely take up a paper that does not relate a harrowing tale of murder or suicide, accomplished by a revolver in the hands of one crazed by jealousy or drink. And yet when a dreams bill again comes before the legislature, it is liable to be defeated, as it has been in the past—because it would impose the terrible inconvenience of getting a license on the military companies. We are paying dearly in human life for the delicate feelings of our legislators. But the present state of affairs cannot continue indefinitely. Laws must eventually be made which will keep firearms away from those unfit to handle them.

Seen and Heard

A little baby pigeon with its feet entangled in some sort of string, presumably part of the nest, flew into Dr. Smith's office on the fourth floor of city hall a few days ago and landed in the lap of the agent of the board of health. Mr. Bates, the little pigeon came through the open window and was not the least bit scared. Mr. Bates was taken a little off his guard, but when the pigeon picked at the strings on its feet, the little heart board of health agent knew there was good work for him to do. In removing the strings from the pigeon's feet Mr. Bates found it necessary to use a knife, but still one of his second did the little bird display any signs of fear, and after having its feet released the little pigeon rested on the window sill before flying away to join its parents, or perhaps its little brothers and sisters.

She was well dressed, and Jim, the mayor's private secretary, put on his very best smile when the woman entered the mayor's office. "Where is the honorable mayor of our city?" inquired the woman. "I am very sorry," replied Jim, "but the mayor is out of his office today, on a private business matter."

matter of business I wanted to see the mayor about. "I shall be glad to do so if I can," replied the mayor's secretary. "Well," continued the woman, opening an elaborate handbag. "I have here a very fine brand of toilet soap. It is only ten cents a cake, and I am sure if the mayor were here he would be glad to buy it."

Jim bought it. Mickey and Pat had been at school together, but had drifted apart in after life. They met one day and the conversation turned to a school friend. "Did you ever meet brother Dennis?" asked Pat. "He has just won a gold medal in a marathon race," said Mickey. "That's fine," said Pat. "But did I ever tell you about my uncle at Bally-thomas?" Pat agreed that he could not call him to mind. "Well," continued Mike, "he's got a gold medal for five miles and one for ten miles, a silver medal for swimming, two cups for rowing, and a lot of badges for boxing and cycling."

"He must be a great athlete, indeed," said Pat. "You're wrong," cried Mike. "He's a pawnshop."

There is a small boy in Fort Scott whose mother remarried when he was about five years old. Somehow or other he could not get accustomed to the fact that he had a new father. One day a stranger came into the house and asked him his name. "It's Smith," replied the boy. "Well," said the man, "my mother's name is Mrs. Brown, but mother's name is Smith."

The boy thought over. "Her name is Mrs. Brown, but mother's name is Smith," he said. "Well, how does it happen her name is Brown and yours is Smith?"

The boy, quick as a flash replied: "You see, it is like this: She married again and I didn't."

DO IT!

Do it! Keep on and leap on—get through it! Don't stop in the road or hop like a frog. From this side to that, or fly like a bat. With your head upside down till your brain rattles round. Of course, there are no models! But you have strong shoulders—A tug and a stride, though, with more than a little sweat. Deep rule! To be sure. Toward the end, through, they're fewer. The path over there may appear far more fair. But you haven't the time to find out if it's prime. And the road to the right winds too far out of sight. It may prove much slicker and smoother and quicker. But you know your way's right, for the goal is in sight. So what if it's rough— Isn't sureness enough? Just this down where I'll stay, for you need it all day. What's got without effort is worth what it cost. The easily gained things are easily lost. When a road is worn that you can bet your best hat. That it leads to a place where too many are at. When a way is all roughness and gruffness and toughness, And branched and scrambled and wild— by a long way— You can make up your mind There are new things to find. That you're getting at something that hasn't been known. If you don't go on through it you'll live on to rue it. Somebody who isn't a quitter will do it. Mickey laugh as he rambles his way through the brambles; He'll know that the big things in life must be won. He won't mind a stumble (it takes time to grumble); He won't care a hang if he does bark his shin. He won't be defeated because he's over-heated. He'll leap on and keep on until he gets in. —Herbert Kaufman.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Division

LYNN Telegram: The offshoot of the once great republican party is a sharp thorn in the side of its parent, and the mother, fond and doting old woman—is vexed and torn with conflicting emotions as she views the erratic course which her progeny is taking. With outstretched arms to carry the metaphor along—she is beseeching the erring youngster to return to the fold, but the youngster, self sufficient in his new born glory, refuses to return and continues to make his own way. And it must be conceded, so far the way has proven quite successful. The progressive infant has reached the long trotter age and believes itself old enough, wise enough, to stand on the corners of the political highways and hallow forth in a thunderous voice, "Behold, I am becoming greater than those who gave me birth."

New Lawrence Spirit

Lawrence American: The day has arrived in Lawrence when some of the leading citizens no longer fear the threats of befouling their character or despoiling their homes, because they may desire to perform a civic duty as they see it. The recent I. W. W. dynamite has stirred local citizens to "take the bit in their teeth," and henceforth, whenever occasion warrants it, the fair name of this city will be upheld, in season and out of season, in courts of law and out of them, to the end that the community will be a better, cleaner, safer, more inviting place to live in.

The Franking Privilege

New Bedford Mercury: Postmaster Burleson is being urged to regulate the franking privilege abuse by letting each government department pay for its mailing service. Under present arrangements the postoffice department is charged with the mailing bills of nine other departments. If this plan is carried out it is believed that the saving will be more than one of the keeping charges for the postoffice department, inasmuch as it is expected the departments may be reluctant to make an extravagant showing.

We have just closed out from one of our best manufacturers, his stock of Fine Summer Suits, and bought the goods at such a tremendous reduction from first prices that we can offer on Friday the best bargains in men's and young men's suits that we have ever advertised.

The stock embraced something over 400 suits of handsome fancy worsteds, fancy chevrons and fancy blue serges—all made for this season's fine trade.

Every suit is cut on this season's best models—perfect fitting, splendidly tailored, and all coats have hand felled collars and hand made buttonholes.

Smart, stylish, up-to-the-minute suits, of the newest materials and latest cut, offered at the prices that we name today, afford an opportunity for any man or young man to save lots of dollars on fine clothing at the very start of the season.

and so on that the Haywood crowd regard as so absolutely essential to success in trades disputes. Here and there it seems to score a success, and on those successes unbridled arrogance seems to thrive afresh. In each new attempt the thing is carried with a higher hand. It will doubtless go on until a revolution is bred up against the revolutionists by sheer force of general public anger—and then down will come the I. W. W., like a house of cards, before a united people that will tolerate its excesses no longer.

The Flag Law

LYNN Item: Every nation is more or less jealous of the display of the ensigns of other powers, but generally the presence of foreign flags is not so common as to cause offense. The use of the red flag of socialism and anarchy was the cause of the opposition that has culminated in prohibitive laws. The display of these offensive colors has aroused a sentiment that is dangerous, and the laws against their appearance in parades or other public gatherings have been enacted none too early.

Milk Inspection

Brookline Times: It is well that dairies supplying the milk consumers of Brookline are to be investigated. Epidemics of tetanus, scarlet fever, diphtheria and typhoid in surrounding towns make such a step imperative, even though there is no indication that any of the milk being supplied to this city is contaminated. There has been considerable disease in other localities where the milk is suspected, if not proved, the agent of contagion, and it is reasonable to suppose there would have been less had the matter of dairy inspection been attended to more carefully. The public need not be alarmed at the supposed danger, but may rather consider itself fortunate that the authorities have not waited for actual necessity before acting with complete investigation and constant watchfulness such as is expected of the local authorities, Brookline should escape the misfortune experienced by Canton, Easton and other places that are fighting either great or small epidemics.

New Law Requires Reports of All Accidents

Report All Accidents
An addition to the motor law went into effect yesterday that every driver of motor vehicles should be careful to remember, for it provides that all accidents must be reported to the highway commission. As there is no exception made to any particular style of vehicle, it includes motorcycles as well as automobiles. The law reads: Section 1. Every operator of a motor vehicle which for any reason is involved in an accident in which any person or property is injured, shall forthwith report the same to the Massachusetts highway commission. Section 2. For any violation of the provisions of this act said commission may revoke or suspend the license of the operator.

Highway Safety League

The new law was presented before the committee on roads and bridges for a hearing and it got a favorable report. After that it had smooth sailing and it was signed by Gov. Foss a month ago. The Highway Safety League was sponsor for it.

It will be interesting to watch how it works out, for there are many accidents which are never heard of by the highway commission. The law, if it is lived up to, will mean a lot of extra work for the motor department of the commission, due to the fact that the report need not be very detailed. As no exemption is made of slight accidents where the injury to property is slight, for example, such as a bent fender, a scraping of paint, or some minor damage, or brushing a person a few inches—no discretion being allowed the motorist under the law—it means that to be on the safe side a report must be made.

However, the law does not require a complete, detailed report of what happened. In the original bill it said "with a full account thereof," but this phrase was struck out because there was some belief that it might be unconstitutional to furnish information against one's self. There is a belief by some now that the law would not stand a test in the courts.

NEGRO IN LINCOLN JAIL

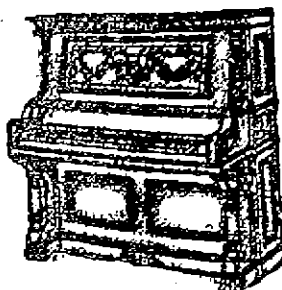

Mob Tried to Lynch Him at Hiawatha

LINCOLN, Neb., May 23.—Walter Bailey, the negro charged with assault on Mrs. Keller of Falls City, is in the penitentiary. He was brought here early today by Sheriff Aldrich of Falls City and a special deputy. The trip was made by auto from Hiawatha, where Wednesday night a mob tried to lynch him, to Horton, Kan., and by train from that place to Lincoln.

Another Lot of Trust Pianos Sent in for Sacrifice!

The recent financial stringency drove many fine pianos to our sacrifice floor. A man can get along without his high-class piano better than almost anything else in his house. During these "tight-money" times we have sold pianos for prices so low that it seemed to us that people could not believe our sacrifice quotations. Some of our prices do seem ridiculous, but sell we must and it's good hard cash that's wanted by the sellers—it's the seller's tough luck that makes the buyer's good luck. You owe it to yourself to investigate the sacrifice piano sales of the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms. This week will be a wonderful one for bargains.

INTERESTING TOMBSTONE LEGENDS

Samples of the Inscriptions Used Years Ago Bear Warnings of Uncertainties of Death

While going through St. Patrick's cemetery was in 1848, but some of the tomb stones indicate that burials on this particular site were made long before that year. While going over to what is known as "yard one," where the oldest graves are, the writer's attention was attracted to the O. M. I. lot, where the following inscriptions can be seen: Rev. J. M. McGrath, O. M. I., Jan. 12, 1838; Rev. P. R. Brady, O. M. I., Dec. 30, 1900; Rev. W. D. Joyce, O. M. I., Feb. 9, 1901; Rev. D. O'Riordan, O. M. I., Feb. 20, 1897; Rev. A. Trudeau, O. M. I., Nov. 16, 1885; Rev. C. Phaneuf, O. M. I., April 16, 1872.

The oldest grave in "yard one" is that bearing the inscription, "John Bork, Mar. 2, 1832." Then comes "Cernellus Hartley, Nov. 2, 1833." On the tombstones can be seen the following poem:

Come, Holy Ghost, Creator come,
From thy bright heavenly throne;
Come, take possession of our souls,
And make them all thine own.

Other inscriptions of interest are as follows: Annie McGuire, wife of Chas. Tammatt, Sept. 12, 1858.

Friends and physicians could not save my mortal body from the grave; Neither can the grave confine us here, When Christ shall call us to appear.

A few other inscriptions are cited below: John Gray, a native of the parish of Cloon, County Leitrim, Ireland, died Sept. 17, 1846. Aged 25.

Here to thy bosom, mother earth,
Take back in peace what thou hast given;
And all that is of heavenly birth,
O God, in peace recall to heaven.

Hannah M. Carroll, Nov. 2, 1868.
I left this world in blooming years,
And all my friends in grief and tears.
Repent, therefore, while you have time,
For I was taken in my prime.

Mary Daly, wife of Thomas Daly, Jan. 25, 1842.

Passing stranger call this not
A place of fear and gloom;
I have to wander on this spot,
It is my mother's tomb.

Mary Devine, Feb. 24, 1813.

In sickness sore long time I bore,
Physicians strove in vain;
Till Christ the chief sent his relict,
Releasing me from pain.

Ellen M. daughter of Charles M. and Mary Short, Aug. 21, 1841.

Thine happy babe supremely blest,
By glorious and eternal rest;
With angel choirs in heavenly lays,
Thoult sing forever thy Maker's praise.

James Carr, Sept. 11, 1815.

All you who come my tomb to see,
When you read this pray think of me.

Repent in time; make no delay;
For in my bloom was snatched away.

Margaret C. Green, Feb. 11, 1841.

Friends weep not in sorrow of spirit,
But joy that my time is o'er;
I go the good part to inherit,
Where sorrow and sin are no more.

Philip Farley, May 16, 1840.

Stop, poor wanderers, come, make a pause,
Do you regard kind heaven's laws?
If not, my friends, due warning take,
A voice from the grave says such is fate.

Thy pains and sorrows all are past,
And the peaceful rest of heaven is thine at last.

Mary Flynn, Sept. 24, 1846.

Remember, man, as you pass by,
As you are now so once was I.
As I am now so you shall be,
So think of God and pray for me.

Elizabeth Gannon, Sept. 1, 1842.

Man on length of days presuming,
Who on paths of pleasure tread;
Vlew him late in beauty blooming,
Numbered now among the dead.

There are numerous other poetic legends quite interesting, and a walk through the graveyard is well worth taking. It reminds one of what he is and what he shall be, and also brings back to memory the departed ones who alas, are too soon forgotten.

It was the custom about fifty years ago to have poetical lines on tombstones. The old English cemetery on Gorham street has a great variety of such rhymes. It appears that the monumental workers had a collection of such rhymes, and allowed the parties who ordered the monument to select the verses. Many of these are now covered with grass in the old cemetery as the stones were in many cases but small and the space for lettering was necessarily near the bottom. On the tombstones of today there is less sentiment, merely the name of the deceased, the date of death and the age.

79 HOUSES WERE BURNED

The Jewish Theological School Wrecked

PRESSBURG, Hungary, May 23.—In the great fire which occurred here on May 21 the Jewish theological school building was destroyed but the celebrated and valuable library connected with it was saved.

Altogether 79 houses were burned and the loss is estimated at $200,000.

DECORATION DAY

May 30 is a day devoted to the memory of our honored dead, and in memory and out of respect to them everybody should try and make a good appearance on that day. INSPECTOR RILEY INVESTIGATES

Visits Manufacturing Establishments for Purpose of Getting Line on Smoke Devices

Smoke Inspector Riley made a trip to Boston a few days ago having arranged with William H. Gerlish, smoke inspector for Boston, for a tour of manufacturing plants using wood for fuel in order to get a line on the different devices used in the process of smoke elimination. Mr. Gerlish is a former Lowell man, and is smoke inspector for other places than Boston proper. His territory includes Somerville and Cambridge.

Mr. Gerlish took the Lowell inspector to East Boston where they visited five wood burning plants. One of these, Mr. Riley, said, used an oil burner located in the combustion chamber of the boiler and he was told that the device was giving good satisfaction. Other establishments were using steam jets. These jets are supposed to take care of the unconsumed carbon before it escapes by way of the chimney. "With the persistence and intelligence of the firemen," said Mr. Riley, "these jets give good satisfaction."

Mr. Riley allows that the Mohair Plush company in this city has as good an equipment as any in the country for smoke abatement and this company uses steam jets invented and installed by the company's engineer, Mr. Yeomans.

The device known as the oil burner is being tried out at the Bay State mills in Lawrence street and while it isn't giving entire satisfaction it is doing pretty well. Mr. Riley stated today that Mr. Whitney, chief engineer for the American Woolen Co., was coming to Lowell on Monday to give the apparatus at the Bay State mills a final test.

The Saco-Lowell shops have installed steam jets and Mr. Riley states that Mr. Thompson of the Lowell-East shops is co-operating with him in every way in an effort to bring about the very best results. Mr. Riley seems to think that the steam jet contrivance will be perfected at the Lowell-Saco shops.

There is a place in Western avenue that is giving Mr. Riley more or less worry, and he is determined that conditions there must show an improvement within the next two or three weeks or he will take advantage of the law in such cases.

Tomorrow Mr. Riley will visit the plant of the Higelow Carpet Co. in Market street. He says that the carpet mills emit too much smoke and he is going to find out what can be done about it.

The Boot mills are preparing to install automatic steam jets. The automatic jets work while the firemen are raking, harring and firing and because of the fact that they are automatic do not make any extra work for the firemen. It is while the firemen are raking, harring and firing that the gases are liberated and it is then that the automatic steam jet takes care of them.

MILL TREASURER ON STAND

committed suicide when the investigation of the alleged plot was begun. Collins turned state's evidence and confessed that he distributed the dynamite under the direction of Green. Green also confessed and said that he obtained the explosive from Pitman and that Attiaux paid the bills. William H. Rice, a quarryman, testified that he innocently furnished the dynamite to Pitman and saw him give it to Green.

To Implicate Wood

Today the state attempted to show that President Wood was involved and that the American Woolen Co., through Wood, had helped pay the expenses of the conspiracy.

Edward B. Lynch, paying teller of the Federal Trust Co. of this city, where Attiaux had funds on deposit, took the stand and identified Attiaux's signature on four or five papers which District Attorney Joseph Pelletier offered as exhibits. Henry F. Hurst, counsel for Mr. Wood, objected to their admission as evidence against his client. He argued that the exhibits were not competent until some connection should be established between the papers and the alleged conspiracy.

Payments of Money

The district attorney replied that the papers would speak for themselves and would show the payment of money from one defendant to another.

Judge Crosby admitted the exhibits with the understanding that they would be competent only in the event that some connection between the papers and the alleged conspiracy should be established by evidence.

The district attorney read the papers to the jury. One of them was a check for $505 drawn on the National Shawmut bank of Boston, payable to and endorsed by Attiaux and signed "American Woolen Co., W. A. Currier, assistant treasurer."

Expenses During Strike

Accompanying the check was an American Woolen Co. voucher on which Attiaux's signature appeared, and which was a receipt for $505 "for expenses incurred during the Lawrence strike," according to inscription on it.

The voucher also bore the words "Approved—William M. Wood, president."

Another exhibit was a check for $2100 drawn on the Beacon Trust Co., Boston, on June 26, 1912, payable to and endorsed by Attiaux. This check bore the signature of William H. Dwyer, Jr., treasurer of the American Woolen Co. The voucher which accompanied the check bore the approval of Mr. Wood and an inscription on it said "In full for all claims to date."

The district attorney then called William H. Dwyer, Jr., treasurer of the American Woolen Co., to the stand and questioned him regarding the entries on the company's books showing the payments to Attiaux. The witness showed where the payments had been entered on the books and said that during the strike of 1912 the company carried a general strike account.

Called to Wood's Office

Mr. Dwyer told of being called into Mr. Wood's office one day and the latter told him that he had settled in full with Attiaux. At Mr. Wood's request, Dwyer made out the check and voucher for the payment, when he returned with the check Mr. Attiaux was in the room. That was the day, he said, the company was paying the attorneys for Lawrence strike affairs.

Methods of Accounting

A good deal of Dwyer's testimony was technical and dealt with the Woolen company's methods of accounting and preserving vouchers and checks. Ponderous account books were frequently referred to by the witness during his testimony. Treasurer Dwyer was asked about a memorandum made on Sept. 3, 1913, when he removed from the records the voucher for $505, previously entered as on August 1. He said he was absent at the time the defendants were indicted last August and when he returned looked up the vouchers to see what had been paid. Vouchers were removed every day, he said, in the course of his office business. At the time, he said, he had not talked with counsel nor did he

Increased Weakness of Low Priced Shares—Trading Fell Off During the Morning—Market Closed Firm

NEW YORK, May 23.—Pressure was again directed at stocks which have been conspicuously weak recently when the market opened today. California Petroleum declined a point to 35 1/2. A new low record, St. Louis & San Francisco first pfd, dropped three points to 25. The general list was heavy.

An inclination of the standard stocks to advance after the heavy opening was defeated by increased weakness of low priced shares. St. Louis and San Francisco first pfd, sagged five points, the second pfd and California Petroleum 2 1/2 and Rock Island one. Pennsylvania touched 19 1/2, a new low mark.

Trading during the morning fell off considerably and there was no sign of a continuation of the movement which raised prices generally yesterday. Standard stocks which have been unaffected of late by liquidation of various low priced issues seemed more sensitive today to adverse influences, and although there was little pressure against the list such business as was done was at the expense of quoted values. Reports from Europe indicated that renewed depression had come over the foreign markets and some reflection of this feeling was visible from the outset here.

Speculation of the foreign selling did not help the list. Speculation became stagnant and stocks showed no recuperative power when pressure stopped.

Moderate buying orders made their appearance for the Harriman and coalers and the market in general stiffened. Lack of detailed information regarding the continued fall in St. Louis & San Francisco stocks and bonds curbed aggressive bullish operations.

The market closed firm. Prices moved up steadily to the end and the list relieved something more than the early losses. Pool operations were evident in the improvement in some low priced copper shares.

Money Market
NEW YORK, May 23.—Prime mercantile paper 2 1/2-3 1/4. Sterling exchange heavy at 48 for sixty day bills and at 48 1/2 for demand. Commercial bills 152 1/2. Bar silver 53 1/2. Mexican dollars 48. THREE KILLED, NINE HURT

Big Gun Exploded at Fort Moultrie

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 23.—Three soldiers were killed and nine or more seriously injured late last night at Fort Moultrie, when the breech blew

It's Me for Olive Tablets!

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and Calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing laxative.

They cause the bowels and liver to act normal. They never force them to unnatural action.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take that children do not regard them as "medicine" at all.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're perfectly harmless.

Thousands take one every night just to keep right. Try them.

off a 3-inch gun, which was being used for night target practice. Privates Baxter, Christensen and Dalton were killed, the former two being cut in two and dying instantly.

Capt. Hanna, who was standing with several other officers of the coast artillery, was badly wounded by a fragment from the exploded cannon. Hospital Steward Lamar was injured in the right arm and hand.

One account stated that the tragedy occurred at Battery Bingham, and another that it occurred at Battery Lord.

It was stated by a resident of Sullivan's Island that several officers were reported wounded. He said that it was difficult to learn just how many were wounded when the fragments of the cannon scattered among the soldiers close by.

It was reported that the breech had not been properly closed after the insertion of a cartridge, and that when the cap was exploded the breech was thrown back with terrific force.

The wounded men were rushed to the Post hospital, where immediate attention was given them. Several Charleston physicians hurried to the fort and assisted in taking care of the victims.

Fort Moultrie is the headquarters of the Charleston division of the South Atlantic coast artillery district, with Maj. A. G. Jenkins, who resides at Fort Moultrie, in command. Four companies of coast artillery, the 16th, 15th, 14th and 13th, are stationed there, although some of the soldiers garrison the nearby Fort Sumter.

The headquarters officers, in addition to Maj. Jenkins, are 1st-Lieut. E. K. Smith, adjutant; Capt. J. W. C. Abbott, quartermaster; 2nd-Lieut. R. S. Dodson, artillery engineer and ordnance officer. The first artillery band is also stationed at Fort Moultrie.

The officers of the four companies are: 16th, Captain, G. H. G. Hanna; 1st Lieutenant, T. A. Terry; 2nd Lieutenant, J. E. Beller; 75th—Captain, W. Patterson; 1st Lieutenant, J. K. Crain; 2nd Lieutenant, J. G. Borton; 14th—Captain, H. B. Clark; 2nd Lieutenant, H. A. Bagg; 13th—Captain, F. L. Dangler; 2nd Lieutenant, J. L. Sinclair.

There are about 500 enlisted men in the four companies of coast artillery. Most of them are at Fort Moultrie.

CARBONOL

Prevents Blood Poisoning

Use Carbonol to wash out cuts, sores, bruises, etc. It destroys germs, thus preventing blood-poisoning, and prepares the wound for quick healing.

Gargle it for colds and sore throats. Use it in the bath. Refreshing to swollen feet. Excellent for cleansing dandruff from the scalp. Much more effective than soap for greasy hands. 10c, 25c, 50c, 75c. At all dealers. Free sample on request.

Quarters are provided at the fort for officers and their wives and families.

BUTLER VETS

Plan to Have a Big League Muster Here in Month of August—Will Attend Other Musters

The men connected with the General Butler Veteran Firemen's association are planning to raise the sum necessary to hold a big league muster at Lowell in August. If plans are carried out successfully, it is believed there will be 50 companies that will come to this city, and about 25,000 visitors.

At the last meeting of the association it was decided to attend the firemen's muster at Indian Orchard on June 14, and also to be present at the big Charlestown muster on Dunker Hill day, June 17.

GIRL TRIES TO END LIFE

Found in Lonely Spot on Edge of Woods

WORCESTER, May 23.—Evelyn Gerry, aged 16, of Shrewsbury, lies at City hospital suffering from a bullet wound that she says was self-inflicted last night with suicidal intent, and which is likely to prove fatal. The girl was found at a lonely point on the edge of the woods on Lincoln street at 9:03 last night. Beside her lay a revolver with one chamber empty.

The bullet entered the abdomen and lodged in the muscles of the back.

Although suffering great pain, Miss Gerry did not collapse nor lose consciousness. Her first request to Police Surgeon R. J. Shanahan when he arrived in the police ambulance was that her mother and her stepfather should be notified. She told the surgeon and the police officers she attempted suicide because she and her mother could not agree. The girl said her mother and she had trouble last night and that she procured the revolver and went away from the house with the intention of killing herself.

Marcelo Keating is her stepfather. The girl was found by Daniel Erickson and Edwin Plumquist, grocery delivery men, who notified police headquarters.

Miss Gerry was rushed to City hospital and was at once placed on the operating table. Positive statements as to the probable outcome of the wound could not be given prior to this examination and treatment, but Police Surgeon Shanahan said her chances of recovery are slight because of the danger of peritonitis.

WHITE HOUSE CAR BUSY

Party Investigates the Slums

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Slumming in the automobile of the president of the United States almost has ceased to be a novelty and today Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, society woman, reformer and friend of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, for the second time in two days will conduct a party of investigators to the slum section of the capital in a white house car.

In Mrs. Hopkins' party yesterday were Senator Hollis of New Hampshire, Mrs. Own, wife of the senator from Oklahoma and Mrs. Pomerene, wife of the senator from Ohio.

The investigations are being conducted under the direction of the woman's section of the National Civic Federation. The investigators now are at work on legislation which they will press in congress looking to the elimination of all allies and narrow courts that at present disfigure certain sections of the capital.

UNCLE JOE COMES BACK

Former Speaker is at Washington

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Uncle Joe Cannon, former speaker of the house, is back in his old haunts as jaunty as ever, wearing the inevitable carnation in the lapel of his coat and with the same rakish tilt to the big black cigar that has made him famous. He is here to attend a meeting of the Lincoln Memorial hall commission in which both he and former Senator Culion of Illinois have retained membership after their retirement from public life with the incoming of the present congress.

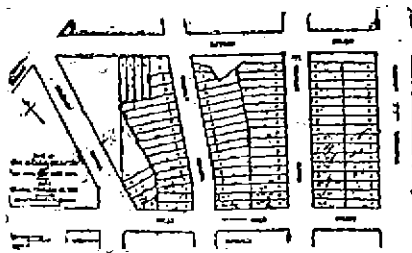

The former speaker, who is in great spirits, already has taken occasion to great over the troubles of his former colleague, Rep. Mann of Illinois, minority leader of the house. Mr. Mann was Mr. Cannon's floor lieutenant during all the time the former speaker wielded the gavel and earned the title of "crar."

No More Tariff Arguments
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Announcement that the finance committee will hear no more tariff arguments after Tuesday has brought from all parts of the country appeals for an extension of time. They will be disregarded, however, and all manufacturers who have inquired have been notified that they may no longer brief up to the time the bill is reported to the senate.

Corridors of the capital and the senate offices were thronged today with those who wished to be heard before the doors of the committee room opening this morning.

BOB EDESON IN HOSPITAL

Actor Being Treated for Blood Poisoning

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 23.—Robert Edeson, the actor, is being treated at a hospital here for blood poisoning. Edeson sustained an injury to his left leg at a local theatre Thursday night and blood poisoning developed. Physicians say today that his condition is so serious that an operation will be necessary if no improvement takes place.

Mrs. Edeson Also Ill
NEW YORK, May 23.—Mrs. Robert Edeson, it was learned today, has been for some time in the Southampton, L. I., hospital suffering from a nervous breakdown. Physicians at the institution declined to discuss the case today other than to say her condition was not serious. Mrs. Edeson was formerly Mrs. George Porter of Brookline, Mass.

exposition, which will be held here in 1915. Machinery hall will be the largest structure on the grounds. It is well under way, and its great iron structural work looks like the skeleton of some huge leviathan of the Terrestrial period. The exposition seal is ready. From many competitive offerings the directors of the exposition selected a design by Alfred Lenz, the sculptor. The seal tells in symbolism the story of the United States opening the Panama canal to the world and announces by the circular lettered inscription the celebration of that event through the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco in 1915. The dominating feature of the design,

BOYS HELD UP STAGE

After Tampering With Switches on Car Line

Were Caught After Chase by Lewiston
Police—Will Be Arraigned in Court
Today

LEWISTON, Me., May 23.—Charles J. Riley, aged 15, of 22 Howell street, Dorchester, and Frank Hodges of 28 Park street, this city, with masked faces and a big revolver held up the Mechanics Falls stage in Auburn yesterday morning after tampering with switches on the street railway line.

They are held by the police for arraignment in court today.

Riley, who first gave the name of Clarence Reynolds, ran away from his Boston home a few weeks ago, but sent back word to his widowed mother that he had found employment with the Hodges boy on a farm near Lewiston.

Mrs. Riley said Wednesday evening: Charlie's head was full of romantic notions. He was not bad, but was always stirring, and he thought he could go out and conquer the world. About a year ago he ran away into Vermont and worked in a railroad shop two weeks. Returning, he gave back to his brothers and sisters $3 he had taken to start out with. He is a good student and with the right environment would make an able young man. "He breaks my heart to hear that he has acted so, but I feel sure they will find no great harm in him and will send him back to me. He has a good home here with a hard working older brother, and we could get along splendidly if Charlie would set his mind to the serious things of life. I am not able to go down after the boy or I would start at once."

Riley and Hodges intercepted the stage running between Mechanics Falls and Auburn at Haskell's corner. The stage carried Edward Hackett and Percy Faunce. They were astounded when out from behind a stone wall stepped a youth, his face masked, who leveled a big revolver.

Instead of putting up his hands at the command, Hackett stepped out of the wagon and seized the possessor of the revolver, who proved to be Riley, and chastised him severely. Hodges, with his face also masked, took no active part.

Hackett returned to his wagon and drove off with Faunce, leaving the boys to their own devices. An electric car arrived at the scene a moment later, from which the crew alighted and gave chase to the two boys, who were caught with little difficulty.

ESCAPES GUILLOTINE

Vallespi Freed by Court at Carcassonne, France—Returned to Confess to Crime of 15 Years Ago

CARCASSONNE, France, May 23.—Miguel Vallespi, who recently returned here from the Argentine Republic and gave himself up to the police, declaring that he wished to go to the guillotine for the murder of a woman 15 years ago, was given his freedom yesterday.

Vallespi related his story in the assize court before a jury, and told of his struggles with his conscience, which finally led to his spiritual conversion and irresistibly impelled him to give up a prosperous position in Argentina to expiate his crime in France and satisfy the law. The jury without leaving the box acquitted him and applause.

The crime caused a great sensation in France at the time and Vallespi, who was suspected of killing the woman for her money, disappeared. He was adjudged guilty by default and condemned to be guillotined.

"Yes Sir! Studebaker wagons are made to back up a reputation."

"I know, because wagons of every make come into my shop for repairs, and I have a chance to see how few are Studebakers."

That's the opinion of thousands of blacksmiths who know the quality of Studebaker wagons.

The owners never regretted that they bought Studebakers.

Tested materials, accurate workmanship insure a wagon unequalled for durability, and this careful selection of wood, iron, steel, paint and varnish has been a fixed rule with the Studebaker Company for sixty years. That is why a Studebaker wagon runs easiest and lasts longest. It is built on honor.

Whether you live in town or country, there is a Studebaker vehicle to fill your requirements for business or pleasure — and harness of every description made as carefully as are Studebaker vehicles.

BOSTON, May 23.—Samuel A. Segge, chairman of the Revere board of assessors, who is under indictment on forgery charges, was surrendered by one of his bondsmen, John Cazale of Revere, last night and locked in a cell in the Charles street jail.

Cazale was surety for $1500 of the $300 bail. Segge was taken to the jail at 10 o'clock. After a conference with his attorney, Harry W. James, it was decided that it would be useless to attempt to get new bail until morning.

Cazale retired to his home in Revere as soon as the surrender had been effected, and denied himself to everyone except his attorney. He refused to explain why he had taken the action, and would neither deny nor affirm that he had been influenced by the rumors that Segge might default.

In a brief statement, given out after his client was locked up, Mr. James declared "it looked like an attempt to belittle Segge by making him spend a night in jail. I think that people politically opposed to him have been interfering."

Segge's surrender came directly on the heels of property transfer at the office of the registry of deeds of 10 Revere parcels of real estate to Cazale by Mrs. Ida McLeod, who in turn was deemed the property by the "Sarah Stanhood," whose name has figured in the Revere tax scandal.

The transfer of the 10 lots from Sarah Stanhood to Mrs. McLeod was in the shape of a quit claim deed executed Oct. 12, 1912, but not recorded until yesterday. The transfer to Cazale was made yesterday. Both were executed before Samuel A. Segge as justice of the peace.

At the special meeting of the board of assessors yesterday morning, the motion of Assessor William H. Colcord that a new audit of the books be made and warrants be issued to Tax Collector Arthur C. Pendergast, was taken under advisement.

Rumors of new developments in the scandal from the district attorney's office were rife when Inspector Silas P. Walte of police headquarters made a new examination of the Revere tax books, copied several entries and departed.

"LOVES UNITED STATES"

Letter From Former Ambassador Bryce

WASHINGTON, May 23.—James Bryce, formerly Ambassador of Great Britain, just before leaving American soil sent back from San Francisco a letter of appreciation and affection to the American people. The letter, made public today, was in reply to one from residents of Washington, expressing their regret at his leaving. It referred to his well known interest in the plans for the beautification of the National capital.

"I am glad to think that an Englishman who loves the United States and its people," the former envoy wrote, "is not deterred by an official position from taking in all your projects for the artistic development of the national capital an interest as keen as any that your own citizens could take."

Among the signers of the letter of regret and farewell to the Ambassador were Admiral Dewey, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, Gifford Pinchot, formerly chief forester, Thomas Nelson Page and more than 200 others, prominent in local and official circles.

CORPUS CHRISTI

Changes in the Route of the Procession Which Will be Held Sunday in St. Louis Parish

The pastor of St. Louis church, Rev. J. N. Jacques, wishes to announce that changes have been made in the procession in honor of the feast of Corpus Christi which will be held next Sunday immediately after high mass.

It was announced in church last Sunday and in The Sun Monday that the route of the procession would be from the church into West Sixth st., Lakeview avenue, Fisher street, Alken avenue, Hildreth street, Ennell street, Victor street, Beaulieu street and West Sixth street as far as the church.

However, it has been decided to avoid the Alken avenue hill and accordingly the procession from Fisher street will shift into Essex street as far as Hildreth street, the rest of the route remaining as previously announced.

Solemn benediction will be held on the steps of Mr. J. A. Filion's home in Hildreth street, and the residents of the streets included in the route of the procession are requested to decorate the exterior of their homes.

JUDGE MAY QUIT CASE

Delay in Shoe Case Evidence Responsible

BOSTON, May 23.—Judge Putnam, who with Judge Dodge and Brown, is presiding at the trial of the federal suit which seeks the dissolution of the United Shoe Machinery company, told counsel yesterday that he would retire from the bench if the presenting of evidence continued to be delayed.

His remark came in the course of the introduction of a mass of documents in the form of agreements which the government was offering in connection with the taking over of concerns by the defendant company. There are already more than 70 exhibits, leases and agreements, before the court with the prospect of many more.

The procedure the government's attorneys had adopted involved the identification of each of these documents and the reading of clauses deemed essential to the government's case. Judge Putnam raised the point that the method would require a great amount of time and might have been obviated. He suggested that this type of evidence should be brought before the court in another way, and after some discussion by counsel on both sides, it was decided that a witness should be called to testify as to each of the alleged agreements.

Emperor Thanks Pres. Wilson

WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Wilson today received the following cablegram from Emperor Yoshihito of Japan.

"Deeply touched by your kind message inquiring after my indisposition, I express my sincere thanks to you, your government and the people of the United States."

"Enemy of Civilization"

DETROIT, May 23.—"The man who by word or deed creates bad feeling between the United States and Japan is an enemy of civilization," declared James H. Franklin of Boston, secretary of the Foreign Mission society, in an address today before the Northern Baptist convention in session here.

Secretary Franklin discussing a recent tour he made in Japan, said the "Japanese people want no trouble with the United States unless the trouble is forced on them in defense of what they consider their national honor."

WINDOWS WERE SMASHED

Destructive Work by Unknown Man in Boston

BOSTON, May 23.—Some unknown person had a happy time about 3:45 o'clock this morning smashing costly plate glass windows in three stores in Hanover street, just below Washington street. A man in a lunchroom heard the noise of crashing glass at that time, and made an investigation, but failed to see anyone on the street.

Shortly after a patrolman of the Hanover street police station discovered that a plate glass window of a jewelry store at 125 Hanover street, on police division 2, conducted by S. Dreyers, had been smashed. The window was filled with watches of a cheap variety, but none had been stolen.

Walking along toward the station, the patrolman found a window at the store of T. P. Brooks & Co., dealers in furniture, at 149 Hanover street, had been smashed, but apparently nothing was stolen.

The policeman again started for the police station to report the damage to Lieut. Gallivan, and when he reached the store of W. H. Jones & Co., wholesale liquor dealers, 159 Hanover street, he found that the glass of a large window there also had been smashed. A bottle of wine was stolen from this window.

The policeman by this time felt that it was possible a crazy person was about, breaking glass in stores, and he ran to the station and reported the case.

Lieut. Gallivan ordered all the policemen on the streets to search for the window smasher. He also directed them to make a thorough investigation to ascertain if any other windows had been broken.

A report of the matter was immediately sent to police headquarters, and policemen all over the downtown section were warned to be on the watch for the window smasher. Men from the Fire and Police Notification company secured the broken windows against thieves.

From appearances it was thought that a man who may have been intoxicated and armed with a carpenter's hammer, smashed the windows with his hammer as he walked along. The windows were broken along on a line just above the brass guard rails. The damage to the windows broken amounts to several hundred dollars.

Anti-Woman Suffrage

An appeal for funds with which to carry on an active campaign against woman suffrage is being made by the New York State association opposed to woman suffrage. In a letter sent out recently to business men the association says: "My dear Sir: We earnestly request your personal attention to the following facts. There are 135,000 illiterate women in New York. The time has come when every thoughtful man and woman in New York state who does not believe that our government would be improved by adding this vote to the ignorant male vote should help toward strengthening the association which is carrying on organized opposition to woman suffrage."

A woman suffrage constitutional amendment will probably be brought before the voters of New York in November 1915. During the next three years we must carry on a statewide campaign against the expediency of extending the suffrage to women. This can only be done if we receive financial aid from those who believe that woman suffrage would be a serious menace to the state. Will you, by contributing to the enclosed card how much you are willing to contribute toward this work for one, two or three years? Your name will not be printed on any lists or given out if you request us not to do so."

The association was founded in 1895. Its officers are: President, Miss Alice Hill Cliftenden; first vice president, Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge; treasurer, Mrs. Charlton T. Lewis; secretary, Mrs. M. E. Loomis; honorary vice presidents, Mrs. Elihu Root, Mrs. Richard Watson Gilder, Mrs. Francis M. Scott; vice presidents, Mrs. Fritz Achells, Miss Eleanor G. Hewitt, Mrs. George Douglas Mills and Mrs. William F. Northrup.

New York City Bonds

The New York city 4½ per cent bonds, 100 of which are to be sold tomorrow at the Merrimack Clothing Co., will also be put on sale at the great Gimbal Bros. store in that city. But Lowell people will have an advantage over the people of New York who will purchase these bonds at the Gimbal store, for while these bonds are sold here in denomination of $10 per, the 100,000 which will be sold at Gimbal Bros., New York, will be sold at par and one-eighth.

In securing these bonds and selling them at less than the New York price, the Merrimack Clothing Co. has shown great enterprise. These bonds will be sold when, and as if issued. Only one bond will be sold to any person.

Merrimack Clothing Co.

The Merrimack Clothing company's offer of New York city 4½ per cent bonds in denomination of $10 at par is something unusual for a clothing store, and never before attempted in Lowell. It is not done by the clothing company for profit; it acts as an intermediary to bring the privilege of only one of these bonds at a nominal figure within the reach of the people.

The sales of these bonds by New York city have attracted worldwide attention. It determines the credit of the city and the supply of investing money at a time when the market has been somewhat burdened with bond flotations and money demands a bit higher premium.

The entire issue of $45,000,000 was over-subscribed at a trifle above par, so that for those who will subscribe at the Merrimack Saturday for one of these bonds of the denomination of $10 at par is getting the bond a fraction lower than the entire issue is floated at.

Then again, there is the privilege of getting a bond of so small a denomination that is very unusual and in a large way might be quite expensive and impracticable, except at a higher price.

When you deposit your ten dollars for one of these bonds at the Merrimack Clothing company Saturday you are not to expect to get your bond there and then. You subscribe for the bond when and as it is delivered, that is to say, you obtain a receipt for your money, and in the course of a week or thereabouts a temporary certificate will be given you, and in the course of maybe a month or so the bonds will be issued. In the meantime, the interest is accruing on your bond as of May 20th. Only 100 subscriptions can be received at the Merrimack reserves the right to reject any or all subscriptions.

CONVICTED OF BRIBERY

Lawyer Anhut Sentenced to Sing Sing

NEW YORK, May 23.—John N. Anhut, the lawyer convicted of bribery in attempting to obtain the release of Harry K. Thaw from the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane, was sentenced today to serve not less than two years nor more than four in Sing Sing prison.

FRANK MURPHY WON RACE

Defeated Bass Point Man—Dive From Bridge

The attraction between Lowell and Stanley's on the Merrimack this forenoon was a swimming match between Frank "Podge" Murphy of this city and "Jim" Maloney of Bass Point.

As a prelude to the swimming contest Maloney made a high dive from the Central bridge to the river and he did it very gracefully, too. The high dive was made in the morning rain and was witnessed by about 50 persons.

It was stated that the race was for $25 a side but this was not vouched for by the principals. The fact, however, remains that the man from Bass Point was no match for Murphy and while the visitor demonstrated the fact that he was a good swimmer he was not strong enough for the local man and did not have the endurance.

Maloney, by the way, is a member of the summer life saving crew at Revere beach and has assisted in making some very heroic rescues.

The two swimmers started for Stanley's immediately after the high dive by Maloney. It was then 9:05 o'clock and when within about a mile of their destination, Maloney was stricken with cramps and was obliged to leave the water. Murphy was then well in the lead. When the man from Bass Point left the river for terra firma, "Ed" McCormick, "Podge" Murphy, trainer, jumped into the briny and followed Podge to Stanley's, Podge arriving there at 11:15, covering the distance from the Central bridge in 2 hours and 10 minutes.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Brown of Middletown Alleges False Commitment to Insane Asylum

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 23.—Alleging that she was falsely committed to the state insane asylum in this city as the result of a conspiracy, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Brown yesterday brought a suit for $50,000 against her husband, Thomas S. Brown, ex-sheriff and republican leader in this section.

Mrs. Brown says that as a result of her husband's charges she was committed to the asylum for six weeks. A sister of Mrs. Brown, who protested at the treatment accorded the wife, has likewise sued the ex-sheriff. Mr. Brown was a candidate for state senator last fall.

CAPTAIN GEORGE E. WORTHEN

Receives Check for $50

Due Since War

Popular Veteran Surprised When Check Arrived

CAPT. GEORGE E. WORTHEN

Captain George E. Worthen, superintendent state aid at city hall, was pleasantly surprised the other day when he received a letter from the auditor of the war department of the United States stating that a balance of $50 was due him for services during the Civil war in 1863. The letter was dated May 2, 1913, and that day commemorated the 50th anniversary of the battle of Chancellorsville, Va., in which he took part and in which his clothes were riddled with bullet holes, but he escaped unharmed.

When interviewed by a representative of the Sun, the morning Captain Worthen said: "While reading the National Tribune in November, 1912, I saw an article stating that no claim for services during the Civil war could be made at the National headquarters after December 31, 1913. Believing that I had a balance due for services from October 18, 1863, the time I was promoted from sergeant to first lieutenant, to December 3, 1863, I wrote to the war department, giving them the date of my enlistment and date of promotion and asking them to look into my case. In December of this same year I was notified that my claim was on file and on May 2, 1913, just fifty years after the battle of Chancellorsville, I received the title of captain.

ville, in which I took part, I was notified that they found a balance due me of $50 and that a check would be forwarded me without further correspondence. On May 13 the check was mailed at Washington and it was received by me the following day."

George E. Worthen enlisted in the 12th New Hampshire Infantry at Plymouth August 14, 1862 as a private. He was promoted to corporal on the battlefield of Gettysburg July 5, 1863, and was commissioned lieutenant, June 21, 1865, for taking the colors after two flag-bearers had been killed. Since that time he has served in the militia for nearly twenty years and he has received the title of captain.

OLD CASE ON DOCKET MURDERER CUT THROAT

City of Lowell in Prison

The case of George H. Brown vs. City of Lowell is marked for trial at the jury waived session of the superior court in this city next week. This case dates back to 1909, when Mr. Brown was mayor, and he seeks to recover for counsel fees during the police board case, so-called. It will be remembered that Mr. Brown removed the three members of the police board, Messrs. Stearns, Hanson and Bouger, and that they were afterwards reinstated by the court. Lawyers Murphy and McEvoy were counsel for Mr. Brown, and the latter claimed that their fees should be paid by the city.

Bull Game Postponed

The ball game which was scheduled for today between Fall River and the Lowell team was postponed on account of the adverse weather conditions which existed when the time arrived for Umpire Bannan to call the game. This means a double header with Fall River later on in the season.

BIRTHDAY RECITAL

Held Yesterday Afternoon at Lowell Conservatory of Music Was Enjoyable Affair

A children's birthday recital was held yesterday afternoon at the Lowell Conservatory of Music, in honor of the birthday of Miss Sylvester Corcoran. A birthday cake with eight colored lighted candles, was placed in the center of the table, and a merry time was enjoyed by the children. The program was as follows: Piano duet, "Harvest Festival," Mrs. Henrietta Bond and Christina Krikorian; piano solo, "La Ballerina," Margaret Carmody; piano solo, "La Petite Valse," Vera Curran; piano solo, "Queen of Sheba," Mrs. Henrietta Bond.

Live Bits of Sport

Worcester has got some pitcher in Woodman. If Burkett doesn't kill him off with overwork, he will surely be a stumbling block for all the contenders.

Tom Bannon came here yesterday for his appearance as a decision maker before the Lowell fans this season. He will umpire tomorrow's game with Lawrence.

Rain or shine, the ball players and the umpires draw their pay. A rainy day now and then is a great boon to the members of any club a little later in the season when they are calling on all their surplus energy for the requisite standing-up powers with which to finish the playing schedule.

The bout one week from today looks like the real thing in the fight line. Neither Egan nor Baldwin have ever showed their wares in Lowell, and it is expected that the largest crowd on record will be on hand when the going rings for the first round.

Lawrence here tomorrow, and the biggest crowd of the season. Manager Pieper of Lawrence expects to bring 500 fans from the down-river town with him. If the last game is an indication of the kind of contest that will be played at Spaulding park tomorrow, the management ought to raise the prices for the game.

The Lynn fans are certainly some wrought up over Manager Flaherty's release of Catcher Daulton. This player has been with Lynn for the past nine years and has won many games for the club. However, Flaherty thinks that he has reached the point where his slick work cannot overcome his lack of speed. The Lynn papers will rave for a few days and the fans will give vent to a few catcalls at the first home game, and then old Gus Daulton will be forgotten. The professional demise of a ball player is not long mourned.

The New England Inter-Collegiate next Saturday at the Stadium will prove a fitting preliminary to the big Inter-Collegiate on the 30th and 31st. The smaller colleges always have a few good men who usually upset the predictions of the wise dopsters.

Manix of Colby, who has performed here, will give them all a tussle in the low hurdles.

"Mugsy" McGraw has finally secured Pitcher Fromme of the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for Groh, Ames and Devore. The Giants' manager has been after this slabster for two years and it looks as though he has given full value in return. New York has now one of the best pitching staffs in either league.

There were several notable figures in the baseball world summoned as witnesses in the Dowd vs. The New Bedford Baseball Association "Rabbit" Maranville of the Boston Braves was called as a witness by Dowd. The case has been continued until the fall season.

Jack Slattery may be able to hit the ball a mile but he can't run bases. Whenever he gets on the path the bases are blocked unless somebody lifts out a circuit clerk and the Portland 1st sarked can amble along home. It was very fortunate for Lowell that this player was on third when Henderson threw to Daulton for that far-out at home in the eighth. Any other member of the Portland team would have scored without difficulty.

The other papers around the circuit are just waking up to the facts about the Lowell team which were predicted by this paper after Lowell had played and lost her first two games. Manager Gray is perfectly willing to go along in second place just now although he isn't throwing any games away. The end of the season is a long way off and his idea is to have the local club as fresh as possible at the finish. He has numerous examples to profit by of the fallacy of a team's overstriding itself in the early part of the season.

Monahan has fully recovered from the spike cuts he received in Tuesday's game with Lynn when he blocked off Porter from scoring a run which might have meant the game. He is ready to work now as soon as Manager Gray calls upon him for back-stop duty.

CAPTAIN MONAHAN, Of Lowell Team.

With the third week of the New England league race completed the two teams which stand out strongly as playing the best brand of ball are Lawrence and Lowell. Worcester, Brockton and Lynn all look to be above the average, while Portland with Hugh Duffy at the helm must be figured in the race. Duffy has got to make several changes before he can get a real contender out of his present aggregation, but it will certainly be policy for him to do it, and we think he will.

Lawrence has a few new men, but in the main her team is practically the same as the one which defeated Lowell last year. Carlstrom has taken the place of Slattery at first base and Phoenix, Mahoney and Cargo comprise the remainder of her infield. McConnell, Bruggy and Luyster are a smart trio in her outer gardens, although the fast center fielder, O'Connell, is hitting far above his last year's average and may be going now much better than he will perform later on. Bregmeyer is the same reliable backstop that he was last year, although there is nothing flashy about his work. Lawrence is well fixed for pitchers this year with Pearson and Fuller leading in this department. Pearson, however, the mainstay, has shown signs of being overworked during the past week and if this is the case and Manager Pieper is forced to give him a rest Lawrence will be under a great handicap.

Let's take a glance over the Lowell team and compare her players, individually, with those of the down river team. Halstein is the best first baseman in the league without a shadow of a doubt, although Carlstrom is good, especially with the stick. Miller is also the smoothest fielding second baseman out of the eight teams playing New England league ball and is hitting close to the .400 mark. Anderson at short stop is more or less an uncertainty, while Cargo is a reliable man on taking the throw down to second and fields his position well. He is also a good performer with his club when he faces a pitcher in a pinch. Dee is playing mighty good ball this year at the hot corner, taking a change with any kind of a hit ball and working on his toes all of the time. Mahoney is one of the best third-basemen playing ball in this class, but we can't give him any advantage over our own third-baseman.

Although Bruggy in left field is a star, both in fielding and at the bat, to use Pater Donovan's words, "Mages is fit to play ball with any club in the country." In center field Clemens looks to have it on McConnell by a shade in every department of the game. Clemens is faster, knows more baseball and can hit in the pinches with greater certainty. DeGruft is the heaviest slugger in the league and has improved in his fielding this year to an appreciable degree. Luyster, the captain of the Lawrence team, is a good man and a clever field captain, but as an individual player has not a chance with the Lowell right fielder. The Lowell pitching department is still the weak spot of the team. Henderson looks to be the most reliable man in the box today, although the warm weather will undoubtedly bring the arms of Maybom and Zeller back into shape. Both Smiths are uncertain. They may pitch a remarkable game or they are just as apt to grove every ball that is anywhere near the plate. Lawrence has the better staff of pitchers.

Bregmeyer has nothing on either the Monahan nor Daulton. Daulton is one of the finds of the season and, barring accidents, will put up a great record this year. Monahan is captain of the Lowell team and has been a big factor in bringing the team into its present effective shape. He is an aggressive player and never quits until the last out is completed.

From this individual analysis of the two teams we see that Lowell is away in the lead so far as the players in their various positions go. This being the case we fall to see where Lawrence has anything on the local club, in fact, just the reverse order of conditions exist. Manager Pieper is a very active pilot. He is always in the game and proves an inspiration to his men. His style is altogether different from that of Manager Gray. The Lowell baseball head is just as much in the game as Manager Pieper, although he prefers to do his work in a more quiet manner. The two men are as different in their tactics as Connie Mack and Mugsy McGraw. Pieper is always raring the umpire, while Gray rarely leaves the bench. Connie Mack beat McGraw in their struggle for the world's series.

FIGHTS BANDITS TO SAVE CASH

Succeeds In Saving Money, Though Badly Beaten

NEW YORK, May 23.—James T. Wintress, a bank messenger, fought in the street yesterday with four highway men who leaped into his carriages and attempted to wrest from him the payroll of the Nathan Manufacturing company. Resisting their efforts to subdue him with a rifle, a revolver and clubs, he struggled to such good purpose that he saved the money, although he was shot in the arm and his scalp was laid open with a blow with a club.

Police on fixed post heard the shooting and ran to his aid. At their approach the highwaymen fled. One of them was shot by a bluecoat; another was captured after a thrilling chase, and the other two escaped. Wintress was taken to a hospital; the two prisoners were held without bail by the police, and a squad of detectives was rushed to the upper east side to search for the highwaymen who escaped.

DARING QUINCY OFFICER

Leaped From a Car to Grasp Runaway

BOSTON, May 23.—Patrolman David Farrell of Quincy stopped a runaway at the risk of his life yesterday afternoon, when he leaped from the running board of an electric car at the bridge of a horse bolting through Quincy square.

The officer caught the bridle and managed to check the animal by winding his legs around the animal's neck. The crowd in the square which saw the incident cheered the officer for his skill and daring.

The horse, attached to a parcel post wagon, became frightened on Hancock street, Wollaston, and started so suddenly the body of the wagon was left behind.

Scores rushed for shelter as the horse ran through the crowded streets, a woman and child having a particularly close call from being run down. Officer Farrell, riding on a car bound for Hough's Neck, ordered the motor man to slow down a bit, and then leaped.

Yale Has Good Ball Team

NEW HAVEN, May 23.—Yale Alumni and under graduates both at New Haven and throughout the entire east are discussing the prospects of a championship baseball team for the Blue this season. The remarkable record made by the varsity nine to date has encouraged the belief that Yale has an excellent chance to capture both the Princeton and Harvard series. Since the season opened early in April Yale has played 25 games, and all but four have been won.

ADMITTS LOW PRICE SALES

Pres. Farrell Testifies in Steel Case

NEW YORK, May 24.—After testifying that the prices quoted by the United States Steel corporation for its products were treated alike, James A. Farrell, president of the corporation, conceded yesterday that some contracts had been entered into by which certain customers received concessions and that he knew of no general publicity given to such arrangements.

Mr. Farrell was under cross-examination by Jacob M. Dickinson, counsel for the government. In the suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law. Under the latter's questioning he admitted that such contracts, which Judge Dickinson referred to as secret, had been entered into with the American Can company, the Harriman Trust, the National Transit company, a Standard Oil concern, and the Pittsburgh Steel company. He explained that they were "quantity contracts," under which discounts were given for large tonnages.

He refused to admit that they were secret, adding that anybody who "desired to know about them would have no difficulty in finding out." He conceded that some of the contracts "fled in the customers' preventing them from buying from the corporation's competitors."

Mr. Farrell admitted that the United States Steel corporation sold steel cheaper to manufacturers of products intended for sale abroad, such as machinery, than it sold to manufacturers of products sold in the domestic trade.

"But we do that," said the witness. "In order to help American manufacturers develop their export trade, just as the interstate-commerce commission allows the railroads to charge lower rates on products intended for export than on domestic products. The government helps to develop export trade and so do we."

FINE LIST OF SPORTS

At Spaulding Park on Memorial Day

The Lowell A. C. is planning a big field day for the afternoon of May 30, the meet to be held at Spaulding park. The program will be one of the best diversified list of sporting events seen here in many years.

Of special interest locally will be a baseball game between the Burkes and the South Ends, while a five mile race for Lowell runners exclusively will be a second attraction. A 100 yard dash, open to all, will be a feature.

The boxing events will show as a feature Matty Baldwin, champion light weight of New England, and Joe Egan, conqueror of Steve Kennedy and Young McDonough, will go 12 rounds. Baldwin is known throughout the country as one of the cleverest boxers at his weight anywhere, while Egan is a younger phenomenon. O. K. by experts who have seen him. Gus Loney and Young Morgan will do battle in the semi-final, while Gardner Brooks will tackle an unknown.

RUBE WADDELL MISSING

LARGE CROWDS Attend Games in Wintress in Hope of Seeing Him, but Are Disappointed

WINNIPEG, May 23.—Although the Virginia, Minn., Northern league team has played two games here, "Rube" Waddell failed to appear on the field for either game. Just where he is is a question, and if "Rube" Shannon, manager, knows he is not telling. Large crowds attended both games in the hope of catching a glimpse of the former big leaguer, but were disappointed.

Strike While the Iron's Hot

Ask Bill—

exactly what he thinks about that P. & Q. spring suit he bought about Easter time. Is it holding its original shape? Is it made as thoroughly inside and out as we represented it to be? Is it as fine in fabric as any $20. or $25. suit he ever owned before?

We know what Bill's answer will be, because he is sending many of his friends to the P. & Q. Shop for new outfits.

You save $5. to $10. when you buy a P. & Q. Suit for $10. or $15. and we can prove it to your perfect satisfaction. The question we ask you is: Will you save it, or not?

7 SECRET INDICTMENTS
Returned by the Federal Grand Jury

BOSTON, May 23.—Seven secret indictments and seven not secret were returned by the federal grand jury in its report to Judge Morton in the United States district court yesterday. The open indictments included nothing in connection with smuggling frauds at the port of Boston, which was the most important matter considered by the jury.

Whether the list of secret indictments include bills against any persons in connection with the smuggling case could not be learned. Assistant United States District Attorney William H. Garland, who has been in charge of the grand jury inquiry into smuggling frauds, when asked if any indictments had been returned in the case, said: "All I can say is that several secret indictments were returned. Further than this I cannot tell anything."

The most important of the true bills were those against Robert E. Brayton, the former assistant postmaster at Brockton, for alleged embezzlement of postal funds, and Frederick E. McDermott of Brighton, for alleged embezzlement of a letter from the mail at the North station office where he was employed as a clerk.

Brayton was arrested in Brockton on April 12 on complaint of Postoffice Inspector White, charged with the embezzlement of $247.90 from the money order department of which he had charge. He pleaded guilty and later made restitution. He was attached to the Brockton postoffice for many years and was held in high esteem by the postmaster there and was prominent in fraternal circles of the shoe city.

McDermott, who lives at 45 Garden street, Brighton, was arrested April 23 by officers of the Hanover street station on complaint of Postoffice Inspector Jennings. Swift and Pendleton, who had traced missing letters to the North station clerk by means of a false letter. He had been in the service of Uncle Sam for 12 years and was regarded with favor by his superiors and associates.

The other true bills were against Chin Chin and Charlie Chin Quan, both of Lawrence, for manufacturing and selling opium in violation of the internal revenue laws and having opium in stamped packages, with an additional charge against Chin of concealing smuggled smoking opium; Ung Som of Lawrence for having smoking opium in unstamped packages in violation of the internal revenue laws; Clyde P. Climan of Westover for uttering and publishing a forged money order for $3, the property of Otto Sullivan; and James Blanchard of Worcester for larceny of a package from a railway mail car.

WAVING FAREWELL AS THEY LEAVE FOR PACIFIC COAST

ON WAY TO TRAIN

NEW YORK, May 23.—Keen interest is attached to the departure of about 250 coast artillerymen from Fort Slocum, New York, for San Francisco en route to Hawaii to help aid in the United States garrison there. Coming at a time when the international relations with Japan were strained over the California anti-alien land matter, the transfer of the troops aroused much comment. It was stated by the government authorities that the order for the transfer was given several months ago, before the Japanese question came up, and it was claimed the present activity had nothing to do with the threatened oriental situation. But at the same time public interest was manifested over the strengthening of the Pacific stations. It became known that during the past year over 7,000 troops have been sent to that section of our national defenses. Captain J. L. Roberts, chief non-commissioned officers and 226 privates of the United States Army Artillery corps started on the journey of more than 7,000 miles. They were carried by transport from Fort Slocum, on the sound, to the Pennsylvania station at Jersey City, where they boarded a special train of six Pullman sleepers, a dining car and a baggage car. The men carried only bags and haversacks and had the aspect of a peaceful mission, as they carried no arms. The only weapons visible were the revolvers of the officers. The movement had been so quietly made that not a score of relatives and friends were at the station to say goodbye to the departing troops. "One of the officers said the men were seasoned soldiers; all had served in the regular army as artillerymen and had re-enlisted. He said he expected de-

BILLERICA 258 YEARS OLD

Town Incorporated In 1655, Still In Infancy

Population at Last Census Was 2789—Town Improvement

Today is "BillERICA Day" and although no public celebration is being held, it is the 258th anniversary of the town's incorporation. In 1655 several citizens of the town made arrangements for a celebration of the town's 250th anniversary but it was so strongly objected to that no observance has since been attempted.

BillERICA was incorporated a town in the year 1655 with about twenty-five families residing there. When the last census was taken the population of the town was 2789. The BillERICA board of trade and others expect the population to be at least double within the next ten years.

The work of the BillERICA Improvement association and that of the Talbot Mill Improvement association has been very much appreciated by the citizens of the town. Each year prizes are awarded to the owners of best kept premises throughout the town and in this way an interest is created that could not be obtained by any other method, and very few of the surrounding towns are in a cleaner condition today than the town of BillERICA. Talbot mills oval at North BillERICA, although a public park, is kept by the Talbot company with no expense to the town and this is one of the prettiest spots in the village.

Several new bridges have been built during the past few years which add greatly to the town's appearance. The Boston & Maine repair shops are responsible for the erection of several new homes in that part of the town. Last night under the auspices of the BillERICA Improvement association an entertainment was given by the Whitney Concern company in the Thomas Talbot Memorial hall. The audience was large and the numbers were very well received. One of the pleasing recitations given by Mr. Whitney was entitled, "BillERICA, Our BillERICA," and was written by Mrs. Abby Jaquith. It reads as follows:

BILLERICA, OUR BILLERICA
BillERICA, our BillERICA,
We think of thee thy natal day.
For thee true homes would we pay,
Then let no strife era dim the glory
Of thy grand, old, old story.
For thee thy birth, thy life, thy fame
Has won in truth a lasting name.

BillERICA, our BillERICA,
The red man loved thy shady hills,
The sunny slopes of thy fair hills;
Here oft, days past, their war cry rung,
And battle songs were loudly sung.
Ah, how their keen-eyed sight did scan
The way of evil fate to man.

BillERICA, our BillERICA,
"But thou far better deeds were wrought
When sires, so brave, here dwellings sought,
And swung their banner for the right
On brow of hill, in goodly sight.
Their faith in God, and love to man,
Their happy ways of life began."

BillERICA, our BillERICA,
We'll repeat thy ancient lore,
We'll bless thy memory ever more,
We'll let the good o'er ill prevail
O'er the crest of hill, and lowly vale.
Our present day shall message bring
In tones of patriotic ring.

BillERICA, our BillERICA,
We plead for thee, "God speed the right,"
And may His will ever guard our sight.

May brave and true and noble
Beat warm and firm till life departs
For BillERICA, our BillERICA.
—Abby Jaquith.

Veterans at Grange Meeting
The regular meeting of the BillERICA grange was held last night in Grange hall and an interesting program was carried out. The veterans of the town were present as guests and in spite of the inclement weather a large number were on hand. The program, which was as follows, was very appropriate for the evening: Address of welcome, Dr. Charles H. Hosmer; song, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," audience; "Tenting Tonight," audience; song, "Marching Thro' Georgia," audience; song, "The Old Blue Coat," decorating committee; recitation, "Bearly Tim," Mrs. William Hutchins; song, "The Flag They Loved So Well," Mrs. Charles Wright.

Several other recitations and songs were given, after which all joined in singing "America."
Nineteen Hundred Club Met
The annual business meeting of the Nineteen Hundred club was held with Mrs. Cora Dickinson yesterday afternoon. The following officers and committees were elected: President, Mrs. Carrie Alexander; vice-president, Mrs. Mary L. Danton; secretary, Mrs. Mary L. Jacobs; treasurer, Mrs. Inez Harding; executive committee, Mrs. Danton, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Buck, Mrs. Kirschner and Mrs. Hosmer; hospitality committee, Mrs. Livingston, Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Spiller and Mrs. Vin; membership committee, Mrs. Dickinson, Miss Wyllie and Mrs. Pooler; press committee, Mrs. Alexander.

The retiring president, Mrs. Clara E. Sexton presided at the meeting. After the business session delicious refreshments, including ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

JAPAN'S ACTION PLEASES

Pacific Exposition Committee Is Elated

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—President Charles C. Moore of the Panama Pacific exposition issued the following statement today relative to the action yesterday of the Japanese parliament committees in favoring an appropriation of $500,000 for Japan's participation in the exposition.

The action of the Japanese parliament regarding that nation's participation in the Panama-Pacific International exposition confirming the assurances previously given, especially in view of the recent events in California, is a matter of deepest gratification to the exposition management. We have confidently expected that the Japanese participation would be of a character to make the world notice even at this universal exposition.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY

Of St. Patrick's Church Held Successful Concert and Dance Last Evening

The fifth annual social and dance, held under the auspices of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church in the school hall last night, was a great success both socially and financially. The hall was prettily decorated with flowers and potted plants.

A pleasing concert took up the first part of the evening and all numbers were well rendered. The program was as follows: Overture, Broderick's orchestra; solo, Gene McCarthy; Honey Boy minstrels, Mr. Chapman and Mr. Olson; waltz, Miss Anne C. McCashin; solo, Andrew McCarthy; solo, Miss Francis Tighe; song, R. Chapman; reading, Thomas Beane; song, Miss Margaret McDonough. Mr. Michael Johnson served as accompanist for the evening.

After the concert dancing was enjoyed to excellent music furnished by Broderick's orchestra. The following were responsible for the success of the evening: General manager, John J. Sullivan; floor director, Timothy F. Roban; assistant floor director, Edward Quinn; chief aid, John Keegan; aids, Joseph McEvoy, Edward McCarthy, Frank McNabb, Stephen Griffin, Terence Quinn, Matthew James, Owen Healy and Jeremiah Ryan; James O'Sullivan, Owen Healy, Patrick Casey, Dennis Crowley and Bernard Hamill.

APPEAL TO GOV. FOSS

Shop Workers to Make Final Effort

BOSTON, May 23.—A strike of the 1600 employees in the Sturtevant Blower company and the Barker Milling Machine company in Hyde Park, concerns in which Gov.
